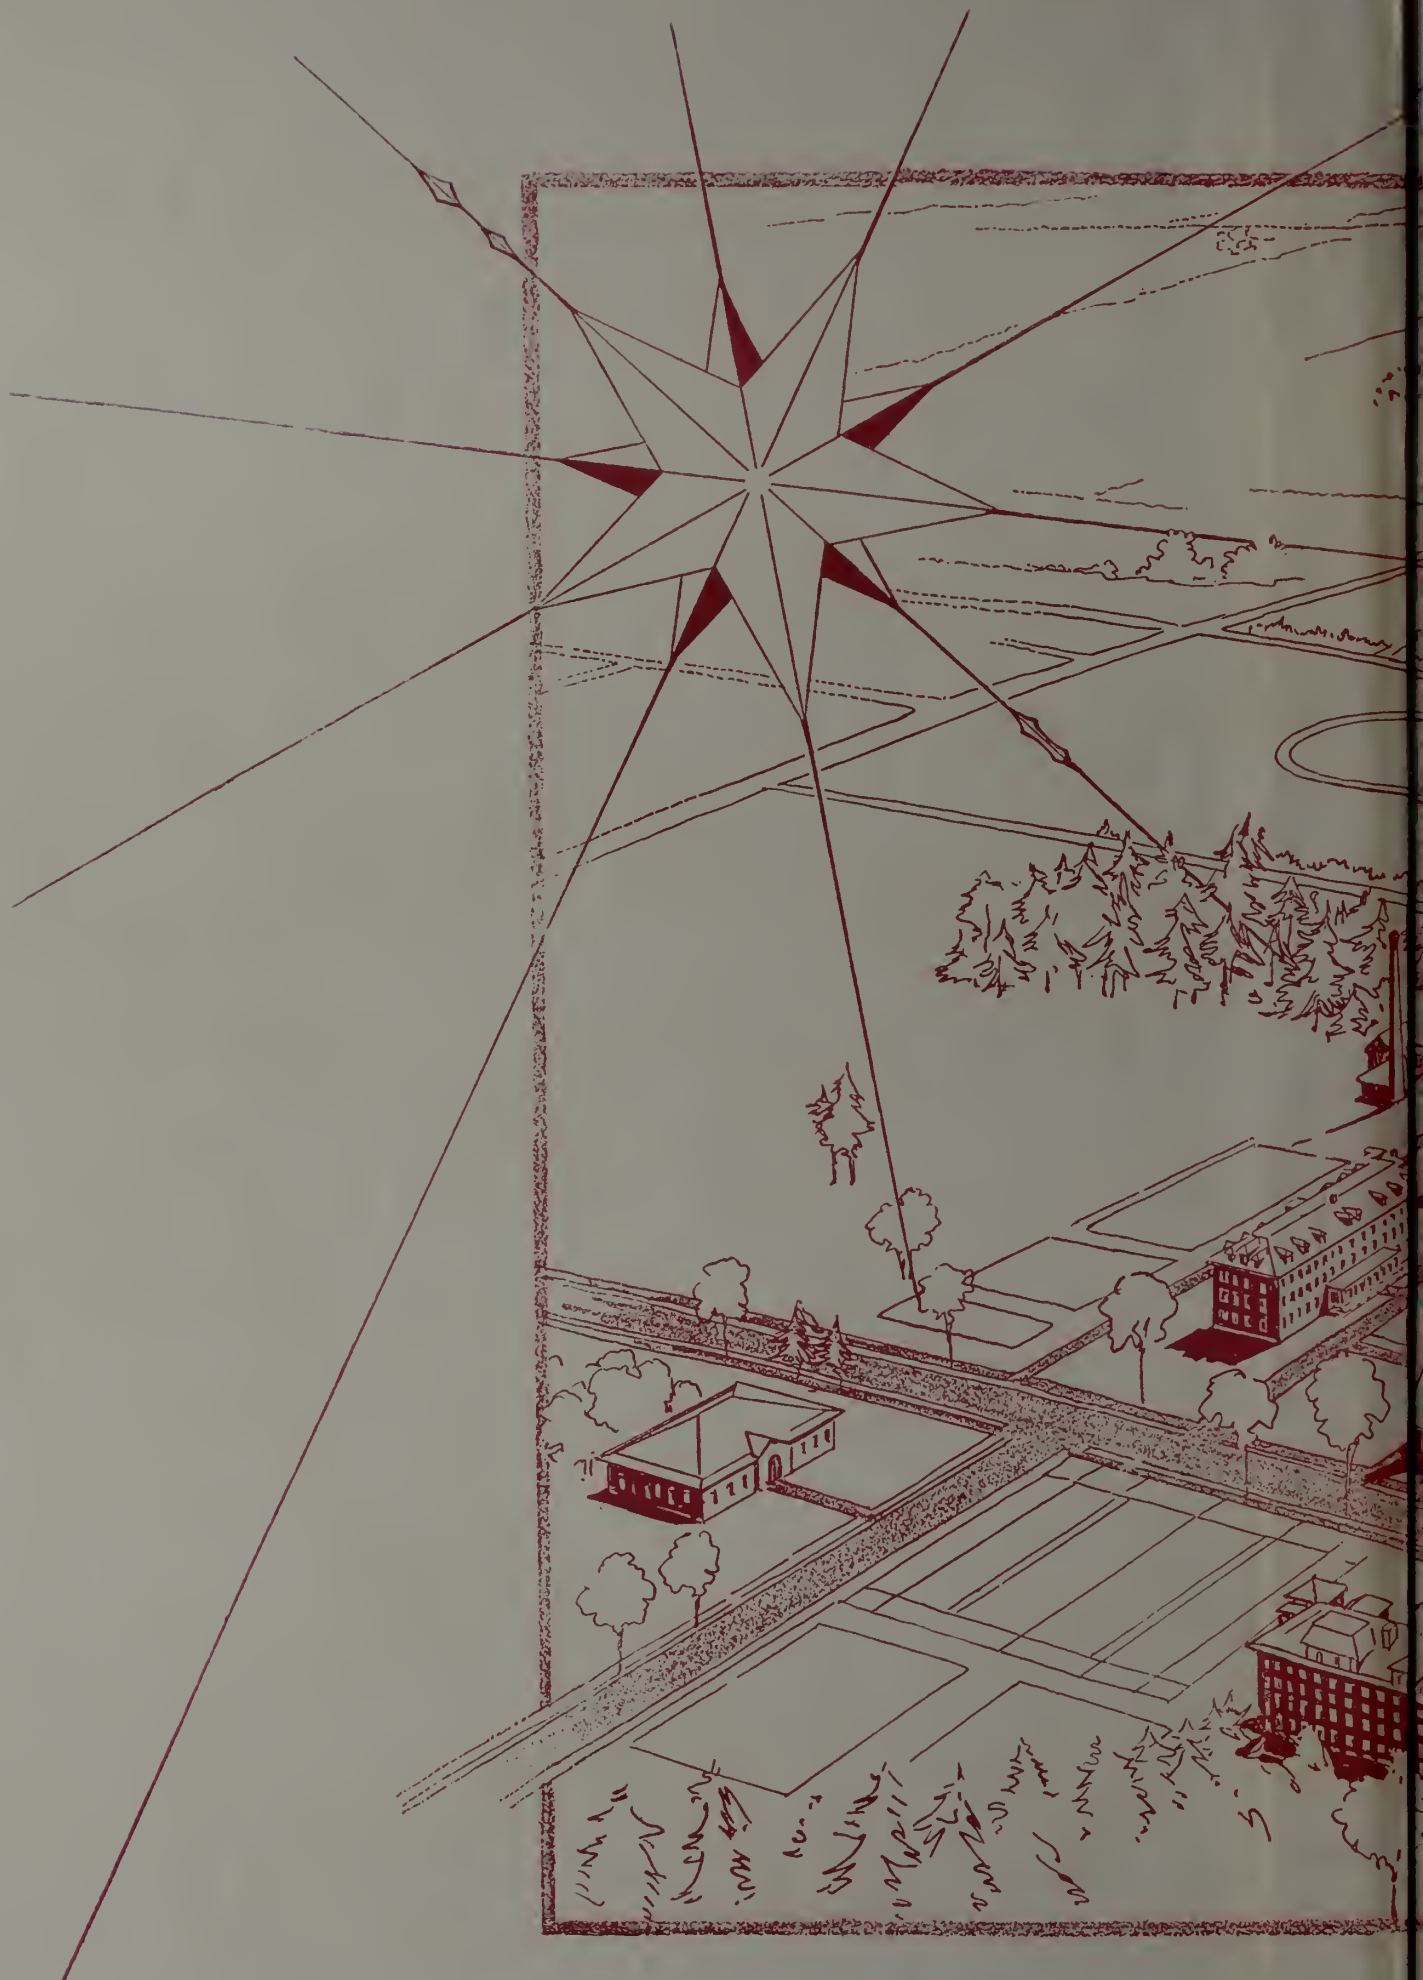
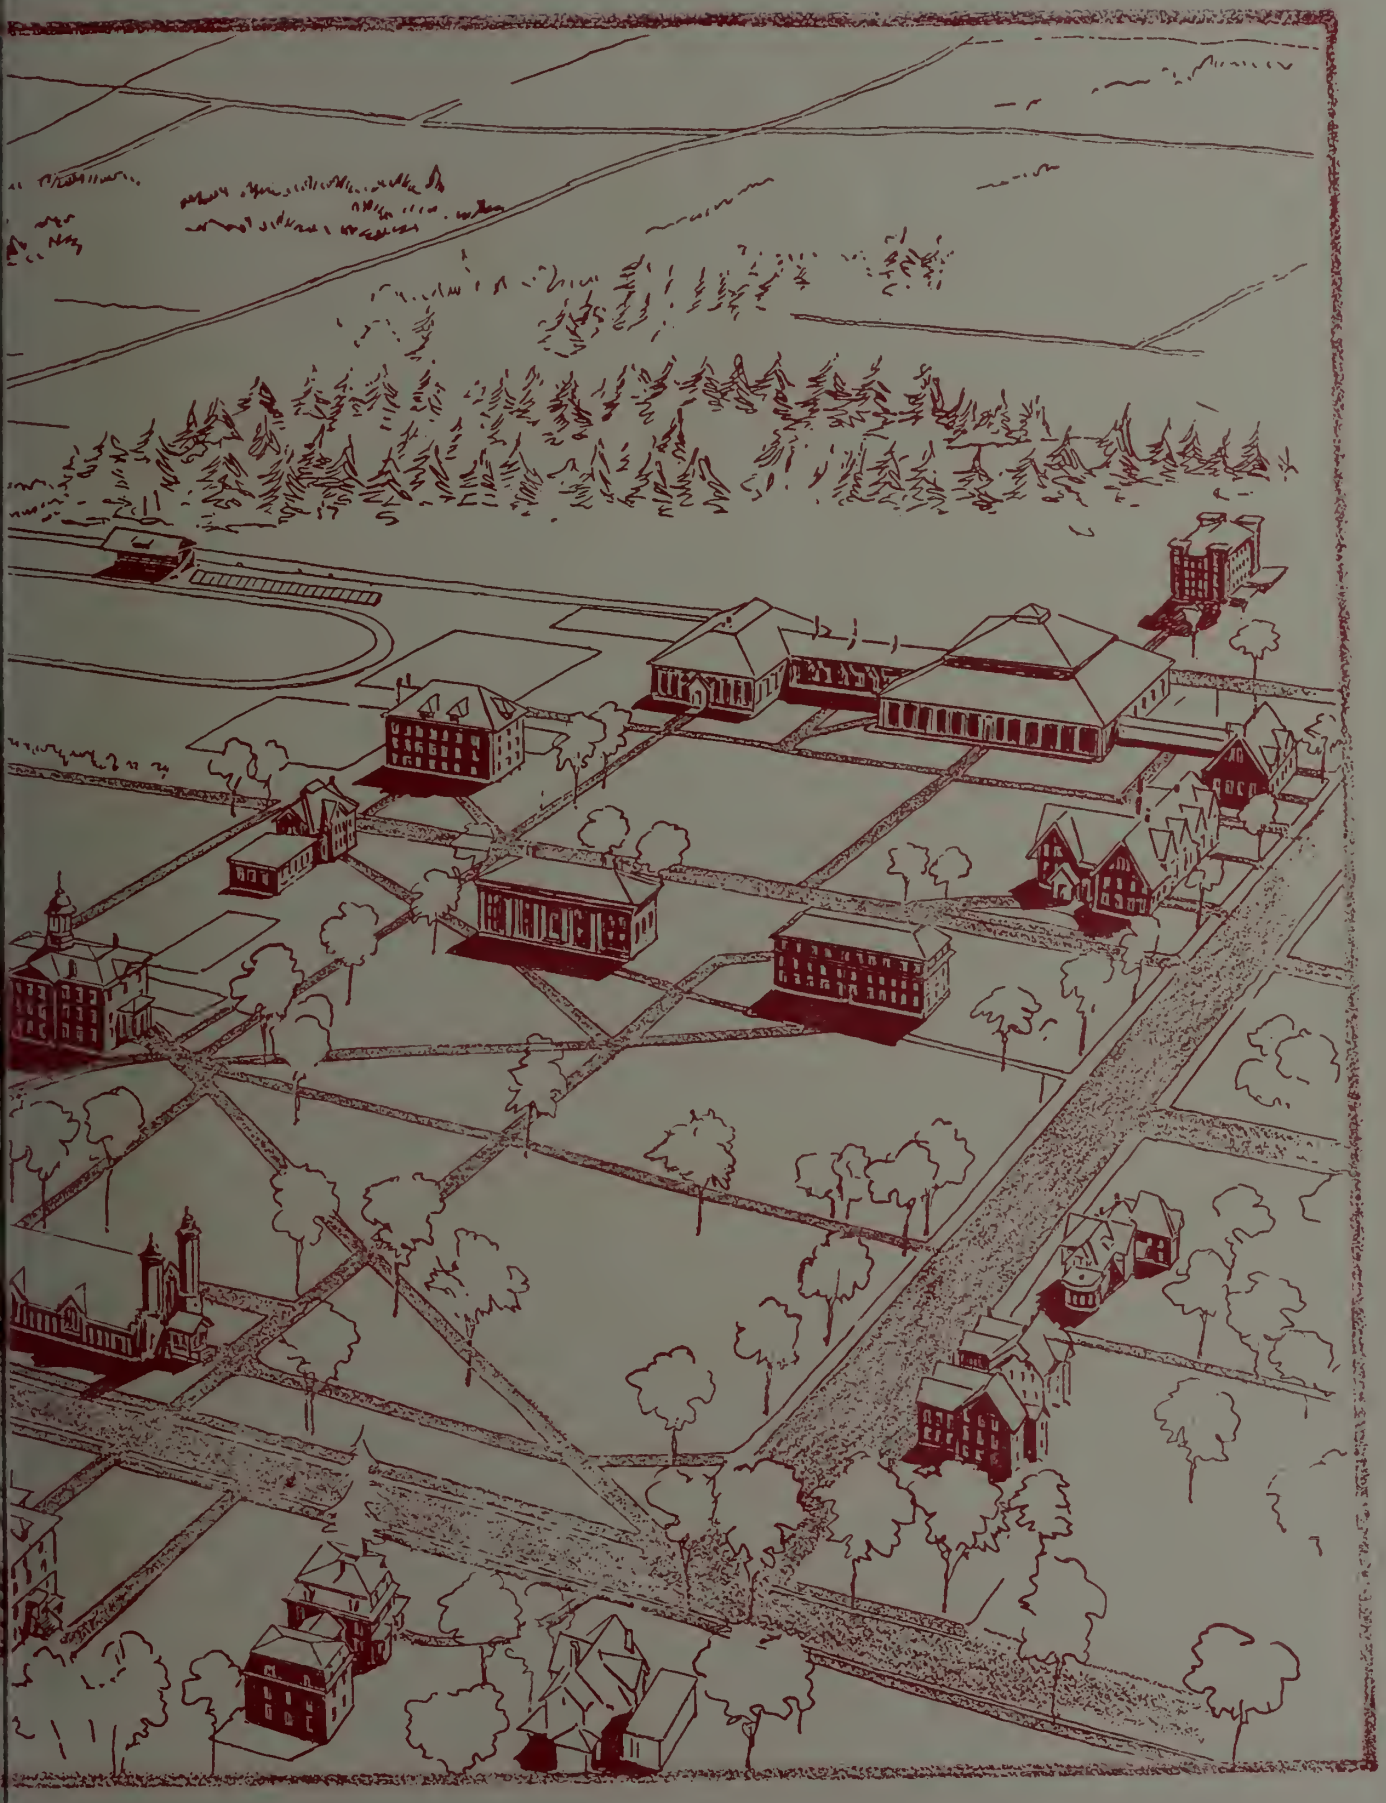
MIRROR
1938





Digitized by the Internet Archive
in 2013

http://archive.org/details/mirror193800unse

MIRROR
1938

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The board wishes to aeknowledge the interest shown and aecommodating work done on the 1938 Mirror by—

Mr. Milton Fitch, of Howard Wesson Co., engravers, who so excellently interpreted the editor's ideas.

Mr. Paul K. Blanehard, of Warren Press, who eo-operated so well in the production of this book.

Miss Lillian Tash, of the Dora Clark Tash Studio, who was so agreeable in eonforming to the wishes of the editor and business manager.

CONTENTS

FOREWORD

DEDICATION

ADMINISTRATION

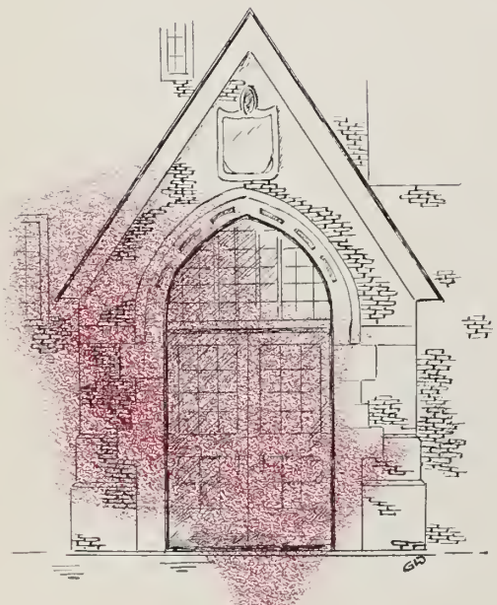
FACULTY

CLASSES

- Senior
- Underclasses
  - Junior
  - Sophomore
  - Freshman

ACTIVITIES

- Music
- Dramatics
- Forensics
- Publications
- Organizations
- Athletics



FOREWORD

IN THE 1938 MIRROR we have endeavored to reflect the spirit of Bates and to portray, through the media of pictures and the written word, its contributions to undergraduates.

We resolved not only to fulfill the need of a 1938 yearbook but also to consider its compilation as an undergraduate project with a definite purpose.

It has been our policy to make this book your book and to present the material in new and different ways. To accomplish this, our tools have been color, continuity of theme, and new layouts to maintain interest.

We present the 1938 MIRROR.

1938
BATES
COLLEGE
LEWISTON - MAINE

MIRROR

DEDICATION

FOR NEARLY seventy-five years there have been attracted to Bates men and women of high quality who, as undergraduates, have taken advantage of its offerings and have left its campus as educated people, fitted to take a place in society with the best.

To those among them who have been ever conscious of their obligations and responsibility to their Alma Mater and have forged ahead in their respective fields to make Bates proud of them, this book is sincerely dedicated.

RECENT CAMPUS LEADERS — ALUMNI NOW IN THE WORLD NEWS

In the past two decades these graduates are but a few of those who have become widely known personalities in their respective fields.

ERWIN D. CANHAM, '25, M.A. from Oxford, Rhodes Scholar. In charge of Washington Bureau of THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR.

GLADYS HASTY CARROLL, '25, Honorary M.A. from New Hampshire University. Author of AS THE EARTH TURNS, A FEW FOOLISH ONES, and NEIGHBOR TO THE SKY.

RAYMOND B. BUKER, '22, S.T.M. from Andover Newton Theological School. National Mile Champion, Olympic team 1922. Missionary in Kentung, Burma, India.

WINSLOW S. ANDERSON, '21, M.S. from University of Minnesota, Honorary LL.D. from Southern College. Dean of Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla.

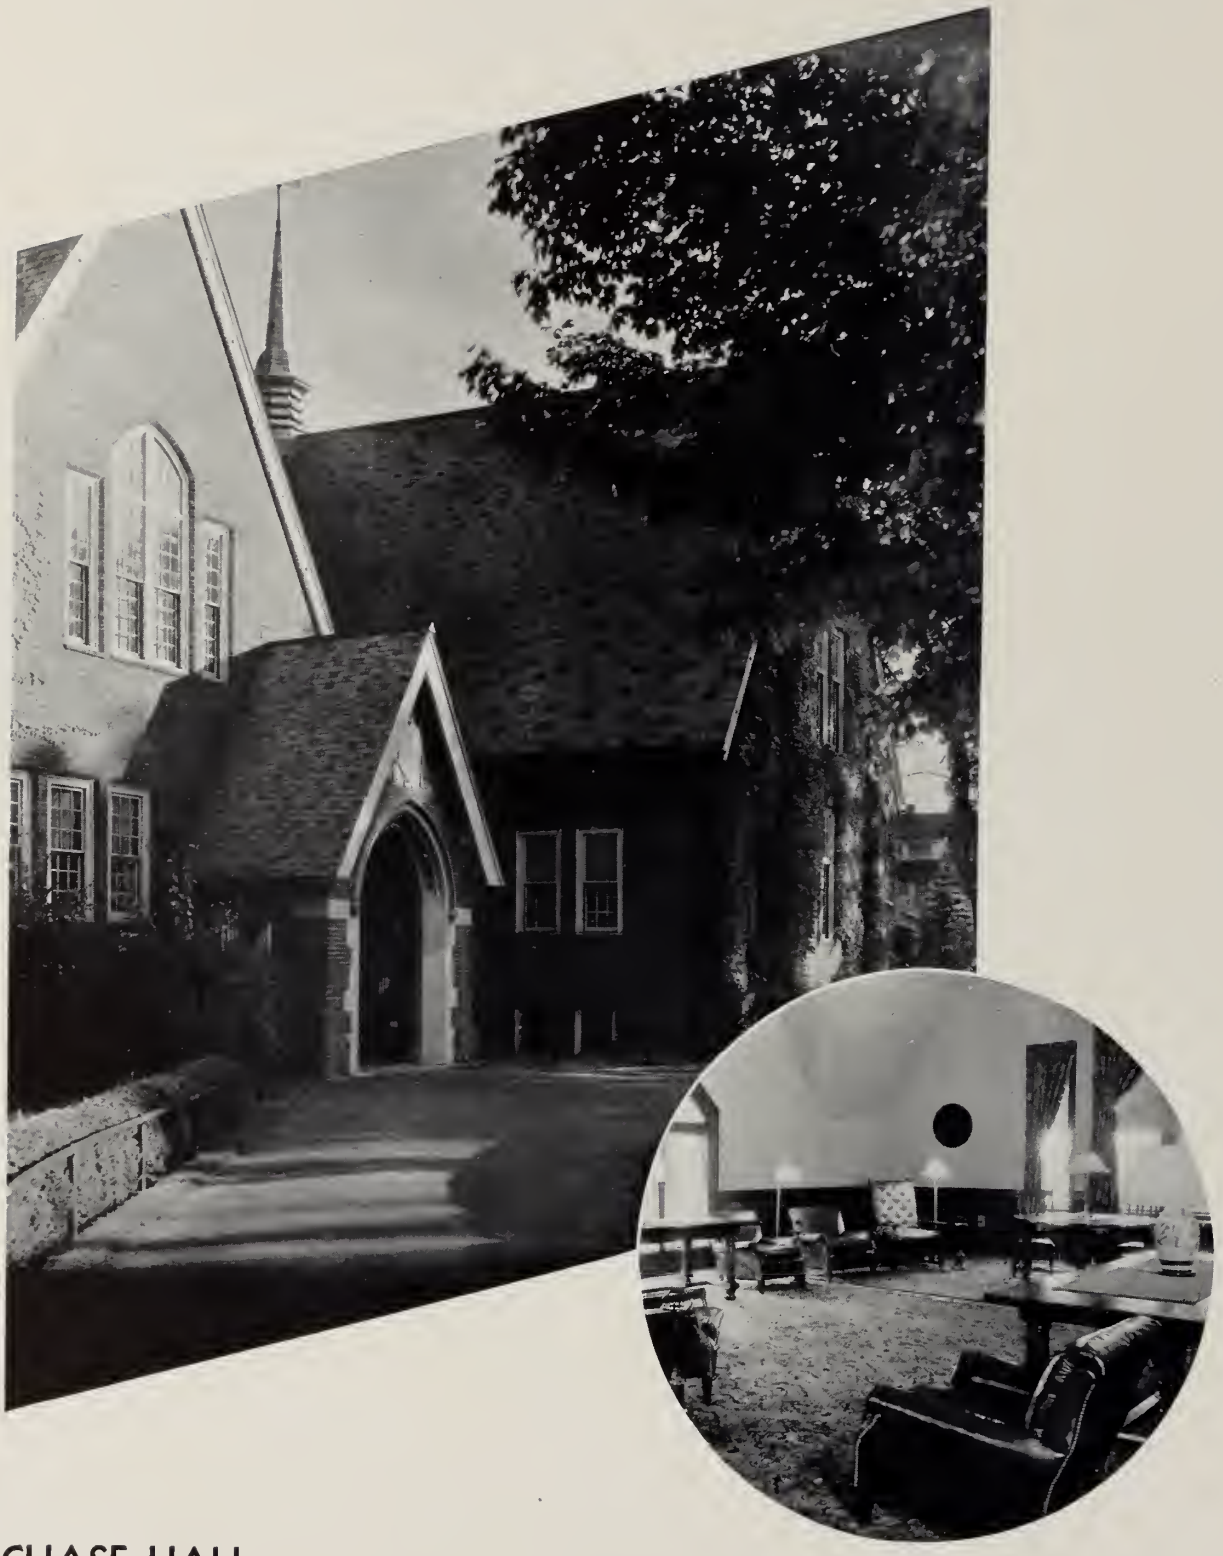
MANY OF OUR faculty have gained distinction in their respective academic fields by membership and office in national societies, by publication of many of their papers, by some particular discovery as a result of graduate work, or by the places they have made for themselves in the community.

Friendliness is perhaps the outstanding characteristic of both the administration and faculty. It is this quality which makes them so well liked in class and out, so desirable at social affairs, so interested in our future, so devoted to our welfare and willing to do their part in our extra-curricular activities.

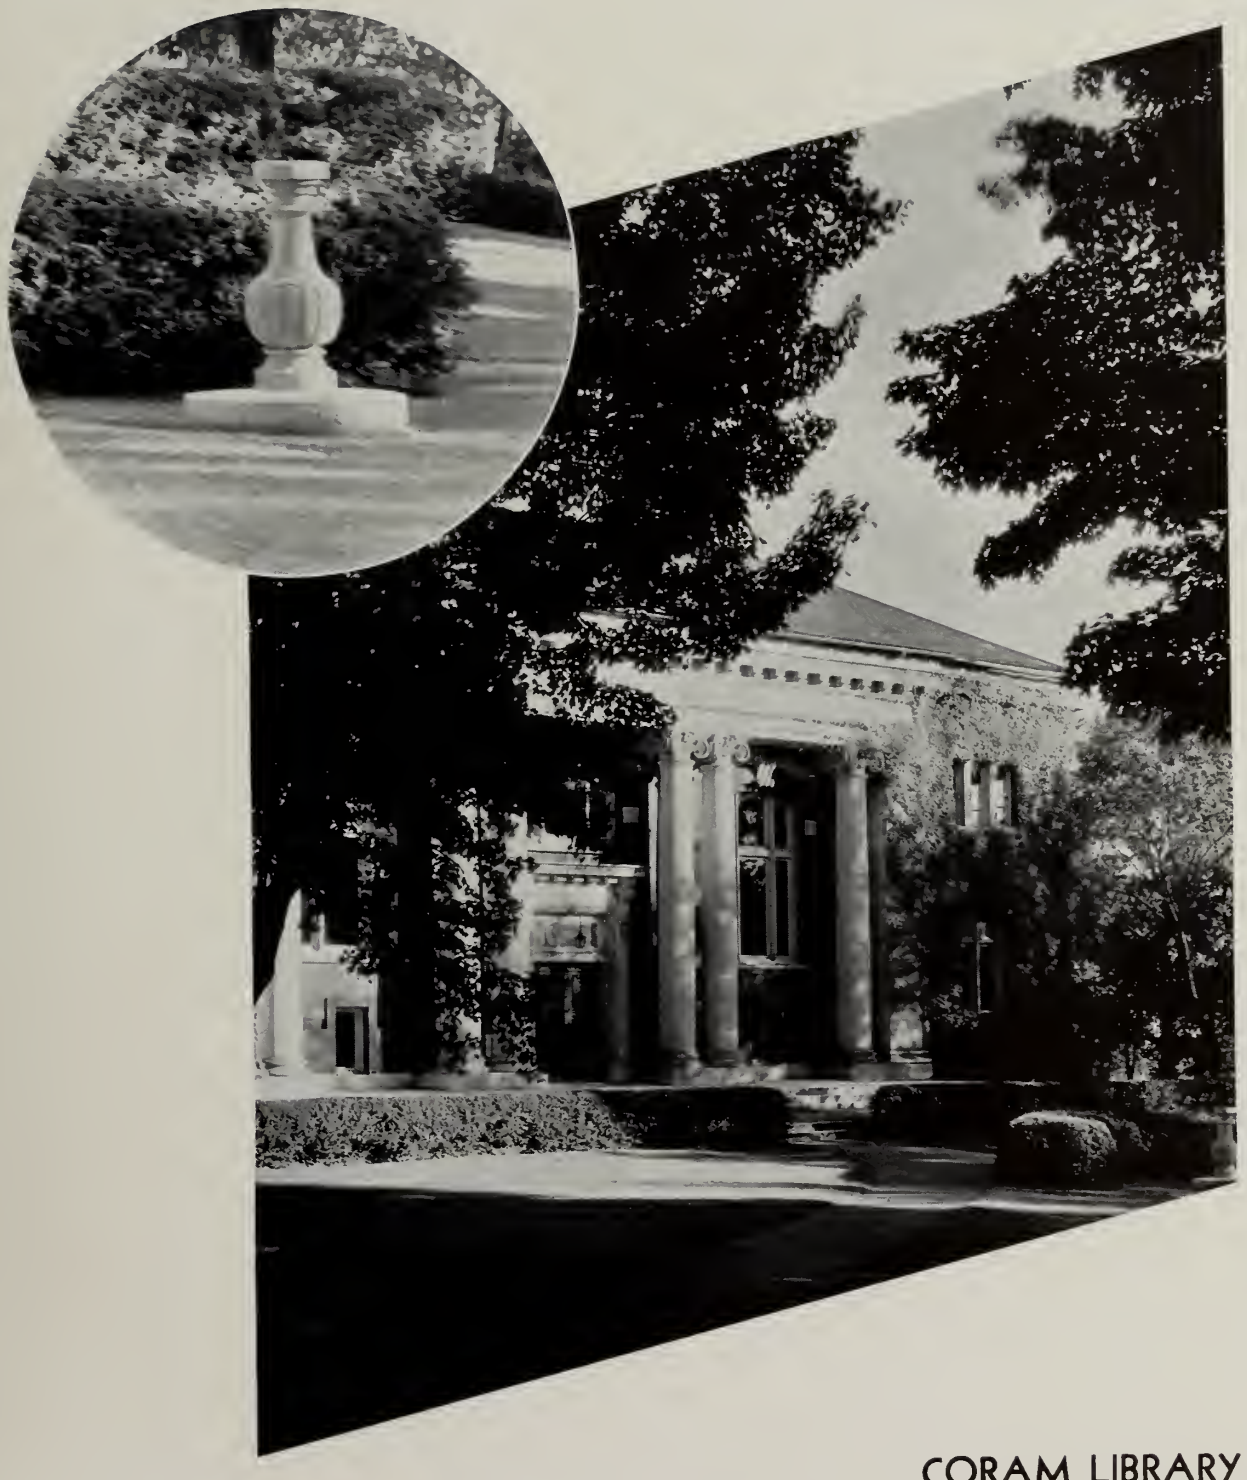
Some are not Bates graduates, but all have caught the spirit of Bates. Through their assistance by personal contacts or teaching, the administration and faculty stand first, then, among the contributions of Bates to its undergraduates.

The Trustees

ADMINISTRATION



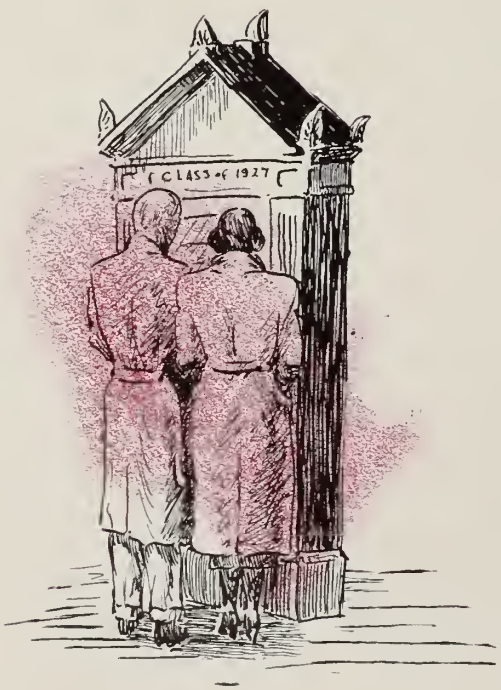
CHASE HALL



CORAM LIBRARY

AS A YEAR FLIES BY

FRESHMAN WEEK: Stanton ride, I. M. U. R. party, registration, first chapel. . . . Football games: rallies, special trains. . . . Junior Cab. . . . Thanksgiving vacation. . . . Tea Dance. . . . Varsity Club Initiation. . . . Christmas parties. . . . . Christmas vacation. . . . Pop Concert. . . . Midyears. . . . Carnival: Interdorm competition, queen, all-college skate, Carnival hop, open house at Thorncrag. . . . Basketball games. . . . Indoor Track meets. . . . Soph Hop. . . . Elections. . . . Spring vacation. . . . Mayor's campaign. . . . Ivy day: Ivy Hop. . . . Memorial Day cruise. . . . Finals. . . . Commencement Class day, banquet, alumni day . . . Vacation: Work, rest, travel, study.



A Bates Year

OUR PRESIDENT

CLIFTON DAGGET GRAY, Ph.D., LL.D.

Preacher, scholar and writer of renown. Third President of Bates. A real man, in stature, action and personal interests.

OUR ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT

HARRY WILLISON ROWE, A. B.

Speaker, writer, administrator, organizer, an integral part of Bates. The possessor of a job which makes him boss of the college and the source of the official O. K. to any college project.

OUR DEAN OF WOMEN

HAZEL MARIE CLARK, A. M.

Councilor, adviser, and leader of the women. Her job entails guidance, planning, correspondence. The center of women's social affairs and the inaugurator of new Bates customs.

ADMINI

MILDRED LEAH CHILDS

Secretary to the President, Director of Publicity.

JOHN A. CURTIS

Assistant Alumni Secretary, Director of Chase Hall.

Bates, A.B.

MABEL EATON

Assistant Librarian of Coram Library. President of Bates Key, Faculty Adviser of Lambda Alpha.

Bates College, A.B.; Simmons College, B.S.

CHRISTABEL FOLSOM

Dietitian.

Institutional Management Course, Simmons College; Summer Session, Columbia University; Summer Session, University of Vermont.

IVA W. FOSTER

Cataloguer of Coram Library.

Bates College, A.B.; Columbia University School of Library Service, B.S.

ROSA LAMB FOSTER

Director of Residences for Men; Hostess of Women's Union.

M. Childs

J. Curtis

M. Eaton

C. Folsom

I. Foster

R. Foster

RATION

R. Goodwin

L. Hayden

M. Libby

R. Metcalfe

B. Roberts

N. Ross

RALPH AUGUSTUS GOODWIN
Physician to Bates College.
Bates College, A.B.; Harvard Medical School, M.D.

LOUISE HAYDEN
College Nurse.
Central Maine General Hospital, R. N.; Graduate Study, Columbia.

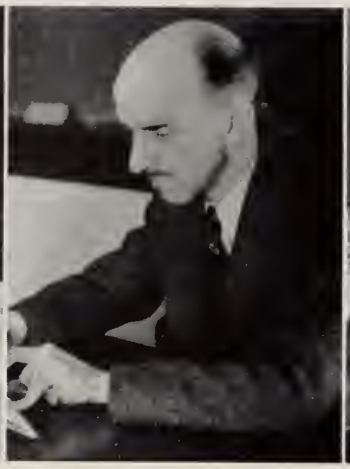
MABEL LOIS LIBBY
Registrar.
Bates College, A.B.

RACHEL ALICE METCALFE
Director of Residences for Women.
Worcester City Hospital, R. N.

BLANCHE WHITTUM ROBERTS
Librarian of Coram Library.
Bates College, A.B.

NORMAN ERNEST ROSS
Bursar.
Bates College, B.S.

P. Bartlett



R. Berkelman

A. Bertocci

P. Bertocci

PAUL B. BARTLETT

Professor of Business Economics, Director of Business Placement Bureau.

Grinnell College, A.B., M.A.

ROBERT GEORGE BERKELMAN

Associate Professor of English.

Lawrence College, A.B.; Yale University, M.A.; Columbia University; Harvard University.

ANGELO PHILIP BERTOCCI

Assistant Professor of French, Faculty Member of Phi Sigma Iota, Faculty Adviser of La Petite Académie.

Boston University, A.B.; Harvard University, M.A.; Diplome des Hautes Etudes Francaises; Universite de Grenoble.

PETER ANTHONY BERTOCCI

Instructor in Psychology.

Boston University, A.B., Ph.D.; Harvard University, M.A.; Cambridge University, England.

HALBERT HAINS BRITAN

Cobb Professor of Philosophy, Faculty Member of MacFarlane Club.

Hanover College, A.B., M.A.; Yale University, Ph.D.

H. Britan

Faculty

A. Buschmann

J. Carroll

G. Chase

S. Crafts

AUGUST BUSCHMANN

Instructor in German, Faculty Member of Der Deutsche Verein and Art Club; Tennis Coach; Director of Concert and Lecture Series.

Dartmouth, A.B.; Harvard University, M.A.

JOHN MURRAY CARROLL

Professor of Economics, Faculty Adviser of Politics Club.

Bates, A.B.; Harvard University, M.A.

GEORGE MILLET CHASE

Belcher Professor of Greek, Faculty Adviser of Phil-Hellenic Club.

Bates, A.B.; Cobb Divinity School; Yale University, M.A.

SELDON T. CRAFTS

Director of Music, Faculty Adviser of MacFarlane Club.

Faculty

L. Fisher

B. Gilbert

L. Glazier

S. Harms

LLOYD W. FISHER

Associate Professor of Geology.

Lehigh University, A.B.; Pennsylvania State College, M.S.; Johns Hopkins University, Ph.D.

BLANCHE TOWNSEND GILBERT

Professor of French.

Bates, A.B.; Hillsdale College, M.A.; University of Paris.

LYLE E. GLAZIER

Instructor in English.

Middlebury, A.B.; Bread Loaf School of English, M.A.

SAMUEL FREDERICK HARMS

Professor of Spanish, Faculty Member of Der Deutsche Verein.

University of Minnesota, A.B.; Harvard University, M.A.

A. Hovey

R. Gould

R. Kendall

L. Kimball

AMOS ARNOLD HOVEY

Professor of History, Faculty Adviser of Politics Club.

Acadia University, Nova Scotia, A.B.; Colgate University, B.D.; University of Chicago, M.A., Ph.D.

RAYMOND R. N. GOULD

Knowlton Professor of History and Government, Faculty Adviser of Politics Club.

University of Michigan, A.B.; Columbia University, M.A.

RAYMOND L. KENDALL

Assistant Professor of Educational Practice, Director of Summer Session.

Bates, A.B., M.A.

LAWRENCE D. KIMBALL

Instructor in French, Faculty Member of Phi Sigma Iota.

Bates, A.B.; Ecole de Preparation des Professeurs de Francais a l'Entranger, Sorbonne, with Honors; Phonetics Institute, University of Paris.

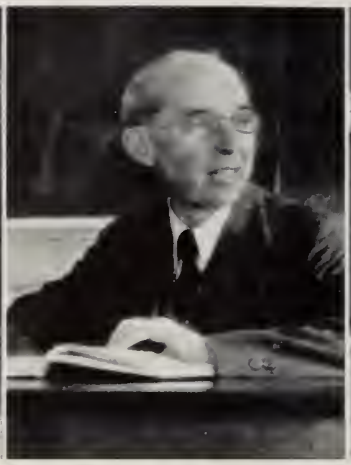
FRED AUSTIN KNAPP

Professor of Latin, Faculty Adviser of Sodalitas Latina.

Bates, A.B.; Harvard University, M.A.

F. Knapp

W. Lawrance



A. Leonard

R. McDonald

R. McGee

WALTER A. LAWRANCE

Stanley Professor of Chemistry, Adviser of Lawrance Chemical Society.

McMaster University, A.B., M.A.; University of Toronto, M.A.; Ph.D.

ARTHUR NEWTON LEONARD

Professor of German, Faculty Adviser of Der Deutsche Verein and Delta Phi Alpha, Chairman of the Faculty.

Brown University, A.B., M.A., Ph.D.

ROBERT A. F. McDONALD

Professor of Education, Chairman, Educational Division of the Placement Service.

McMaster University, A.B., M.A.; Columbia University, Ph.D.

ROBERT EARLE McGEE

Instructor in English.

Southwestern University, A.B.; Queens' College, Oxford, A.B.

FRED C. MABEE

Professor of Chemistry.

McMaster University, A.B., M.A.; Columbia University, M.A., Ph.D.

F. Mabee

Faculty

D. Mattison A. Myhrman F. Pomeroy B. Quimby

DORIS FAIRBANKS MATTISON

Lecturer in Sociology.

Boston University, B.M.; Buffalo University, B.S.

ANDERS MATTSON MYHRMAN

Associate Professor of Sociology, Faculty Adviser of Politics Club

University of Minnesota, A.B.; University of Pennsylvania, M.A.; University of Chicago, Ph.D.

FRED E. POMEROY

Professor of Biology.

Bates, A.B.

BROOKS QUIMBY

Associate Professor of Argumentation and Public Speaking, Debating Coach.

Bates, A.B.; Harvard University, M.Ed.

Faculty

G. Ramsdell

G. Robinson

W. Sawyer

R. Seward

GEORGE E. RAMSDELL

Professor of Mathematics.

Bates, A.B.; Harvard University, M.A.

GROSVENOR MAY ROBINSON

Professor of Public Speaking, Director of the Little Theatre, Faculty Adviser of 4-A Players.

Boston School of Expression, A.B., M.A.

WILLIAM H. SAWYER

Professor of Botany, Treasurer and Faculty Adviser of Outing Club, Faculty Adviser of Jordan Scientific Society.

Bates, A.B.; Cornell University, A.M.; Harvard University, Ph.D.

ROBERT DOUGLASS SEWARD

Assistant Professor of French, Faculty Member of Phi Sigma Iota, Faculty Adviser of La Petite Académie.

Kalamazoo College, A.B.; Tulane University, M.A.

P. Sweet

W. Thomas

P. Whitbeck

W. Whitehorne

PAUL ROBINSON SWEET

Instructor in History, Faculty Adviser of Off-Campus Men's Club.

DePauw University, A.B.; University of Wisconsin, Ph.D.

WILLIAM B. THOMAS

Instructor in Chemistry.

University of Illinois, B.S.; University of Wisconsin, Ph.D.

PAUL WHITBECK

Associate Professor of English.

Hamilton College, A.B.; Columbia University, M.A.

WILLIAM R. WHITEHORNE

Professor of Physics.

Tufts College, A.B., M.A., Ph.D.

PERCY D. WILKINS

Associate Professor of Mathematics, Faculty Treasurer of Classes.

Bowdoin College, A.B.; Case School of Applied Science, M.S.

P. Wilkins

K. Woodcock

E. Wright

R. Zerby

O. Cutts

KARL S. WOODCOCK

Associate Professor of Physics, Faculty Adviser of Camera Club.

Bates, B.S.; University of Chicago, M.S., Ph.D.

EDWIN MINER WRIGHT

Professor of English, Faculty Adviser of Spofford Club.

Colgate University, A.B.; Harvard University, M.A., Ph.D.

RAYBORN LINDLEY ZERBY

Associate Professor of Religion, Faculty Adviser of Bates Christian Association and Christian Service Club.

Eureka College, A.B.; University of Chicago, B.D., Ph.D.

D. Morey

OLIVER FROST CUTTS

Professor of Hygiene and Physical Education.

Bates, A.B.; Harvard Law School, LL.B.

DAVID BEALE MOREY

Head Coach of Football and Baseball.

Dartmouth College, B.S.; New York University, M.A.

Faculty

L. Spinks C. Thompson M. Fahrenholz L. Walmsley

LESLIE SPINKS

Assistant Coach of Football, Head Coach of Basketball, Faculty Adviser of Varsity Club.

Alabama Polytechnic Institute, B.S.; New York University, M.A.

CLINTON RAY THOMPSON

Director of Track Athletics.

Bates, A.B.

MARGARET H. FAHRENHOLZ

Instructor in Physical Education for Women, Faculty Adviser of Modern Dance Club.

Russell Sage College, B.S.

LENA WALMSLEY

Professor of Hygiene and Physical Education for Women.

Columbia University, A.B., M.A.

STUDENT

CONVINCED that a general program as formulated by previous councils was sufficiently adequate to meet the present needs of student life at Bates, the Student Council has made little effort in the direction of any drastic or spectacular revision of the same for this year. Operating with a minimum of dictatorialness, and characterized by a complete lack of an ostentatious display on the part of its members, it has quietly, yet efficiently, carried through to fulfillment a well-rounded program of student activity.

A realization that records of previous councils were woefully lacking in detail has led the present Council to make every effort to leave to its successors an accurate, complete, and informative report of all activities carried on under its supervision. Such reports have been written by the members directly involved and placed on file for future reference.

COUNCIL

In addition to its routine duties, the Council has done much to initiate and maintain a fine student spirit. Football rallies, student trips, and the Mayoralty Campaign constitute an integral part of the Council's attempt to project new life and color on the screen of campus activity. The first organized student train ever to leave the state from any of the Maine colleges pulled out of the Lewiston Station for Medford the morning of the Bates-Tufts game last fall. Over two hundred students, plus a substantial number of local fans, were on the sidelines when the whistle blew for the opening kickoff.

During the year, the men of the campus have enjoyed a democratic non-partisan representation on the Council. Rare disciplinary cases have been handled fairly and with decorum, all-college elections carefully supervised and efficiently conducted, and a new mechanism set up for the enforcement of Freshman Rules.

Standing: H. Dorman, B. Dorman (Pres.), Burnap
Seated: Coffin, Canavan, Bridges (Sec.), Luukko (V. Pres.), Howard, Howe

STUDENT GO

THE AIM of the Women's Student Government at Bates is to offer to each Bates woman the greatest possibilities of college life, to develop a sense of individual responsibility through the honor system, and to promote co-operation and harmony between the students and faculty. With this in mind, the association has organized an extensive program of activities.

This year the program included a series of Sunday afternoon teas, one of which was co-educational, demi-tasse served in the Women's Union, the annual Student Government banquet, the Spring Tea Dance, and two co-educational dinners organized with the help of the Student Council.

Standing: Clay, Jack (Pres.), Martikainen, K. Gould
Seated: D. Carey, E. Copeland, Hurley, Welsch, Montgomery (Sec.), D. Weeks (V. Pres.), Bowditch, Dearden, R. Brown, Feineman

ERNMENT

The first all-college address book was published and distributed by the Women's Student Government this year. One hundred and twenty-five mothers of Bates women were entertained by the Women's Student Government and Women's Athletic Association at the second annual Mothers' Week-end, held November 6th and 7th. Group singing and the initiation of the freshmen were also part of the program. As their guest for their banquet this year they had the Honorable Agnes Macphail, distinguished Canadian stateswoman, who came to the Bates campus as a lecturer.

The governing duties of the Board are integrated with this program in an endeavor to bring the best of college life to the Bates women. These duties are carried on by means of an honor system, a program found in only a few colleges. It uses this as a way to be of constructive value to each student by developing within them a sense of values.

HERE AT BATES there is a noticeable lack of class consciousness which is in many ways unique. When Thanksgiving rolls around each year, we lose our distinct freshman class; for their rules of subordination are dropped, and from that time on they become an integral part of the whole student body, sharing alike with the other classmen the privileges and responsibilities of their college.

One outstanding advantage of the smaller college is the opportunity for wider acquaintance and more intimate association with those in your classes, as well as with the whole college personnel. We are not just a mass of students pouring out of lecture halls every hour, never to be well known by our professors or missed by them, should we be absent, for our contacts with them are personal. No one can be oppressed by the feeling that he is just one fish submerged in a vast ocean of students.

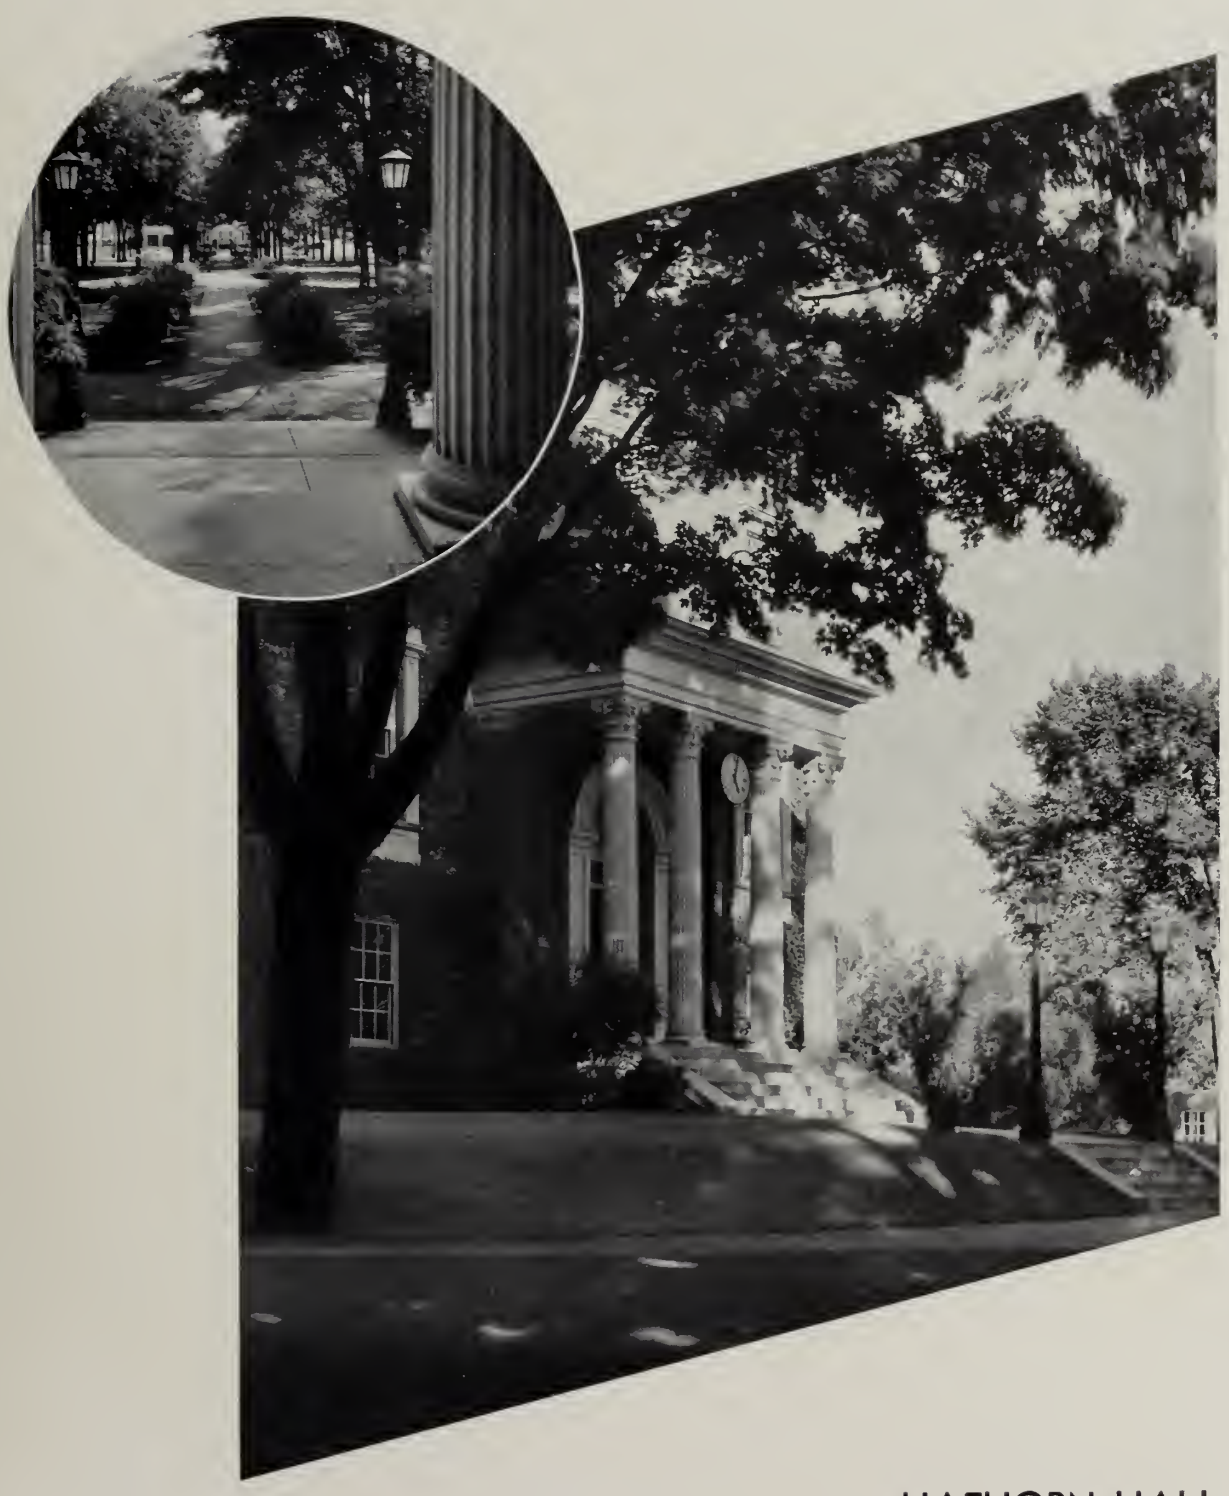
On the contrary, we are a good-sized group of happy and friendly students who learn to know each other well because of our smaller classes and outside social contacts. The interest in the individual student is never lost, for the realm of our acquaintance extends much further than our roommates and adviser.

Watching the classes objectively for four years, one sees the inevitable rise and fall of different factions. Groups formed by dormitories or cliques may wage a quiet fight for prominence or control, but dominance by any group in committees and offices is but temporary and the spirit of democracy prevails for the good of all.

Last Chapel

CLASSES

CHAPEL



HATHORN HALL

C. Goodwin (Sec.)
R. Crocker (Treas.)

C. Alexander (Pres.)
M. Chase (V. Pres.)

By J. Leard '38

THE FULL force of "Where, oh, where are the solemn seniors?", words which we have enjoyed many times around the fireplace at Thorncrag, at a sing on the slope of Mt. David, or on a trip to Mt. Tumbledown, is just beginning to strike, as we, now seniors ourselves, are about to "go out from our Alma Mater into the wide, wide world."

As we, the unique class of 1938, are about to file in cap and gown up the aisle of the chapel to receive our diplomas, official signification that Bates is throwing us into an unsettled world we can well pause to reflect on what our past four years have done to fit us for this situation.

Imagine any man or woman member of the class of 1938 sitting on the chapel steps for the last time as an undergraduate. He (or she) is wondering if, after four years of exposure to a college education, he is sufficiently developed to take his place in the world.

He has memories—many of them. . . . In September, 1934, he was one of 212 students from 11 states who arrived at Bates, bewildered in a community new to him. His "Ellis Island" was the ninth annual freshman week—to the systems including "reserve books," coeducation dances, "sprung quizzes," "cuts"; to the faculty, to the classrooms, from which he was to gain credit for 131 or 133 semester hours; to the athletic departments; to retreats, Thorncrag, the Qual, the Empire, Mt. David.

That fall he heard of Arnold College, swelled with pride as Bates, now HIS college, held Harvard's football team, 12–0. Classes came, classes went. In between studying, he learned that Back-to-Bates night meant rejuvenation of college spirit, that Bates beat Bowdoin 2–0 in football, that Oxford was sending a team of debaters here, that his classmates contributed to the one-act plays and also turned out an undefeated freshman football team, a good cross-country outfit, that Bates formals, judging from Junior Cab, would be occasions to look forward to.

He has many other first year memories . . . dreaded midyears in the gymnasium . . . the Outing Club rink, plenty of snow on the beautiful campus, the frigid St. Dom's arena . . . the first Winter Carnival. . . .

Then came second semester with the Science Exhibit. He remembers the record-breaking feats of Tony Kishon . . . the "polls" for annual spring elections . . . his first State Track Meet . . . the State Tennis Meet, both at Bates. . . . The $125,000 fire in Lewiston's "patch area" . . . HIS freshman sport dance in the spring . . . finally the much-talked-of mayoralty campaign in which Perry emerged victorious over the freshman candidate, Whitcomb . . . then finals . . . and temporary parting from the campus which had come to mean so much to him in one short year. . . .

What a different feeling when he returned a sophomore! He knew fellow students, professors, the administration, called some of them by nickname. . . . A "suicide schedule" in football and a period of freshman rules which he had barely escaped. . . . His classmates began to take their places in the "varsity" activities . . . Preston, Cooke, Frost, Eaton, Morin and Aldrich among the gridmen . . . Stewart, Jack, Kadjperooni, Craft, Becker in debating . . . Priseilla Jones, Marion Welsch, John Ciardi, Robert Crocker, Jonathan Bartlett, Larry Doyle and John Smith disguising themselves behind the footlights . . . Win Keck and Edward Howard featured in musical activities . . . John Ciardi, John Leard, George Windsor, Edward Fishman, John Smith on the publications . . . Cooke, Luukko, Howard, and Keck mainstay of the track team . . . Graee Jack elected vice-president of Student Government . . . John Skelton, John Smith, Courtney Burnap, Lois Chamberlain,

Hazel Borne, and a few others balancing the class on the academic side of the ledger . . . Reed and Casterline tennis stars . . . Hutchinson, Morin, and Healey in baseball . . . Many of the class in the first Varsity Club Follies . . . Nancy Haushill, Ida Miller, Mary Chase, Parnel Bray, Martha Packard among those prominent in W. A. A. . . . Garnets again victorious in Garnet and Black competition. . . . Fred Bailey, Ralph Goodwin, Charles Alexander, Ruth Waterhouse, Sam Leard, Grace Jack showing interest in Outing Club work. . . . Dinsmore giving us Soph Hop with a Neptune Garden motif. . . .

Among the year's features he recalls . . . the first coed dinner, part of the super-Carnival . . . arguments about class jackets . . . flood disasters—dropping of marks as Bates watches history being made . . . the opening of the Women's Union in June after another set of elections and a squabble over Lennartson's successor as STUDENT editor . . . Leard finally chosen . . . Vacation again.

Junior year, which went even faster, . . . Memories . . . opening of the Men's Lounge . . . beginning of the centralized Lecture and Concert Series program . . . the first Mothers' Week-End . . . the special train to a thrilling 10–21 football game at Orono . . . formation of Modern Dance Club . . . rallies . . . parades downtown . . . "Thirty Smackers" . . . definition of a "truck driver" as one who fails to attain an 80 average. . . .

A disappointing winter, with little snow . . . Sutcliffe '37 a Rhodes Scholar . . . the "bloomer boys" basketball victory over the coeds . . . An achievement by '38 as the "Buffoon" makes its first appearance . . . undercover formation of "the Rabble," a successful machine in the March elections . . . another Science Exhibit . . . first-hand view of labor troubles with the Lewiston-Auburn shoe strike . . . abolition of numerical averages for determining ranks in classes . . . Mayoralty Campaign with Eaton, Bartlett, and Wright featured . . . "CMG" candidate elected, inaugurated by Prexy under the light of one of the few Mt. David bonfires he has seen. . . . Elections and appointments before the summer including Charles Alexander, class president . . . Gordon Williams, C. A. and Mirror . . . Sam Leard, Outing Club . . . Paul Stewart, Debating Council . . . Dorothy Kennedy, Garnet . . . . Grace Jack, Stu. G. . . . Barclay Dorman, Student Council . . . Mary Chase, W. A. A. . . . Jonathan Bartlett, 4-A . . . Omar King, Buffoon . . . John Leard, Student (reelected) . . . Many others heads of campus clubs. . . . Ivy Day with '38-ers trying on caps and gowns for the first time. . . .

The road back in September . . . the last time . . . realization that '38 was finally on top of the heap . . . leading . . . setting examples . . . Preston first football captain elected in Morey's eight coaching years here. . . . A disappointing season. . . . Valentine Wilson a candidate for the Maine Rhodes Scholarship exams . . . a state championship in cross-country which, with the tennis last June had been the only two State crowns in our four years . . . the first varsity basketball team since 1922 . . . a Carnival with snowless Mary McKinney as queen. . . .

Soon spring . . . realization that it costs money to graduate from college . . . senior pictures . . . caps and gowns . . . diplomas (we hope) . . . turning over "control" to the juniors . . . Last Chapel . . . Commencement . . . the last formal in Chase Hall still in prospect . . ..

What have such memories to do with his being fitted for the non-paternalistic world? In 1934 he came through his "Ellis Island." He took his place in a community, just as he will soon have to. He helped elect governmental officials, perhaps became a leader himself, found his niche, whether it was in studies, athletics, administrative work, oratory, publishing, or acting. His formal opportunities were perhaps supplemented by work of some kind or other—in social groups, on the janitorial force, as a secretary, in the library, as manager of some activity.

He should be equipped by now with a good liberal education, a general knowledge of many fields. He has probably formed in the last four years a definite preference for some field out of the many across which he has trekked.

In addition to this equipment, which is of a curricular derivation, he has the fitness which comes from the extra-curricular work he has done and the social situations in which he has found himself during the past four years.

Chances are, however, he is ready to teach, to enter social work, to do commendable work in graduate school, to go into some lines of business with community adaptation and knowledge, his equipment to face his post-graduate destiny.

SENIORS

C. Alexander

H. Amrein

F. Bailey

C. Bartlett

CHARLES ROBERT ALEXANDER, A.B.

11 Newland Avenue, Augusta, Me.

"Pappy's" election to class presidency speaks for his popularity; his rise from scrub to varsity end is a tribute to his determination.

Football 1–4; Baseball 2; Winter Sports 3, 4; Heelers 3, 4; Outing Club Director 4; Buffoon Staff 3, 4; Varsity Club 4; Class President 4.

HAROLD CARL AMREIN, A.B.

4 Hendricks Avenue, Norwalk, Conn.

A hard and constant worker — a member of the C. M. G. squad. Worked out at football in his spare time.

Football 1–4; Winter Sports 1–4; Outing Club Director 4; Christian Service Club 3.

FREDERICK CLINTON BAILEY, B.S.

35 Shepley Street, Auburn, Me.

It's hard to conceive of Fred without his car and radio. Besides being a devotee of the Chem. lab, he is a lover of the sea, etc.

Asst. in Chem. 3; Honors Work in Chem.; Winter Sports 1–4; Lawrance Chem.; Heelers 1–3; Junior Cab. Com.

CHARLES WILLIS BARTLETT, B.S.

814 Main Street, Lewiston, Me.

"Charlie's" (better known as the Mayor of Barkerville) firm and resolute will has carved a niche in our memories.

Football 1; Track 1; La Petite Académie 2–4; Off-Campus Men's Club, Sec-Treas. 3, 4.

JONATHAN BARTLETT, B.S.

19 Whitman Street, Norway, Me.

Witty, as seen by his capable toastmastership; prominent in all 4-A productions; assistant to "Doc" in Geology—who could ask for more?

Heelers 1; 4-A 1–3, Pres. 4; Class Basketball 1–4; Asst. in Geology 3, 4; Track 1; Ivy Day Speaker 3; Speakers' Bureau 4.

HOWARD HANCOX BECKER, A.B.

19 Hoover Road, Yonkers, N. Y.

Whether it's a band or a debating team, Chase Hall dances, publications, or what have you, "Howie" is always the manager.

Varsity Debate Squad 2, 3, Mgr. 4; Speakers' Bureau 2–4; Asst. Bus. Mgr. Mirror 3; Pres. Publishing Assn. 4; Politics Club 3, 4; Choral 3, 4; Band Mgr. 3, 4; Ivy Day Speaker; Chase Hall Com. 4; Vice Pres., Eastern Intercollegiate Debate League 4; Honors Work in Economics; College Club.

J. Bartlett

H. Becker

M. Bennett

A. Bertrand

MARGARET ELIZABETH BENNETT, A.B.

49 Gray Street, Portland, Me.

For her outstanding generosity and friendliness, "Bennie" is very well known about our campus.

Heelers 1–4; Phil-Hellenic 2–4; Student 2, 3, Social Ed. 4; Buffoon 3, 4; Mirror 4; Freshman Sport Dance Com.

ALOYSIUS LEO BERTRAND, A.B.

14 Main Street, North Grafton, Mass.

Al impresses us with his air of punctuality and business-like manner. A fine student, gentleman, and friend.

Freshman Sport Dance Com.; Spofford Club; Asst. in English.

PHYLLIS IRENE BICKFORD, A.B.

63 Winter Street, Auburn, Me.

We haven't known Phyllis as well as we would like to have. However, from our brief glimpses of her scurrying across the campus, we are sure she is a grand person.

Lambda Alpha 1–4.

HAZEL MAY BORNE, A.B.

34 Gardner Street, Allston, Mass.

A possessor of a keen mind, Hazel is always willing to help the less fortunate.

Spofford Club 3, 4, Sec'y 4; Garnet Staff 4; C. A. Peace Com. 3, 4; Asst. in English 3, 4; Phi Beta Kappa Reading Prize 4; Contributors' Club 4; Phi Beta Kappa.

RUTH ABBOT BOWDITCH, A.B.

59 Grove Street, Augusta, Me.

The intricacies of music, animals, and student government, "Mickey" knows them all—and does she keep things humming!

Orphic 1, 2; Student 1, 2; MacFarlane 2, 4. Sec'y 3; Christian Service Club 2; Student Government 3, 4; W. A. A. Coach of Archery, Campcraft; Ramsdell Scientific; Asst. in Biology 4; Proctor 3, 4; Bates Key.

WINNIFRED PARNEL BRAY, A.B.

66 Wilton Avenue, Norwalk, Conn.

Our perfect sportswoman, with equal enthusiasm for work and play.

W. A. A. Sec'y 2, Treas. 4; W. A. A. Tennis Mgr. 3, Basketball Coach, 4; "B" Sweater; Director, Outing Club 4; Choir 3, 4; Choral 3, 4; MacFarlane 4; C. A. Peace Com. 3.

P. Bickford

H. Borne

R. Bowditch

P. Bray

ROBERT ERNEST BROUILLARD, B.S.

Ash Street, Northbridge, Mass.

Excellent chemist, good student, and a fine jovial friend on all occasions, "Bob" gives promise of being well-known in his chosen field.

Lawrance Chem. Society 2–4; Honors Work.

ARTHUR PAUL BUCHANAN, JR., B.S.

Winchester, N. H.

Buried in Carnegie for four years. He always wears an apologetic grin, or else he's blinking at the sunlight. Swell person.

Asst. in Biology 2–4; Jordan Scientific 2, 3; Journals Club 2–4; Deutscher Verein 4.

R. Brouillard

A. Buchanan

COURTNEY NOBLE BURNAP, A.B.

49 Mechanic Street, Shelburne Falls, Mass.

"Burney's" sincerity, determination, and sportsmanship have won the respect of all.

Band 1–3; Politics Club 3, 4; C. A. Cabinet 3; Debating Council 2; Varsity Club 3, 4; Track 1–4; Student 2; Student Council 4; Asst. in Sociology, Phi Beta Kappa.

JOAN ELIZABETH BURNHEIMER, A.B.

North Waldoboro, Me.

If superlatives were voted for the best disposition in the class, "Joanie" would win without a doubt. A good sport, a prized companion, and a real friend.

Phil-Hellenic 3, 4.

DONALD GRAHAM CASTERLINE, B.S.

18 Maurice Street, Malden, Mass.

Dapper, and a smooth dancer, "Don" is one of our pages from Esquire.

Chairman, Freshman Sport Dance Com.; Soph. Hop Com.; Tennis 1–4; State Champ 3, Co-Capt. 4; Varsity Club 2–4; Jordan Scientific 4.

ROBERT MERRILL CHALMERS, A.B.

21 Beacon Avenue, Auburn, Me.

"Bob's" business ability should carry him far. In co-operation with the "Merchant of Venice", he has almost cinched the title of the class of '38's "big business" man.

Student, Business Mgr. 4; Politics Club, Pres. 4; C. A. Peace Com. 3, 4; Honors Work, Economics 4; Asst., Economics 3, 4; Speakers' Bureau 4.

C. Burnap

J. Burnheimer

D. Casterline

R. Chalmers

L. Chamberlain

M. Chase

W. Cole

A. Colesworthy

LOIS CHAMBERLAIN, A.B.

259 Frost Road, Waterbury, Conn.

Lois is one of the real students of the class. She is spiced with a delightful sense of humor and a pleasing personality.

La Petite Académie 2–4; Phi Sigma Iota 3, 4; Sodalitas Latina 4; W. A. A. Numerals; Asst. in French; Phi Beta Kappa.

MARY ALICE CHASE, A.B.

26 Summit Street, Auburn, Me.

Her quiet efficient way won for her the unusual distinction of having too many offices.

Lambda Alpha, Sec'y 2, Vice Pres. 3; W. A. A. Board, Pres. 4; Orphic 2–4; La Petite Academie 2–4; MacFarlane 2–4; Class Sec'y 4; Phi Beta Kappa; Bates Key.

WARREN SYLVESTER COLE, A.B.

Gray, Me.

Warren has a certain quiet efficiency that makes for success in life, even though he has refrained from being in the campus limelight.

Sodalitas Latina 3, 4, Secy' Treas. 4.

ALFRED LEE COLESWORTHY, JR., A.B.

186 Spring Street, Portland, Me.

Al looks forward to the summertime, for then he can spend his time sailing. In the fall he goes in for gunning. Economics takes third place in his interests.

C. Cooke

W. Cooney

CHARLES EDWIN COOKE, JR., A.B.

248 Pine Street, Lowell, Mass.

Star right end, pole vaulter, and a boon to the Lowell police force, the giant of the class will always remain in the memory of those who know him.

Football 2–4; Baseball 3; Track 2, 3; Athletic Council 3; Varsity Club 2–4, Pres. 4; Soph Hop Com.

WILLIAM HENRY COONEY, A.B.

229 Central Street, Springfield, Mass.

With his keen mind and his determination, "Bill" would be an asset to any form of diplomatic or governmental service.

Mirror 4.

C. Corning

E. Craft

R. Crocker

N. Crockett

CHARLOTTE ELIZABETH CORNING, A.B.

88 Salmon Street, Manchester, N. H.

A veritable tower of strength in the moment of need, whether for a head-cold or a mental tangle, Charlotte has brought us through in grand style.

Heelers 1–2; 4-A 3–4; Ramsdell Scientific 3, 4; Christian Service Club 3, 4, Sec'y 4; Deutscher Verein 4.

ELLEN KINLOCH CRAFT, A.B.

435 Convent Avenue, New York, N. Y.

"Kay" is an outstanding, charming, friendly, and ambitious senior who is already started on the road to success.

C. A. Sec'y 2, 3, Vice Pres. 4; Politics Club 3, Vice Pres. 4; Ramsdell Scientific 3, 4; Varsity Debates 2–4; Chapel Com. 2, 3; Speakers' Bureau 4; W. A. A. Numerals; Freshman Prize Speaker; Bates Key.

ROBERT MERROW CROCKER, A.B.

22 Whitney Street, Auburn, Me.

"Bob" has the spirit of the true actor—unassuming, yet possessing hidden power.

Heelers 1, 2; 4-A 2–4, Sec'y 3, Vice Pres. 4; Class Treas. 4; Ivy Day Speaker 3; Buffoon, Managing Ed. 3, 4.

NANCY LONGFELLOW CROCKETT, A.B.

Addison, Me.

Popular in her original class, she soon won recognition on her return. Should make a very successful teacher.

Phil-Hellenic 2; Student 1, 2; Spofford 2; Class Sec'y 1.

ARTHUR SAMUEL CUMMINGS, II, B.S.

13 Madison Street, Auburn, Me.

Business-like, unostentatious, "Art" has taken the '37 football team right to his heart. Knows his geology.

Football Mgr. 1–4; Varsity 3, 4; Student 3, 4; Asst. in Geology 3, 4; Deutscher Verein 3, 4.

EDWARD EMERSON CUMMINGS, B.S.

110 Portland Avenue, Old Orchard, Me.

The jovial "General" exudes a genial good fellowship that makes him welcome anywhere, and leaves you hoping he'll come back. Holds daily "at homes" on East Parker porch.

Band 1–4; Jordan Scientific 3, 4.

A. Cummings

E. Cummings

M. Dale

D. Davis

MARY ELIZABETH DALE, A.B.

ANDOVER STREET, BILLERICA, MASS.

Charm personified would be an accurate description. Always sympathetic and understanding.

House Council 1–4; Proctor 3; C. A. Cabinet 4; La Petite Académie 2, 3; Phil-Hellenic 3, 4; Student 1–4; Mirror 4.

BARBARA CLEWORTH DAVIS, A.B.

179 GLENWOOD STREET, MALDEN, MASS.

A slow drawl, a brief smile, a generous heart. Barbara has not been with us all four years, but she has undoubtedly secured herself in our memories as a real member of the class of '38.

GRACE ELEANORE DEARDEN, A.B.

101 WOODLAND STREET, LAWRENCE, MASS.

A sunny disposition, friendly smile, and winning personality are always with "Dee" as she scurries about.

Choral 1, 2; Heelers 1–4; Student Government 1–4; Deutscher Verein 3, Sec'y 4; Delta Phi Alpha 3, 4; Proctor 3; Class Sec'y 3; Alumni Sec'y; Ivy Day Com.

HELEN MARY DICKINSON, A.B.

13 PINE ROAD, LYNN, MASS.

The ability to transform herself from a giggling schoolgirl to a sophisticated social worker is just one of Helen's many talents. Beneath it all, she is delightfully domestic.

Student 3; Feature Ed. 4; Christian Service Club 1, 2; C. A. Cabinet 1–3; Ivy Hop Com.

ANITA MARIE DIONNE, A.B.

6 PARK STREET, CARIBOU, ME.

Despite unfortunate absences, Anita has fought her way back, and we are proud of her courage. Hats off to her pluck!

Ramsdell Scientific 2–4; Student 2; W. A. A. Numerals 2; W. A. A. Coach of Volleyball 4.

BARCLAY NELSON DORMAN, B.S.

2905 32ND STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C.

In three years has accomplished a great deal—a good leader and an asset to the school—always behind anything new and progressive.

Outing Club Jr. Body 2–4; Jordan Scientific 2, 3, Sec'y-Treas. 4; Buffoon, Business Mgr. 3, 4; Student Council, Pres. 4.

E. Dearden

H. Dickinson

A. Dionne

B. Dorman

GEORGE OSCAR BOWEN DOYLE, A.B.

73 Cornell Avenue, Yonkers, N. Y.

Peanut vendor, actor, and terpsichorean extraordinary. "Larry's" Yonkers accent and his truckin' have endeared him to every one of us.

4-A 1–4; Interclass Basketball 1–3; Choral 2; Junior Cab. Com.; Phil-Hellenic 4.

BELLE TURNER DUNHAM, A.B.

75 Harvard Street, Auburn, Me.

One of our quieter members whose presence does not have to be heard to be appreciated.

Orphic 1; Lambda Alpha 1–4; La Petite Academie 4; Contributors' Club 4; W. A. A. 1–3; W. A. A. Coach of Games 2, 4.

G. Doyle

B. Dunham

WILLIAM CHARLES DUNLEVY, A.B.

28 Franklon Avenue, Brockton, Mass.

"Bill" is a fine baseball player, but athletic prowess has not impaired his sense of values.

Baseball 1–4; Basketball 3, 4; Varsity Club 2–4; Football 1,

WILLIAM GILL EARLES, A.B.

489 Ocean Street, South Portland, Me.

Though outwardly quiet and reserved, "Bill's" talents are well known to us through his many versatile roles with the 4-A players and his excellent dancing at Chase Hall.

Heelers 1; 4-A 2–4; Outing Club 1–3; Student 1; Spofford Club 3–4; Freshman Sport Dance Com.; Speakers' Bureau 4.

MAX ANDREWS EATON, B.S.

61 School Street, Dedham, Mass.

Always "awful tired." Florist of the class. Greatly disappointed at the change in the "Beacon." Glad to get excited about anything and very good natured.

Football 1–4; Varsity Club 2, 3, Sec'y 4; Jordan Scientific 3, 4; Intramural Basketball 1–3; College Club.

WILLIAM MELVILLE FISHER, A.B.

514 Main Street, Mexico, Me.

Enjoys pulling the wool over profs' eyes. Drives a car like a madman—and loves it. Fine companion and a swell guy.

Cross Country 1, 2; Track 1, 2; Choir 1–4; Choral 1–4; Heelers 2; MacFarlane 4.

W. Dunlevy

W. Earles

M. Eaton

W. Fisher

E. Fishman

C. Ford

R. Frost

R. Fullerton

EDWARD FISHMAN, A.B.

70 South Street, Framingham, Mass.

Makes a point never to get through a class without adding something.

Winter Sports 1–3; Student 1–4, News Ed. 3, Managing Ed. 4; Garnet, Bus. Mgr. 2, 4; Debating 2; Spofford 3, 4; Contributors' Club 4; News Bureau 2–4; Buffoon 4.

CAROLYN FRANCES FORD, A.B.

3 Whipple Street, Kittery, Me.

"Carol" is one who has done much of the hard work for which not enough credit is given. All of us have enjoyed listening to her play either in the dining room or outside.

MacFarlane 2; Sec'y 3, 4; C. A. Social Com. 3, 4; La Petite Academie 3, 4; Deutscher Verein 4; Choral 3, 4.

ROBERT VERNON FROST, B. S.

25 Beal Street, Norway, Me.

"Baldy," the ball-totin' right half, has ripped off a good many long gains, both on the field and in our affections.

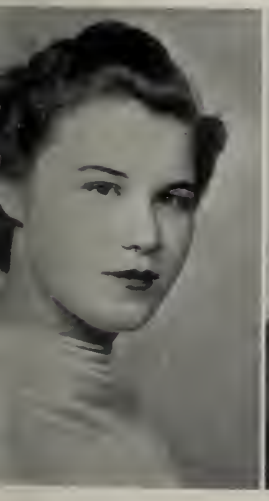
Heelers 1; Football 1–4; Jordan Scientific 3, 4; Interclass Basketball 1–3; Proctor 3; Varsity Club, 2–4; Vice Pres. 4; Athletic Council 4; Track 1; Ivy Hop, Chairman.

RICHARD DUNLOP FULLERTON, A.B.

409 Orange Avenue, Cranford, N. J.

"Dick" is the class camera-man. His skill should take him to a high position. Neat, systematic, punctual.

Camera Club 1, 2, Pres. 3, 4; Buffoon, Art Ed. 3, Staff Photographer, Student 3, 4, Mirror 3.



A. Gauvreau

G. Giovanazzi

ANITA LOUISE GAUVREAU, A.B.

69 Horton Street, Lewiston, Me.

A keen intellect, poise, a pleasing personality—Anita will without doubt win recognition in the future.

Heelers 1, 2; Spofford Club 2, 3, Vice Pres. 4; Lambda Alpha 1–4; Ivy Hop Com.; Contributors' Club 4; Garnet 4; Phi Sigma Iota 2–4.

GEORGE FERDINAND GIOVANAZZI, A.B.

135 Chapman Street, Greenfield, Mass.

Sparkplug of the "Rabble." Maybe it has been his untiring boosting of the Bates spirit which makes "Jo" "awful tired."

Track 1, 2; Student 3; Buffoon 3, 4; Cheerleader 3; Intramural Basketball 3.

C. Goodwin

R. Goodwin

R. Gould

A. Hagstrom

CONSTANCE LUELLA GOODWIN, A.B.

14 Winter Street, Bristol, N. H.

Without her dimples and her smile, the class of '38 would be lost. Having won more recognition each year, we may now acclaim "Connie" one of our most popular co-eds.

Lambda Alpha 2, 3; Dance Club 3, 4; Class Sec. 4.

RALPH AUGUSTUS GOODWIN, JR., B.S.

56 Denison Street, Auburn, Me.

"Spood" curses Chase Hall dances but always shows up. Can never wait for snow to fall, and always prolongs winter by tearing off to Tuckerman's Ravine. This great little man's affairs cover the entire eastern seaboard

Camera Club 2, 3; Winter Sports 1–4; Jordan Scientific 4; Buffoon 4.

RICHARD BEAL GOULD, B.S.

65 North Main Street, Farmington, Me.

Still water runs deep and possesses the greater force. Intensely interested in track and chemistry.

Track 2–4; Asst. in Chemistry 3, 4; Lawrance Chem. Society 3, 4; Honors Work in Chem.

ALBIN RAND HAGSTROM, B.S.

643 East 18th Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Swimming and co-education are "Al's" two chief extra-curricular activities.

Jordan Scientific 3, 4; Junior Cab. Com.; Ivy Day Com.

RUTH ALFREDA HAMLIN, A.B.

Gorham, N. H.

Quiet, steady, dependable, an example of true sportsmanship. The famed New Hampshire spirit and hospitality are always present.

Outing Club, Jr. Body 3, 4; Politics Club 4; Ramsdell Scientific 4; W. A. A. "B"; W. A. A. Coach of Baseball 4.

CAROLINE PIERCE HANSCOM, A.B.

12 Maple Street, Sanford, Me.

Caroline's cheery smile, sunny disposition, pluck, and friendly ways will be long remembered.

La Petite Académie 3, Sec. 4; Sodalitas Latina 3, Sec. 4; Deutscher Verein 4; Lambda Alpha 3, 4; House Council 1, 2; Delta Phi Alpha 4.

R. Hamlin

C. Hanscom

C. Harms

V. Harriman

CHARLES RICHARD HARMS, B.S.

717 Clark Street, Westfield, N. J.

Loves his German beer and German "frauleins." Leads cheers with the greatest of gusto. A real campus leader for four years.

Class Pres. 2, 3; Class Treas. 1; Clason Key, Pres. 3, 4; Jordan Scientific 3, Pres. 4; Outing Club, Jr. Body 2–4; C. A. Treas. 3; Speakers' Bureau 3, 4; Winter Sports 2–4; Cheer Leader 3, 4; Varsity Club 4.

VIRGINIA MAY HARRIMAN, B.S.

25 Rochester Street, Westbrook, Me.

"Ginny", who loves to argue a point, can always come out on the winning side because of her ability to keep it in the realm of humor.

Ramsdell Scientific 2, 3, Pres. 4; Heelers 2; 4-A 3, 4; Deutscher Verein 3, 4; Student Play Coach 4.

LOIS MAYBELLE HARTWELL, B.S.

38 Charlemont Street, Newton Highlands, Mass.

We can see her perseverance; she is likeable; she takes great delight in singing. Still—because she has not been with us for four years, she is somewhat of an unknown quantity.

Ramsdell Scientific 3, 4; La Petite Académie 4.

ROBERT GERALD HARVEY, B.S.

51 Pierce Street, Lewiston, Me.

"Bob" is always friendly and happy. Will talk chemistry with you anytime—that is, if he doesn't mention it anyway.

Lawrance Chem. 3, 4; La Petite Académie 2.

EDWARD WINSLOW HATHAWAY, A.B.

164 Valley Road, Montclair, N. J.

"Ed's" two hobbies are ancient automobiles; fine clothes. When he is smartly dressed in one of his ancient chariots, he resembles an exiled noble.

Football 1, 2; Baseball 1, 2; Class Basketball 1–3; C. A. Social Com. 4.

NANCY MARION HAUSHILL, A.B.

53 West Bates Street, Lewiston, Me.

Efficiency plus, Nancy has never failed to find time for basketball. This year she has tried to instill in the Frosh some of her own love of the game.

W. A. A. Board 1–4; Jr. Body, Outing Club 2–4; Politics Club 3, 4; Lambda Alpha 1–4; La Petite Academie 3, 4; Phil-Hellenic 4; W. A. A. Coach of Basketball 4; "B" Sweater; Bates Key.

L. Hartwell

R. Harvey

E. Hathaway

N. Haushill

DENNIS JOSEPH HEALEY, JR., A.B.

561 Massachusetts Avenue, Lexington, Mass.

"Doc" is the lad with the fighting Irish heart and the smiling Irish eyes. A true friend and a genial companion at all times.

Football 1–4; Hockey 1; Baseball 1–4; Varsity Club Follies 2–4; Student 1–3; Varsity Club 4.

ARTHUR RICHARD HELSHER, A.B.

Lowell Road, Concord, Mass.

"Art" is always busy, but never so busy that he cannot spare a moment to his friends.

Deutscher Verein 3, Pres. 4; Jordan Scientific 3, 4; MacFarlane 3, 4; C. A. Conference Com. 4; Asst. in Mathematics 4; Delta Phi Alpha 4.

D. Healey

A. Helsher

RUTH LILLIAN HOOPER, A.B.

1494 Forest Avenue, Portland, Me.

We find Ruth always ready to provide a good laugh and a good song. She has the characteristics of a fine friend.

La Petite Académie 2–4; Phil-Hellenic 3, Sec.-Treas. 4; Choir 3, 4; Choral 3, 4; Deutscher Verein 4; Phi Sigma Iota 4; Asst. in French 4; Delta Phi Alpha 4.

EDWARD HENRY HOWARD, A.B.

34 Cushing Street, Medford, Mass.

Singer, organist, football and track man, "Eddie" does a fine job of all he undertakes.

Student Council 2, 4; Track 1–4; Football 3, 4; Choral 1–4; Choir 2–4; Organist 2–4; MacFarlane 2–4, Pres. 3; Varsity Club 2–4; Centennial Trio 3, 4; Geology Asst. 3, 4; Buffoon 3, 4.

ANNA MAY HURLEY, A.B.

119 Howe Street, Lewiston, Me.

A fortunate possessor of a sunny, even disposition; always present where she can help the most.

Lambda Alpha 1–4, Pres. 4; Student Government 4; Politics Club 4.

ALLEN CHAFFIN HUTCHINSON, JR., A.B.

135 Norman Street, East Orange, N. J.

Our "Al" will go places as a power behind the throne. We hope that someday the "Rabble's" most capable manager will show himself to the public in his true light.

Choral 1, 2; Football Mgr. 1, 2; Heelers 4; Winter Sports 3, 4.

R. Hooper

E. Howard

A. Hurley

A. Hutchinson

J. Hutchinson

G. Jack

F. Jacubouis

JOHN WILLIAM HUTCHINSON, A.B.

39 Chase Street, Methuen, Mass.

"Cotton", in addition to being a fine athlete, is a fine scholar—versatile on field and in classroom.

Football 1–4: Baseball 1–4; Hockey 1; Varsity Club 3, Treas. 4; Politics Club 2–3, Treas. 4; Ivy Day Com.; College Club.

GRACE RANDALL JACK, A.B.

Main Street, Lisbon Falls, Me.

An efficient leader, popular, an excellent representative of the women of Bates '38.

Debating Council 1–3, Sec'y 4; Student Government 2, 3, Pres. 4; Outing Club, Director 4; Politics Club 2–4; Dance Club 3, 4; Ivy day Speaker; Proctor 3; Bates Key.

FRANCES ANN JACUBOUIS, A.B.

266 Blackmere Street, Auburn, Me.

Quiet, reserved, not well known but always recognized by her characteristically friendly smile. We like her very much; we wish we might have known her better.

Lambda Alpha 1–4; W. A. A. 2, 3; La Petite Academie 4; Lambda Alpha Tea Dance Com. 2–3, Co-Chairman 4.

E. Jones

M. Jones

EVELYN OVETTA JONES, A.B.

Lisbon Falls, Me.

Pep, Vim, and Vigor! No wonder that whatever Evelyn tries goes over with a bang.

Heelers 1–4; Choral 1–4; Deutscher Verein 4; Student Government 3, 4; Ramsdell Scientific 3, 4; Class Day Speaker 3; Debating Council 1; MacFarlane 3, 4; Co-Chairman, Mothers' Weekend 4; Asst. in German 4; Proctor 3; Delta Phi Alpha 4; Bates Key.

MARION RUTH JONES, A.B.

17 Highland Street, Weston, Mass.

A reserved and dignified exterior, hiding for the moment that keen sense of humor which makes "Mike" a favorite with those who know her.

Ramsdell Scientific Sec'y-Treas. 4; Proctor 3, 4; Ivy Hop Com.

P. Jones

E. Kadjperooni

W. Keck

D. Kennedy

PRISCILLA ALDEN JONES, A.B.

60 Townsend Road, Belmont, Mass.

One of our class actresses who has won recognition in 4-A and is sincerely liked for her frankness, wit, and poise.

Heelers 1; 4-A 2, 3, Sec'y 4; Phil-Hellenic 4; House Council 2, Sec'y 4; C. A. Freshman Com. 3, 4; Varsity Play 1, 2; Play Director 4; Mothers' Weekend Com. 4.

ELIZABETH ALICE KADJPEROONI, B.S.

30 Nichols Street, Lewiston, Me.

The spirit of a scientist must inhabit her body, for four years she has been in constant attendance at the labs.

Choir 1, 2, 3; Choral 1, 2, 4; MacFarlane 3, 4; Debating Council 1–4; Varsity Debating 2–4; Womens' Mgr. 4; C. A. Religion Com. 4; Asst. in Biology 4; Delta Sigma Rho 3; Ramsdell Scientific 2–4; Heelers 1–4.

WINSTON BAILEY KECK, B.S.

16 Gates Road, Shrewsbury, Mass.

Trombone soloist and a sterling dashman on the track—a combination of diversified interests and a master at each.

Band 1–4, Leader 4; Orphic 1–4; Bobcats 1–4; Jordan Scientific 2–4; MacFarlane 2–4; Track 1–4; Student Council 3; Athletic Council 3; Varsity Club 3, 4; Asst. in Physics; College Club.

DOROTHY EILEEN KENNEDY, A.B.

470 Merrimack Street, Manchester, N. H.

An alert mind, a sparkling wit, and a dash of pep characterizes "Dottie."

Choir 1–4; Choral 1–4; MacFarlane 3, 4; Heelers 1–4; Spofford Club 3, 4; La Petite Académie 3; Publishing Assn. 3, Sec'y 4; Prize Speaking 1; Garnet 3, Editor 4.

OMAR RAY KING, A.B.

P. O. Box 28, Bath, Me.

The "Bath Bullet" and "Popham Projectile" has been the most worried man on campus at times. Without him the Bates Buffoon could never have been the success it is.

Hockey 1; Football 1–4; Buffoon, Editor 3, 4; Varsity Club 4.

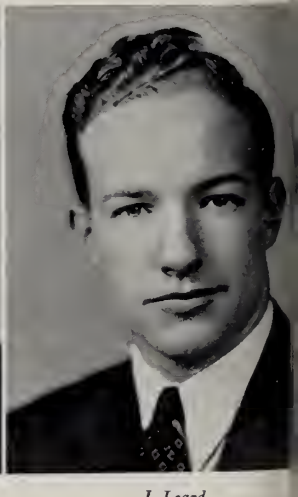
JOHN EARNSHAW LEARD, A.B.

1895 Centre Street, West Roxbury, Mass.

Only man ever to be editor of the Student for two successive years. The surprising part is how one man could do so much and do it all so well.

Student 1, 2, Editor-in-Chief 3, 4; Student Council 2, Sec'y-Treas. 3; Jr. Body. Outing Club 2–4; Spofford Club 2, 3; MacFarlane 2, 3; Orphic 2; Band 1, 2; News Bureau, Undergraduate Director 3, 4; Tennis, Mgr. 4; Track 1; Baseball 1; Mirror 1, 4; Proctor 4; Varsity Club 4; College Club.

O. King



J. Leard

S. Leard

I. Lee

SAMUEL EARNSHAW LEARD, B.S.

1895 Centre Street, West Roxbury, Mass.

Vitally interested in any form of sport from the exact reporter's side of it, "Sam" has also filled many important offices on campus.

Cross Country 1–4; Track 1, 2, Mgr. 3, 4; Band 3, 4; Orphic 2; Student 1–3, Sports Ed. 4; Jordan Scientific 3, 4; Outing Club 1, 2, Sec'y 3, Pres. 4; Winter Carnival, Director 4; C. A. Freshman Com. 3, 4; Varsity Club 4; College Club.

IRENE DEVORE LEE, A.B.

102 Tapscott Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

A fine and resolute student! No one in the class could be more deeply and widely informed on current world problems.

Politics Club 3, 4; C. A. Social Justice Com. 3, 4; Speakers' Bureau 3, 4; Student 3, 4; Contributors' Club 4; Lambda Alpha 4; Christian Service Club 3, 4.

JEAN TAYLOR LESLIE, A.B.

228 Mason Terrace, Brookline, Mass.

Jean, a late addition to our class, has impressed us with her charming manner and gracious ways.

C. A. Cabinet 3, 4; Delta Phi Alpha 3, Vice Pres. 4; Christian Service Club 3, Vice President 4; Phil-Hellenic 4; Asst. in Psychology 4.

DAVID KINCAID LOVELY, B.S.

Allen Court, Andover, Mass.

The Caruso of East Parker Hall. Affable "Dave"—friendly and generous. Usually has some sort of a tin lizzie to get around in.

Track 1–3; C. A. Com. 3.

MARJORY ABBOTT LOVETT, A.B.

94 Nichols Street, Lewiston, Me.

Her friendly smile greets us all, no matter what the weather. Many would like to know her formula for happiness.

Lambda Alpha 1–4; Phil-Hellenic 2–4, Sec'y-Treas. 3, Vice Pres. 4; La Petite Académie 3, 4; Politics Club 4.

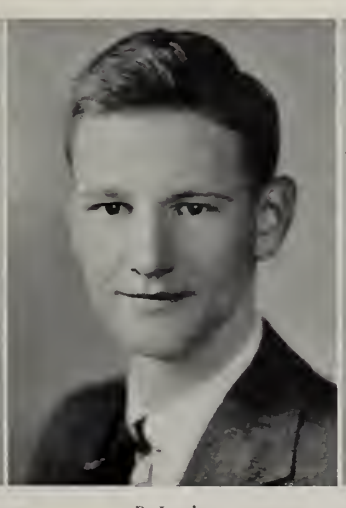
WILLIAM JOHN LUUKKO, A.B.

234 Prospect Street, West Auburn, Mass.

Trackman and footballer; in addition, a student and guardian of freshman morale at J. B.

Student Council 3, Vice Pres. 4; Publishing Assn. 3; MacFarlane 3, 4; Politics Club 3, 4; Varsity Club 2–4; Proctor 3, 4; Track 1–4; Football 3, 4; Asst. in Hygiene 4; College Club.

J. Leslie



D. Lovely

M. Lovett

W. Luukko

MICHAEL JOSEPH McDONOUGH, A.B.

112 Webster Street, Lewiston, Me.

A bulwark in the football line, a stand-by on the baseball squad, "Mike" is quiet at times but always present.

Football 1–4; Baseball 1–3; Hockey 1; Varsity Club 3, 4.

RALPH EDWIN McKEEN, B.S.

Fryeburg, Me.

Fryeburg's gift to chemistry. Serious, dignified "Mac," but even the last of men relish a little fun now and then.

Football Mgr. 1, 2; Track, Mgr. 1, 2: Lawrance Chem. 3, Sec'y-Treas. 4.

M. McDonough

R. McKeen

MARY McKINNEY, A.B.

330 Madison Avenue, Berlin, N. H.

She has always seemed to be working on some committee. She is endowed with great organizing ability and is extremely likeable.

4–A Players 4; Heelers 2, 3; Politics Club 3, 4; Deutscher Verein 4; Student Government 3; Proctor 3, 4; C. A. Campus Service Com. 4; "B" Sweater; W. A. A. Basketball Coach 4; Delta Phi Alpha 4.

MARGRET DENNING MARCH, A.B.

154 Wood Street, Lewiston, Me.

Margret is always gay and cheery on campus. Her talents are a social asset to her at all times.

Heelers 1–3; Lambda Alpha 1–4; Student 1, 2; Mirror 1.

ELEANOR MARTIN, A.B.

1625 Main Street, Berlin, N. H.

"Ellie" always has a pleasant smile and a cheery "hello' for everyone. Her patience is a virtue which we all might emulate.

Orphic 1–3; MacFarlane 2, 3, Vice Pres. 4; Camera Club 3, Sec'y-Treas. 4; Deutscher Verein 4; Proctor 3; W. A. A. Numerals 3.

ERIC WIRKLER MAURER, A.B.

148 Cold Spring Street, New Haven, Conn.

I believe in freedom—social, economic, domestic, political, mental, and spiritual.

Bobcats 1–4; Contributors' Club 4.

M. McKinney

M. March

E. Martin

E. Maurer

C. Mazzarella

B. Meserve

H. Miller

I. Miller

CARL JOSEPH MAZZARELLA, A.B.

7 Stanton Street, Westerly, R. I.

Extraordinary powers of separating students from their money; supersalesmanship with no lessons; an example of a self-made merchant prince.

Debating 1; Speakers' Bureau 3, 4; Baseball, Mgr. 3, 4; Politics Club 2–4.

BRUCE ELWYN MESERVE, A.B.

1625 Forest Avenue, Portland, Me.

One of those lucky men who had keys to all the girls' dorms. The class math. shark exhibits a very keen mind on occasions.

MacFarlane 4; Jordan Scientific 4; Choral 3, 4; Christian Service Club 3, 4; Asst. in Mathematics 4; Phi Beta Kappa.

HERBERT AUSTIN MILLER, A.B.

250 Main Street, Auburn, Me.

Reserved and retiring, but possessed of a very high grade of intelligence. Has a keen sense of humor and is generous to an extreme. A swell friend.

Spofford Club 3, 4; Contributors' Club 4.

IDA ALZADA MILLER, A.B.

Weld Street, Wilton, Me.

Our fun-loving Ida (who complains that we never take her seriously) always manages to do more than her share of the work at hand.

W. A. A. Board 2–4, Vice Pres. 3; La Petite Académie 2–4; Proctor 3; W. A. A. Coach of Hockey 4; House Council 1, 3; "B" Sweater; Co-Chairman, Mothers' Weekend 4.

R. Montgomery

G. Morin

RUTH MONTGOMERY, A.B.

1 Chase Street, Hudson, N. H.

The big smile on the well-dressed little girl who always seems to be hustling about—and we recognize "Ruthie."

Student Government 3, Sec'y-Treas. 4; La Petite Académie 4; Phi Sigma Iota 3, Sec'y 4; Proctor 3, 4; House Council 2–4; Deutscher Verein 3, 4; W. A. A. Numerals 3.

GEORGE FREDERICK MORIN, B.S.

Lee, Mass.

Football, baseball, basketball—"Brud" is a good athlete with a keen sense of competition. Socially, a diamond in the ROUGH.

Football 1–4; Baseball 1–4; Varsity Club 2–4; La Petite Academie 2–4; Proctor 4; College Club.

O. Moulton

A. Neily

W. Nelson

T. Nowak

ORMAN WILHELM MOULTON, A.B.

5 Henley Street, South Portland, Me.

Geology assistant; finds his interest mainly in Auburn; extremely friendly and good-natured at all times.

Prize Speaking 1; Phi Sigma Iota 3, Treas. 4; Sodalitas Latina, Vice Pres., 4; La Petite Academie 3, Pres. 4; Asst. in Geology 3, 4.

ALICE CAROLYN NEILY, A.B.

15 Stark Street, Nashua, N. H.

Our witty and generous duchess has certainly grown to be an indispensable part of the class of '38.

Choral 1–4; Deutscher Verein 4; Sodalitas Latina 4; MacFarlane 4; Camera Club 3, 4; Art Club 3, 4; Christian Service Club, 3, 4; La Petite Academie 3, 4; W. A. A. Numerals 2; C. A. Deputation Com. 3, 4; Buffoon 3.

WESLEY PAINE NELSON, A.B.

Wilton, Me.

Wesley's source of strength lies in his convincing gentleness.

Choral 1–3; Band 2–4; Debating Council 1, 2; Prize Debate 1, 2; C. A. Cabinet 4; C. A. Deputation Com. 2, 3; Phil-Hellenic 3, Pres., 4; Christian Service Club 2–4; Asst. in Psychology 4; Honors Work in Religion.

THADDEUS MITCHELL NOWAK, A.B.

529 Main Street, Indian Orchard, Mass.

One of our most easy-going "hermits" whose generosity and good nature are well known. "Ted" should be a success in some type of high finance.

GEORGE BERNARD O'CONNELL, JR., B.S.

133 Webster Street, Lewiston, Me.

Headed for a good medical practice. Very dignified, but we suspect that there's more than meets the eye. Always the gentleman—and a very likeable one.

Choral 1; La Petite Académie 3; Freshman Prize Speaking; Jordan Scientific 4; Asst. in Biology 4.

MARTHA BISBEE PACKARD, A.B.

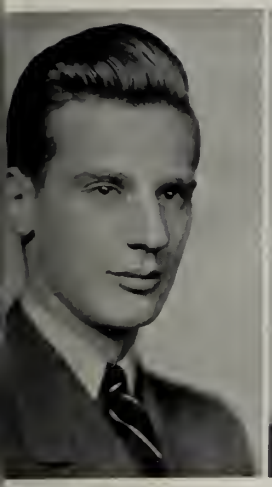
127 Sewall Street, Augusta, Me.

An all-round co-ed is "Biz"—athletic, social, and scholastic fields point with pride to her accomplishments.

Orphic 1–3; Student 1–3; MacFarlane 3; Politics Club 3, 4; Dance Club 3, 4; "B" Sweater 3; W. A. A. Tennis Coach 4; Freshman Sport Dance Com.; Junior Cab. Com.; Ivy Day Speaker; C. A. Social Com. 4; Asst. in Hygiene 4.

G. O'Connell

M. Packard



D. Partridge

M. Patterson

DONALD BARROWS PARTRIDGE, B.S.

Main Street, Norway, Me.

The feelings of the heart pour through a saxophone. Norway's contribution to the Bobcats and to South Carolina.

Bobcats 1–4; Band 1, 2; Cross Country 1.

MANSFIELD BEALS PATTERSON, A.B.

38 Dartmouth Street, Somerville, Mass.

"Pat" has "commuted" from Lewiston to Boston for the past four years. Intramural basketball has been his specialty in the sports line.

Track 1, 2; Basketball 1–4.

RICHARD WESLEY PERKINS, A.B.

116 Somerset Avenue, Taunton, Mass.

What the well-dressed man should look like; the male "Emily Post." Stalwart left guard and always the most gentlemanly man on the field, including the officials.

Football 1–4; Varsity Club 4.

DONALD DUTTON PILLSBURY, B.S.

Limington, Me.

"Don" is always in a rush—from studies to chem. lab., to meals, to a good time. Business-like and conscientious.

Prize Debate 1; Track 1–3; Camera Club 3, 4; Football 1; Speakers' Bureau 4.

BENJAMIN YOUNG PIPER, A.B.

607 Pearl Street, Reading, Mass.

Always in the midst of things, "Ben" lends moral encouragement to the "Rabble" or any student affair.

Camera Club 1–4; Winter Sports 3, 4; Track 1; Buffoon 3.

RUTH RENDALL PREBLE, A.B.

30 Lake Street, Auburn, Me.

Small, but carrying a load of "troubles," Ruth would add cheer to any day.

Deutscher Verein 4; La Petite Académie 2–4; Dance Club 3, 4; House Council 3.

R. Perkins

D. Pillsbury

B. Piper

R. Preble

RICHARD ATWOOD PRESTON, B.S.

26 County Way, Beverly, Mass.

Star center and captain of the team; last year won all-opponent honors against Holy Cross. A major factor in our football victories. Good chemist and a great guy.

Football 1–3, Capt. 4; Varsity Club 2–4; Lawrance Chem. 2, 3, Vice Pres. 4; Soph. Hop Com.; Interclass Basketball 1–4; Varsity Club Follies 3, 4; Asst. in Chemistry 3.

R. Preston

ELEANOR LOUISE PURKIS, A.B.

Buckfield, Me.

Without "Purky" to wave hair the girls surely would look forlorn. Her great ability to understand people, her generosity, and her unselfishness are much-appreciated characteristics.

Debating Council 2; House Council 4; C. A. Social Com. 3, 4; Chairman, Faculty Tea, 1; Dance Club 3, 4.

E. Purkis

BURTON FRED REED, A.B.

1622 Mass. Avenue, Cambridge, Mass.

"Burt's" politeness and sympathetic understanding, in addition to definite athletic ability, have won our respect.

Football 1–4; Tennis 1–4; Garnet, Bus. Mgr. 3, 4; Varsity Club 2–4; Buffoon, Sports Ed. 3; Junior Cab. Com., Chairman; Tennis, Co-Capt. 3, 4; La Petite Académie 3.

ELLA ELIZABETH RICE, A.B.

Waterford, Me.

We marvel that such a small person can carry such a vast knowledge of the intricacies of mathematics, can still add to that a genial disposition, plus a versatility in sports.

Proctor 3; Ramsdell Scientific 2–4; Deutscher Verein 4; Camera Club 4; C. A. Campus Service Com. 4; "B" Sweater 3; W. A. A. Winter Sports Coach 4; Asst. in Physics 4; Delta Phi Alpha 4.

JEANNE RITA RIVARD, A.B.

17 Beacon Street, Lewiston, Me.

The senior who always looks like a million dollars—Jeanne. Her easy-going nature and pleasant ways are noticeable.

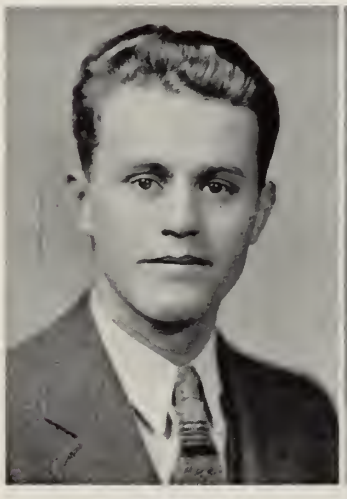
La Petite Académie, Vice Pres. 4; Soph. Hop Com.; Lambda Alpha 1–4; W. A. A. Numerals.

LOUIS ROGOSA, A.B.

55 Cherry Street, Lynn, Mass.

Uncommunicative in a group, but one who has plenty of brain power. "Uncle Lou" is the stabilizer of the "Rabble."

Cross Country 1; Track 1; Phil-Hellenic 4; Politics Club 4.



B. Reed

E. Rice

J. Rivard

L. Rogosa

C. Sawyer

E. Sawyer

E. A. Sawyer

E. Seeckts

CLARK JEFFERSON SAWYER, A.B.

16 Summit Avenue, Wakefield, Mass.

"Hucks" is usually dignified and reserved but occasionally bursts forth with something different—as for instance, a three-day fast. Very cagey business man and a real pal.

Band 1, 2; Mirror 1–4.

ELIZABETH SAWYER, A.B.

North Weare, N. H.

"Betty" is one of our French majors who seems to find plenty of work to keep her busy. Rather quiet about campus, she is, nevertheless, a welcome member in any group.

Phil-Hellenic 1; Lambda Alpha 2–4; Delta Phi Alpha 4.

ETHEL AUGUSTA SAWYER, A.B.

182 Waterman Street, Providence, R. I.

"Becky's" winsome ways appeal to her classmates. A fine mind and a pleasing, but reserved, manner arouse our admiration.

Heelers 1–4; Phil-Hellenic 2–4; MacFarlane 3, 4; Deutscher Verein 3, 4; Spofford Club 4; C. A. Conference Com. 4, Music Com. 2.

EHLERT WILLIAM SEECKTS, A.B.

South Lincoln, Mass.

"Bill's" greatest asset—a sincerity with his fellows, his professors, and with himself, makes him a valued friend.

Football 1; Track 1, 2; Hockey 1; Clason Key 3, 4; Ivy Hop Com.

J. Skelton

N. Small

JOHN KIMBALL SKELTON, B.S.

524 High Street, Bath, Me.

One of those amazingly quiet chemistry fiends; could have been seen all fall in his spare moments engaged in touch-football on Rand field.

Band 1–4; Lawrance Chemical 3, Pres. 4; Buffoon, Publishing Mgr. 3, 4; Asst. in Chemistry 3.

NEDRA RECORD SMALL, A.B.

22 Pleasant Street, Kennebunk, Me.

We sometimes wonder how so much gray matter can be crammed into one small head. Nedra is our idea of efficiency plus.

C. A. Community Service Com. 2–4; Politics Club 3, 4; Honors Work; Asst. in History 4; Phi Beta Kappa.

J. Smith

C. Smyth

P. Stewart

E. Swan

JOHN JOSEPH SMITH, A.B.

Mt. Cabot Road, Lancaster, N. H.

He has a truly great mind. Consistently won scholastic, acting, and writing honors—a pleasant companion.

Debating 1–4; 4-A 2–4; Camera Club 1–4; Spofford Club 2, 3, Pres. 4; Art Club, Treas. 3, Pres. 4; Contributors' Club 4; Asst. in Greek Lit. 2, English 4; Garnet, Asst. Ed. 3, 4; Phi Beta Kappa.

CHARLES WAYLAND SMYTH, A.B.

77 Houghton Street, Hudson, Mass.

An attitude of friendly helpfulness is "Charlie's" greatest possession—if you need anything done, see "Chas."

Football 1; Track 1; Outing Club, Jr. Body 1–4; Ivy Hop Com.; Mirror, Business Mgr. 4.

PAUL KENYON STEWART, A.B.

85 Forest Avenue, Portland, Me.

Paul is known to us by his golden voice, both in debating and at our rallies. His smile and pleasant "hello" have become equally famous.

Prize Debates 1; Debating 2–4; Delta Sigma Rho; Debating Council, Pres. 4; Student Debating Ed. 4; Prize Speaking 1, 3; Honors Work in Religion.

EMERY FREDERICK SWAN, B.S.

10 Whittier Road, Wellesley Hills, Mass.

Jittery judge of freshman and sophomore attempts at biology. A scientist and very intellectually curious.

Asst. in Chem. 2, Biology 3, 4; Jordan Scientific 4; Phi Beta Kappa.

WILLIAM GEORGE TORREY, A.B.

746 Stinard Avenue, Syracuse, N. Y.

Though "Bill" came late, he has made us sorry that he did not come earlier. Seems to have a "penchant" for European travel.

Band 4; Deutscher Verein 3, 4; Delta Phi Alpha 3, Pres. 4; Student 3, Asst. Mgr. Ed. 4; Mirror 4; C. A. Cabinet 4; Camera Club 3, Ex. Board 4.

LUCILE MARSON TURNER, A.B.

Charlemont, Mass.

"Lint" has the calm and unhurried manner which we so much admire. She will always be at ease in any situation.

Soph. Hop Com.; C. A. Social Com. 3, 4; Christian Service Club 2–4.

W. Torrey

L. Turner

P. Turner

M. Vannah

PAULINE ROSSIE TURNER, A.B.

Mt. Auburn Avenue, Auburn, Me.

One of the few lucky co-eds who have traveled abroad. Her quiet intelligent manner makes her never "de trop."

Politics Club 3, Sec'y 4; La Petite Académie 3; Lambda Alpha 1–4; Phil-Hellenic 4; Contributors' Club 4; Mirror 4; Speakers' Bureau 4; Asst. in History and Government 3, 4, Honors Work 4; Phi Beta Kappa.

MARY ALICE VANNAH, A.B.

East Boothbay, Me.

Mary is quiet, but we understand she has her lighter moments. Always unassuming, she is undoubtedly a source of inspiration to all who know her.

Orphic 1–2; Camera Club 4.

CHARLES WILLIAM WAKEFIELD, A.B.

63 Pleasant Street, North Attleboro, Mass.

One hundred and forty pounds of pure gullibility and good nature. His knowledge of human nature will make him a good minister.

Debating 1; Christian Service Club 2–4; C. A. Community Service Com. 3, 4; Deputations 3, 4; Soph. Hop Com.

ELEANOR MARY WALSH, A.B.

24 Davis Avenue, Auburn, Me.

Always in a hurry, yet Eleanor still finds time to exchange a friendly greeting. Kind hearted and generous, she has given many a weary pedestrian a lift.

La Petite Académie 2–4; Heelers 1–4; Lambda Alpha 1–4; Women's Union Council 3, 4; Co-Chairman, Lambda Alpha Tea Dance 4.

EVELYN WALTON, A.B.

Wayne, Me.

Evelyn's very quiet, gentle ways are quite a relief from the usual noise of Rand Hall girls. We don't know her well because of her reserve, but we do like and admire her.

W. A. A. 2–4; Numerals 3.

RUTH WATERHOUSE, A.B.

35 Geer Avenue, Norwich, Conn.

A versatile lady who has filled quite a place on the campus as a student, a pianist, a singer, and an active club member.

Student 1–4; Heelers 2–4; Choir 2–4; Choral 2–4; MacFarlane 4; Outing Club, Director 4; C. A. Conference Com. 4.

C. Wakefield

E. Walsh

E. Walton

R. Waterhouse

M. Welsch

W. Whitcomb

G. Williams

V. Wilson

MARION ESTELLA WELSCH, A.B.

11 Trinity Road, Marblehead, Mass.

A miniature whirlwind on the campus is "Bunny." Efficient, popular, and always smiling, she is one of our prize co-eds.

Heelers 1, 2; 4-A 3, 4; Dance Club 3, Pres. 4; Student 1–3, Women's Ed. 4; Student Government 3, 4; Song Leader 4; Ivy Day Speaker; Soph. Hop Com.

WILLARD HALL WHITCOMB, B.S.

54 Chandler Street, Somerville, Mass.

Big butter-and-bug man. Taught the biology department several things about entomology. Always attends strictly to business and thereby gains attention.

Jordan Scientific 4; Deutscher Verein 4.

GORDON LOUIS WILLIAMS, B.S.

18 Robertson Road, Framingham, Mass.

A man who, through his sincerity, has impressed us with his desire to make things more pleasant for us all.

Christian Assn., Pres. 4; Clason Key 3, 4; Varsity Cross Country, Mgr. 4; Jr. Body, Outing Club 3, 4; Asst. in Physics 3, 4; Deutscher Verein 2–4; Jordan Scientific 2–4; Mirror, Editor 4; Student 2; Varsity Club 3, 4; Class Treas. 3; College Club.

VALENTINE HAINING WILSON, A.B.

37 Franklin Terrace, Southbridge, Mass.

"Val's" tenor voice has made many chapel exercises more interesting. His scholarly attitude and his persistence should well fit him for his profession.

Choir 1–4; Choral 1–4; Glee Club 1–4; MacFarlane Club 3, Pres. 4; Phil-Hellenic 2–4; Christian Service Club 2–4; Centennial Trio 3, 4; C. A. Cabinet 1–4; Honors Work 4; Asst. in Religion 4; Bates Appointee for Rhodes Scholar; Phi Beta Kappa.

IN REMEMBRANCE

MARJORIE CAROLINE JANSEN

November 2, 1916 — March 15, 1938

A real student and an efficient worker . . . an honors candidate in sociology, preparing for a career in social service . . . known by the whole campus for her accurate and tireless efforts as an assistant in the Alumni Office.

G. Windsor H. Wood M. Wright

GEORGE HENRY WINDSOR, A.B.

626 S. Ashe Street, Greensboro, N. C.

Tends toward the studious side but can do a mean "Big Apple." Has a subtle sense of humor. Well liked by everyone who knows him.

Debating 1; Orphic 1–4; Choral 1–3; MacFarlane 3–4; Politics Club 3, 4; Student 2, 3; Speakers' Bureau 3, 4; Publishing Assn., Vice Pres. 4; C. A. Publicity Com. 3, 4, Social Justice Com. 4; Honors Work in History and Gov't.

HELEN ESTELLE WOOD, A.B.

46 Thirteenth Street, Lowell, Mass.

Helen's characterizations on the stage have amused the audience, but in the dorm have shattered the monotony of many a study hour.

Heelers 1–4; Phil-Hellenic 2–4; Choir 3, 4; MacFarlane 4; Choral 3, 4.

MARYOTT WEBB WRIGHT, A.B.

109 Jewett Street, Newton, Mass.

Webb has charmed us many times with his eloquence, yet he was humorous enough to lead the party of "right" into the mayoralty of Bates.

Christian Service Club 1–3; Pres. 4; C. A. Deputation Com. 1–4; Choral 4; Cheer Leader 4; Ivy Day Com. 3.

Former Class Members

Akroyd, Ralph Hughes, '34–'35
Aldrich, Robert Brundage, '34–'35, '35
Allen, William, '34–'35
Barr, John Davis, '33, '34–'35
Barstow, Mary M., '34–'36
Berkeley, Edmund Paul, '34–'35
Beverage, Edward Mansfield, '34
Blanchard, Sumner Forest, '34–'35
Boyle, John Allen, '34–'35
Breitmozer, Cornelia Barbara, '34–'36
Bridgham, Edward William, Jr., '33–'35, '35
Brown, Lawrence Fullsom, '34–'35
Cameron, Helen Anne, '32–'33; 35'–'36
Catlin, Byron Washington, Jr.,
Chandler, Susan Letitia, '34–'36
Chesley, Alfred Wallace, Jr., '33–'34, '35
Ciardi, John Anthony, '34–'35, '35
Coffin, Elizabeth Malintha, '34–'35
Colby, Rinaldo Jackson, '34–'35
Cowburn, Louise Dorothy, '34–'35
Curtis, Burton Clyde, '34–'35
Cutten, William King, '34–'36
Daniels, Norman Keith, '34–'35
Diggery, Velma Anderson, '34–'36
Dinsmore, Wesley Lee, '34–'37
Downes, Wilmary Eaton, '34–'35
Eggleton, Charles Vaill, '34–'36
Flashman, Joseph Joshua, '34–'35
Foster, James Everett, '34–'35
Frazier, Telford, '34–'35
Giles, Weston Warner, '34–'35
Gorman, Robert Wilson, '34–'35
Grossbard, James Israel, '33–'34, '35
Hatch, Helen Geneva, '34–'35
Hoyt, Walter Remick, '34–'36
Keane, Alberta, '34–'36
Kerr, Hortense Ullman, '34–'36
Koehler, Evelyn Lina, '34–'35
Laing, Rena Marjorie, '34–'35
Lamontagne, Gideon Michael, '34–'35
Lawrence, Mary Evans, '34–'37
Lesses, Harrison Jacob, '35
Linehan, Joseph David, '34–'35
McDonald, Samuel James, Jr., '34–'35
MacInnes, Hilda Marion, '34–'35, '35
Maskwa, Joseph Paul, '34–'35
Minor, Doris Martha, '34–'35
Molloy, John Joseph, '34–'35
North, Charles Fleming, '34–'36
Orbeton, Virginia Eleanor, '34–'36
Payne, Norman Tillinghast, '34–'35
Perkins, Donald Oliver, '34–'35
Perry, Norman Donald, '34–'35, '35
Pickering, Herbert Raymond, Jr., '34–'35, '35
Quimby, Elizabeth Coffin, '34–'35
Rawlings, Harold Hamilton, '34
Rice, Charles Parkman, '34
Sargent, Richard Collier, Jr., '34–'35, '35
Seedman, Butler John, '34–'35
Sinclair, Lloyd R., '34–'35
Sneider, Chester Homer, '34–'35
Snow, Constance Carver, '34–'35
Socarides, Christos, '34–'35
Thornton, Frederick Joseph, '34–'36
Watkins, James Warren, '34–'36
Welch, Margaret Elinor, '34–'35
Whitaker, Arlene Ruth, '34–'35, '35
White, Marjorie Gladys, '34–'36
Wing, Gladys Elise, '34–'35
Wnuk, Edward J., '34–'35
Wright, Louise Statira, '34–'36
Wyman, Charles Morong, '32–'33, '33–'36

J. Leard

M. Chase

J. Smith

P. Turner

MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED:

JOHN LEARD (Editor Bates STUDENT, Undergraduate Director NEWS BUREAU, Tennis Mgr., Proctor.)

MARY CHASE (President W. A. A., Class Secretary, Vice-President Lambda Alpha.)

MOST SCHOLARLY:

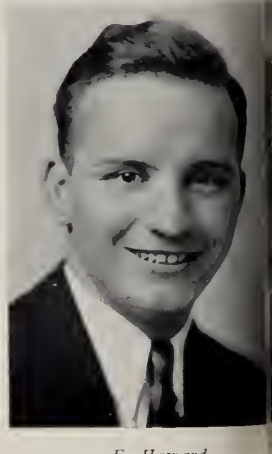
JOHN SMITH (Varsity Debater, 4-A Players, President Art and Spofford Clubs, Assistant in English.)

PAULINE TURNER (Honors work and Assistant in History and Government, Secretary Politics Club.)

MOST TALENTED AND VERSATILE:

EDWARD HOWARD (Organist, Student Council, Varsity Track and Football, Choral, Assistant in Geology.)

MARY CHASE (Orphic Society, La Petite Academie, MacFarlane Club.)



E. Howard

SENIOR

GRADUATION COMMITTEES

LAST CHAPEL
Webb Wright, Chn.
Ellen Craft
Jean Leslie
Paul Stewart
Edward Howard

CLASS DAY
Charles Harms, Chn.
Marion Welsch
Martha Packard
Ralph Goodwin Jr.
Helen Dickinson

CLASS GIFT
Omar King, Chn.
Parnel Bray
Barclay Dorman
Mary Dale
Mary McKinney

C. Harms

G. Jack

MOST OUTSTANDING LEADERS:

CHARLES HARMS (President Clason Key and Jordan Scientific Society, Cheerleader, Class President, 2 3.)

GRACE JACK (President Student Government, Varsity Debater, Co-Chairman Carnival, Proctor.)

SUPERLATIVES

MOST TYPICAL BATES MAN:

GORDON WILLIAMS (President Christian Association, Editor Bates Mirror, Assistant in Physics, Cross-Country Mgr.)

MOST TYPICAL BATES WOMAN:

EVELYN JONES (Assistant in German, Heelers, Choral, Student Government, Proctor.)

BEST ATHLETE:

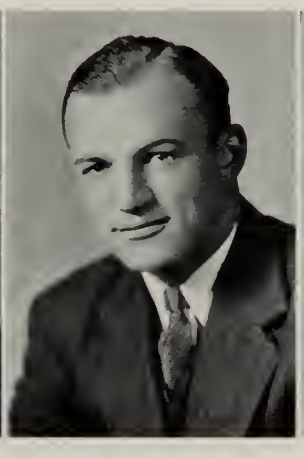
CHARLES COOKE (President Varsity Club, Varsity Football, Track and Baseball.)

MOST CHARMING CO-ED:

MARION WELSCH (Student Government, Women's Editor Student; President Dance Club, 4-A Players, Proctor.)

G. Williams

E. Jones



C. Cooke

M. Welsch

GRADUATION COMMITTEES

PROGRAMS AND INVITATIONS

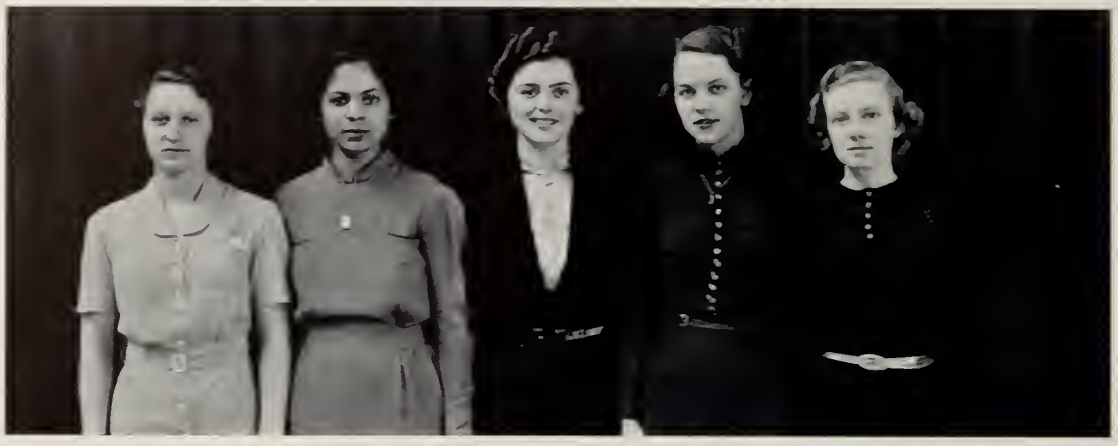
Ruth Hamlin
George Giovanazzi

GREEK PLAY

Charlotte Corning, Chn.
Priscilla Jones
William Torrey
Arthur Helsher
Valentine Wilson
Virginia Harriman
William Fisher, Bus. Mgr.

COMMENCEMENT HOP

Donald Partridge, Chn.
Evelyn Jones
Robert Chalmers
Courtney Burnap
Ruth Bowditch



N. Haushill, E. Craft, E. Jones, G. Jack, R. Bowditch. Missing: M. Chase

BATES KEY

THE YOUNGEST honorary organization on the campus, the Bates Key, was formed in the spring of 1936, to be to the women of the college what the College Club has so long been to the men.

The object of the formation of the Bates Key was to honor by election those women of each senior class who were outstanding for leadership. To be considered for membership, women must have attained a scholarship standing, must have shown loyalty to the college, have proven themselves to be campus leaders, and have given evidence of future promise.

Membership is also retroactive, and graduate members are chosen on the following basis: loyalty to Bates and accomplishment in their chosen field since graduation. Election from the alumnae began in 1937 and may reach the same percentage of membership in each class as are chosen from the seniors each year; that is, twelve and one half per cent of the number of women in a class. The Bates Key now numbers more than one hundred.

The funds from dues will be used for aid for undergraduate women, through scholarships or otherwise. With such objectives and membership, it is expected that this honorary organization will be of value both to the college and its members by cementing a closer relationship.

COLLEGE CLUB

THE COLLEGE Club was organized in 1891 by a group of young Bates men who had been outstanding in loyalty and constructive campus work. So carefully were the charter members and their early associates chosen that they stand pre-eminent, not only as successful business and professional men, but as graduates whose service to the Alma Mater has been of high distinction.

Nine members of the senior class are chosen to membership each year by a committee which secures a list of preferences from all the club members on the college staff. This method gives an excellent cross-section of academic, forensic, athletic, musical, and other types of accomplishment. Self-starting alumni workers are sought. From time to time vacancies, brought about in the quotas by resignation, death or default of membership, are filled by the choice of other members of the class, who after graduation have developed an outstanding devotion to the College, and who have become leaders in their chosen work.

The objects of the club, as stated by its founders are: "To take an active interest in current affairs at Bates College; to encourage and to stimulate work in literary and athletic lines; and to promote in any way that may seem desirable the general welfare of the institution." Above all the College Club is "a service group of Bates men."

In the last decade the Club has, from the modest membership fee, contributed in small annual grants forty-five hundred dollars to campus and college projects.

College Club men on campus include Professors Chase, Cutts, Pomeroy, Ramsdell, Sawyer, Quimby, Kendall, Mr. Ross, and Mr. Rowe.

J. Leard, S. Leard, W. Luukko, J. Hutchinson, G. Williams, G. Morin, M. Eaton, H. Becker, Missing: W. Keck

PHI BETA KAPPA

THE BATES chapter of Phi Beta Kappa was installed on May 29, 1917. For some years prior to 1917, friends of Bates had felt that the college was worthy of a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. It was not until 1917, however, that the stringent conditions for the granting of a charter, imposed on all colleges by the executive boards of Phi Beta Kappa, were successfully met by the Bates petitioners.

It is generally known that Phi Beta Kappa is an honor society, in which intellectual excellence is the prime requisite for membership. It is assumed that the character of the candidate is above reproach. Recently many chapters, encouraged by the United Chapters, have broadened the conditions of membership. While still insisting on high scholarship and superior character, the chapters wish to recognize intellectual interests in various fields of endeavor. A high-ranking student who has shown interest in worthwhile campus activities may be preferred to the mere "grade-getter." The nominating committee are glad to recognize "intellectual drive" and "future promise" insofar as these qualities may be evaluated.

The Bates chapter has encouraged scholarship on the campus in three practical ways: an ardent desire for election to membership in the chapter; the Phi Beta Kappa reading contest, in which valuable awards are given; and to the highest-ranking sophomores and juniors an invitation to the annual Phi Beta Kappa dinner.

Back Row: E. Swan, J. Smith
Second Row: Borne, Wilson, Small
First Row: Meserve, Chamberlain, P. Turner, Burnap
Missing: M. Chase

Back Row: P. Stewart, Skelton, Nelson, Brouillard
Second Row: Bailey, R. Gould, Chalmers, Windsor
First Row: N. Small, Becker, P. Turner, Wilson, Jansen

HONOR STUDENTS

THE HONOR STUDY project was introduced to Bates College September, 1926, with the hope that it would provide additional opportunities for the superior student to develop initiative, self-reliance, and the ability to do creditable work on advanced problems.

In order to qualify for admission to Honor Study, a student must obtain: (1) at least a "B" average for the first three college years; (2) permission from the Head of the department in which he plans to major, and (3) approval of the Honors Committee. Permissions are gained only if, in the opinion of those concerned, the student will profit by such independent study. Honors candidates are excused from compulsory attendance at classes.

The nature of Honors work varies in the several departments but usually consists in presenting a thesis embodying the results of a careful study on an assigned problem. Accepted thesis must evidence originality, a scholarly approach to the task undertaken, a critical analysis of the solutions proposed, and be accurately documented. All Honor students are given an oral examination covering not only the thesis project but also the field of concentration. Examiners are faculty members whose departments are in or related to that of the candidates.

Successful candidates are granted their degrees "cum laude." In cases where exceptional merit is deserved, "magna cum laude" or "summa cum laude" degrees are awarded; the latter honor is, however, seldom granted.

Back Row: C. Harms, Doyle, Crocker, W. Wright
Front Row: J. Bartlett, E. Jones, Packard, Jack, Becker

IVY DAY SPEAKERS

CAMPUS IN

Back Row: W. Wright, Gauvreau, Cooke, Maurer
Front Row: Alexander, Cooney, Eaton, Earles
Missing: J. Smith, P. Jones, J. Bartlett

CLASS DAY SPEAKERS

THE SPRING

THE SENIORS have passed before you. After four years, they have their degree, certain activities and academic achievements to their credit and have established themselves in the memories of their classmates' college days. There is a certain prestige connected with being a senior, for major work, experience in activities, and age place them a little bit ahead of the other students. A college, however, would not exist if there were only seniors. Just as important a part in the college set-up are the underclasses. It is in these classes that the future campus leaders and outstanding students are developing.

The freshmen are busy with orientation in this new type of school life. The sophomores have established a certain definite reputation in studies and leadership and are slowly showing interest in one or two organizations. The juniors have started their major work, hold subordinate positions in activities, and with a sort of climax, Ivy Day, come to the realization that they are to bear the responsibilities and take the pedestals, long-envied, which the seniors are now leaving.

There are certain pleasures and experiences associated with the underclasses which make each year a happy one. Then, senior year, with all that it includes, comes as a reward for hard work and student support that they have given in their underclass days.

UNDERCLASSES

D. Weeks, (Sec.)
D. Bridges, (Treas.)

G. Clough, (Pres.)
E. Smart, (V. Pres.)

By H. Roth, '39

THE MODERN generation of college students seems to be a more serious one than its predecessors have been. A World War and subsequent depressions have forced them to recognize that living is a serious business, and that they are here for the purpose of preparing themselves for that business, not merely to enjoy themselves while they are young. Pleasures are not neglected, but the modern student realizes by his third year that pleasures are means and not ends, and that his pleasures should be chosen with an eye toward the ends at all times.

JUNIORS

The modern "Jolly Juniors" have come to college to be confused—and also to be straightened out again. They wanted to know what kind of a world this is that they are to live in, and what their places in it will be.

For three years they have watched, from a safe distance, the world roll by in all its impetuousness. Strikes and floods have brought reality keenly to their minds, while they read and heard attempts to explain what is behind it all.

During this time of study in a place of comparative shelter, they have experienced a little world of their own. They have lived a sample life. They have faced situations here in which they were able to test forms of response. Behaviours were experimented with, for use in the larger life, where experimentation is fatal.

One year remains in which to iron out, if possible, or at least to recognize, those errors of the little life, so that they may not lead to dangers and worthlessness in the larger one. One year remains for the final testing and perfecting, and then they begin again where they began as freshmen, but on a much larger and more important scale.

The freshman year was a year of adjustments. Friends and enemies were discovered, cliques formed, general patterns of scholar, athlete, extra-curricular devotee, playboy, and other wise and unwise combinations showed tendencies of emergence. The sophomore year was one of jockeying for position among leaders of groups. Friendships broke off and were reformed on a more permanent basis. One began to expect definite actions and reactions from specific members of the class under certain situations.

The junior year was a year of bludgeoning. Status and role became fixed as the expected developed in most individuals. With the acceptance of a definite position on campus, maturity often hastened. The unconfident scholar took strength as he saw the more or less respect paid him. The athlete felt friendlier towards his teammates, since now their relative positions were accepted. Individuals without groups went their ways, and specific groups carried on functions traditionally known as theirs.

For the third time Fred Clough was the class leader, and he was aided by Dorothy Weeks, Eleanor Smart and Donald Bridges. Dorothy Weeks was also Vice President of the Student Government, while Donald Bridges held the post of Secretary-Treasurer for the Student Council. On the athletic fields, the class continued to present a substantial number of Varsity men. Bridges, Lythcott, and Wallace kept the Gothic "B" in the fore at many track contests, upholding the Bates tradition of producing excellent middle distance runners. Co-Captains-elect Briggs and Clough, together with the veterans Canavan and Reid, were valuable contributions to the football team, as were Bergeron, Johnson, and Malone to the baseball team. Briggs, Canavan, Clough, Crosby, Wilder, and Woodbury of the former interclass Basketball Championship team moved in on the Varsity to show Coach Spinks how that game should be played.

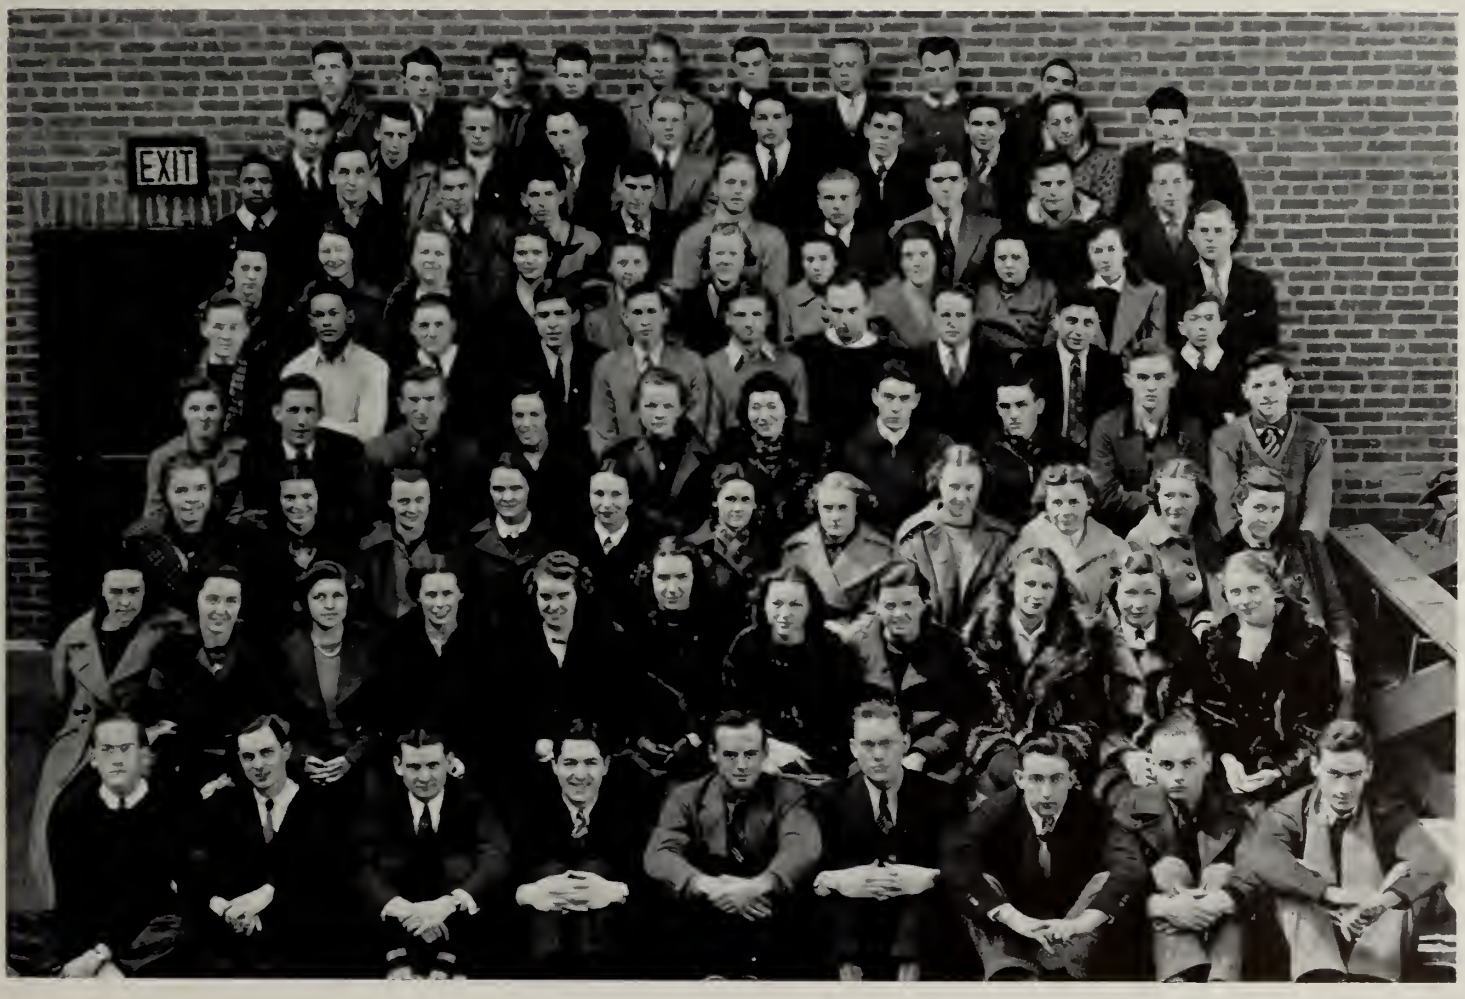
Little known but highly important contributions to the Little Theatre were made by the co-stage-managers, Trenor Goodell and Lewis Mills. On the Little Theatre stage were Farnum, Friedman, Kadjperooni, and Madison, and in the field of debating were Pulsifer, Curtis, Farnum, and Kadjperooni. Richard DuWors on the Garnet, Roland Martone and Robert Rimmer on the STUDENT, and David Howe, the Bobcat saxophonist, extended the list of prominent achievements by members of the class and typified the stability attained by most members at this stage of their careers.



P. Atwater, (V. Pres.)
L. Bussey, (Pres.)

H. Dorman, (Treas.)
L. Hayden, (Sec.)

By M. Lelyveld, '40

SEPTEMBER 21, 1936, saw the advent on campus of a class which beyond a doubt is destined to go down as "great" in the annals of Bates history. For, on that September day, the class of '40 was born—a class which at first toddled timidly along, cautiously placing one foot before the other and feeling the ground carefully before throwing its entire weight forward. Each step grew surer, however, and when that memorable first June came in 1937, the toddler had broken into an easy jog as he tried to mark time with the upper-classmen.

Our first year had observed the election of class officers: President, Lynn Bussey; Vice-President, Patricia Atwater; Treasurer, Hamilton Dorman; Secretary, Carolyn Hayden. Frank Coffin was elected the representative of the class on the Student Council.

It also proved once and for all that '40 had come prepared to lead in all campus activities. Athletics, debating, journalism, music, dramatics, and scholarship—all found potential leaders in this class.

* * *

It has been June—and now almost before we knew it, it was September once more—time to again fall into step.

That first year was out of the way. The infant had grown up and, with no little pride, he found himself matching the upper-classmen, stride for stride, and chuckling at the struggling freshmen. He realized that, though officially the only ones to graduate that June of '37 were the seniors, nevertheless an even more important graduation had taken place for him. He had graduated into a blissful feeling of acceptance. The warmth of belonging followed him to his Chapel and his classes.

SOPHOMORES

Although there was at first the expectancy of waking up some morning with a green tie around his neck, this nightmarish thought soon disappeared and the regalia of the current freshmen served to accentuate his sophomoric importance.

The well-rounded character of the class was now definitely brought home as a few class statistics will show.

In athletics, it was Charlie Crooker, "Buster" Kilgore, "Fuzz" Daikus, "Ham" Dorman, and Don Pomeroy playing varsity football: Fran Stover, Norm Tardiff, Howie Kenney and Dick Raymond, basketball: Hasty Thompson, Norm Tardiff, baseball: Charlie Crooker, Harry Shepherd, George Russell, Mal Holmes, Royce Tabor, and Lynn Bussey, track: and state champ runner-up Howie Kenney in tennis.

Dramatically-minded Bertha Bell, Gordon Gray, Larry Wheeler, and Will Gould upheld class prestige in 4A, while Frank Coffin, Donald Maggs, Leonard Clough, Larry Wheeler, Frank Saunders, Will Gould, Mary Gazonsky, Bertha Bell, Dorothy Cortell, and Ruth Gray became varsity debaters.

Hamilton Dorman joined Frank Coffin on the Student Council, as the class officially assumed upper-class rating.

Our matured Class of '40 is now ready to leave off merely keeping pace with his upper-classmen colleagues. He is ready to break into a run—we don't expect a close race.

E. Brann, (Sec.)
A. Belliveau, (Pres.)

H. Beattie, (Treas.)
E. Swan, (V. Pres.)

By F. Brown, '42

APPEARING in various garb and manner and calling forth their best in dignity and poise, some 220 men and women assembled at the instructive lectures and meetings which make Freshman Week a lingering memory, experienced the thrill of being called college students, and, in the four short days devoted entirely to the newcomers, prepared themselves for life and study at Bates. Mumbling the usual amount of discontent at early rising, the individuals answered the Hathorn bell for the first Chapel, the morning of September 23, and, after a somewhat awkward entrance, stood as a group—the Class of 1941, if you please—and timidly made the subject for the interested eyes of the upperclassmen. And so it was that the Class of '41 was born.

Accurately described as independent, original, and progressive, the Class is not, however, one to change all fundamental principles. Since King Football appeared first on the sports calendar, it was in this sport that the athletes unharnessed their abilities and swept through a three-game schedule with two victories and one defeat. The second game removed the proverbial caps from the heads of the Freshman eds, but the last game was more impressive, for it was in this that the Bates yearlings shattered the undefeated, unscored-upon record of M. C. I. Outstanding were Belliveau, Buccigross, Glover, Gorman, Lerette, and Herbert.

Paced by Captain Dick Nickerson, who won five first places in the six meets, the cross-country team came through the season with a perfect record. Leading in this sport were Drury, Quigley, Thompson, and O'Shaughnessy.

FRESHMEN

Track aspirants who promise future glory to the Garnet and Black from their first-year performances are: Coorssen, Russell, Hanley, Morris, Thompson, and Quigley.

The Hoopsters made their mark with the best of their opponents, giving nerves and voices of spectators and coaches numerous occasions for breakdowns as several of the eleven contests were decided in the last second of play. Gorman, Whitten, Witty, Haskell, and Belliveau proved the mainstays of the courtsters.

Athletic ability was not by any means the only attribute of the class. Several gifted members swelled the choral society and choir, as well as Heelers. In this latter organization, the work of Barr, Brann, Cutter, and Burkhard was commendable. Debating material was abundant in the freshman class, as was the number of hopeful candidates to the Fourth Estate, with no less than seventeen members being appointed to the STUDENT staff.

The early days of December brought the freshman elections and, after much discussion over possible candidates, ballots were cast and the results were: Arthur Belliveau, president; Betty Swann, vice-president; Betty Brann, secretary; and Harold Beattie, treasurer. Orrin Snow was elected representative to the Student Council.

From that first week when they assembled at the lectures as representatives, the class, as a group now, has experienced trials and problems which only freshmen have the privilege of enjoying: friendships have been made; new outlooks on life and its problems found; and, in coming through this trying period, an organization has been molded which is to carry the Bates traditions to the distant corners of the world. Rising from the freshmen "who know not what they know not," the class of '41 is now looked upon with pride as the freshmen who found themselves rapidly and sought to learn what they knew not.

THE GREATEST opportunities for broadening our viewpoints, discovering our abilities, and revealing our interests are found outside of the classroom.

Through sports we gain the spirit of fair play, teamwork, leadership, coordination, and the development of a strong physique.

Through clubs we gain further knowledge and new aspects of our major work. We meet our classmates and professors informally and keep up with current views on various subjects.

Through organizations we gain ability in leadership, planning, administrative details, handling people, and tackling problems. All this is of inestimable value in preparation for the years to come.

Through publication work we gain practical experience which may be of tremendous value in our chosen vocations. Preparing copy, proof-reading, and a knowledge of the art of printing and engraving are some of the more specific contributions from such work.

Through drama, forensics, and music we find a means of developing and exploiting our talents.

If one does not take advantage of the opportunities afforded by these various activities, he is depriving himself of an important contribution which a college has to offer its students.

JUNIOR CAB
DEBATE
GOVERNMENT
OWNERSHIP
ELECTRIC UT
NEUTRALITY
IN THE
SINO-JAPANESE
SITUATION?
- DEBATE -
C. A.
CANDLELIGHT SERVICE
Commencement
June 14
"BACK to BATES"
ANNUAL
VARSITY CLUB DANCE
Alumni Gym
OCTOBER 31 ~ 8PM

ACTIVITIES

RAND HALL

HATHORN HALL

SELDON T. CRAFTS

THOSE who have had the privilege of working with Prof. Crafts will long remember with pleasure the twirling spectacles and the "Well, you see. . . .", which invariably introduce a story of past days. His ability as a musician needs no further tribute than the mention of the unfailing excellence of his musical organizations in concerts and in chapel services.

BAND

WE ARE PROUD of our band which took second in the state last fall at Colby. Lacking color perhaps, but superior in playing ability, they gave the judges plenty of trouble. As the result of good leadership and management, interest remained high, and an organization open to our co-ed players, the symphonic band, was formed. Absorbing the wood-wind and brass instruments not needed by Orphic, the group is very versatile and used often at assemblies and inside athletic events.

Members: Keck (Leader), Becker (Mgr.), S. Thompson (Drum Major), Allman, Bragdon, Curtis, Gove, Renaud, Howe, N. Stewart, Madison, Shepherd, Holmes, Woodward, Lelyveld, Jobrack, S. Leard, Skelton, Woodbury, Nelson, R. Richardson, Haynes, Neice, Avery, P. Wright, Binder, Daggett, S. Smith, Austin, D. Russell, Barr, S. Morris, Torrey, Whitten, Beattie

IC

BATES BOBCATS

IF ALL God's chillun got rhythm, then certainly anyone around "these hyar parts" would put the Bobcats right up in the front ranks of Christian brothers. For who ever saw a more versatile bunch than they? They are equally at home whether on the coast with "Harbor Lights" or in the Florida Everglades with "Swamp Fire." Not only is every member an expert on his own instrument, but each one has that power of cooperation and team work which alone can produce that certain something in the "Smoker." So it was due to a band of real musicians as a whole rather than any one or two members that Leader Keck and Arranger Partridge were able to produce that extremely danceable music which even once-timid freshmen were never able to resist.

Back Row: Maurer, Boucher, Keck, S. Smith, Jean
First Row: Veer, Howe, Lerocque, Partridge (Leader)

ORPHIC

CONSISTING of thirty-three talented students, the Orphic Society, lead by Professor Crafts, furnished superb orchestral numbers for the annual Pop Concert and Spring Concert.

With weekly rehearsals the year round, this group is well trained and presents selections that help make Bates proud of its musical organizations. Their outstanding feature is special arrangements with solo work by the best members.

Back Row: S. Smith, D. Weeks, Fuller, Ireland, G. Wheeler, McDonald, Prof. Crafts
Third Row: Roberts, Gozonsky, Curtis, Keck, Stoehr, M. Chase, Hamel
Second Row: Dick, Thomas, Windsor
First Row: M. French, Pratt, Scranton, Fairchild
Missing: Howe

MacFarlane Club

HAVING a program of varied sort in order to interest all the various departments of music, the MacFarlane Club had a most successful year.

The club consists of those students who are in various musical organizations on campus, and who have talents in this direction and are interested in gaining a further appreciation of music through actual participation or through the method of discussion.

Led by President Valentine Wilson, the club conducted a versatile program, including talks by professors. That given by Professor Crafts on "The Development of the Orchestra" was very much worth while. An annual event of the club was the joint participation with the Auburn Philharmonic Society in a concert to which each club contributed. The MacFarlane Club aided in the planning of the Pop Concert, which was held in January in the gymnasium, and also the Annual May Musicale, held in the chapel. The program of the year has now been extended to include an operetta to be given each spring.

In the annual initiation, as is the usual custom, the initiates performed on their various instruments. The entire performance was integrated into one unified effect through their choice of one central subject.

Much of lasting value in the way of increased musical appreciation and intuition is carried away with the students to become a source of lasting satisfaction and pleasure.

Back Row: Greenlaw, G. Wheeler, Buker, Priestley
Fourth Row: Weeks, J. Kenney, Whiston, Howe, Gozonsky
Third Row: Dick, French, Messiah, Martikainen, R. Brown, Vernon, MacGregor, E. Kadjperocni, Bowditch
Second Row: M. Chase, Helsher, Howard, E. Jones, Waterhouse, Fisher, Windsor, H. Wood
First Row: Bray, Keck (Treas.), Ford (Sec.), Wilson (Pres.), E. Martin (V. Pres.), Prof. Crafts, D. Kennedy
Missing: Blowen, E. Cook, Luukko, Packard, Neily, E. Sawyer

Back Row: Crooker, Ireland, Daggett, Kelley, Howe
Third Row: Blowen, MacGregor, Greenlaw, McCaw, Poor, G. Wheeler
Second Row: Martikainen, E. Kadjperooni, French, Messiah, Waterhouse, Hooper, Wood
First Row: H. Turner, Vernon, Wilson, Crafts (Director), Howard, Bray, Pampel

THE COLLEGE CHOIR

THE COLLEGE CHOIR, under the able direction of Seldon T. Crafts, is the most select, as well as the best known, of the campus musical organizations. This group, chosen from students with vocal ability, plays a large role in making the daily chapel exercises significant. Two anthems, selected from the best of sacred music, are presented twice a week.

THE CHORAL SOCIETY

THE CHORAL SOCIETY, which has a membership of sixty-seven, is the largest of the campus musical organizations in which students interested in classical, religious, and secular music receive vocal training. The regular meetings are held every Wednesday evening. Special meetings are sometimes held before special activities.

Back Row: Bertocci, Crooker, J. Morris, Saunders, Whiston, Kelley, Horton, E. Cook
Fourth Row: H. Cary, G. Hawkins, Daggett, Sealey, MacGregor, French, Poor, McCaw, Sturgis, Lovelace, R. Hawkins
Third Row: Gozonsky, Greenlaw, Strout, Messiah, Watkins, R. Brown, Robbins, Manter, McIntosh, R. Jones
Second Row: V. Wilson, Mullaly, Blowen, Ireland, Cooper, G. Wheeler, Libby, Howe, Meserve
First Row: C. Ford, Waterhouse, H. Wood, Hooper, Bray, Howard, Vernon, E. Kadjperooni, E. Jones, H. Turner, Pampel

TO PROF ROB

BATES and Prof. Rob. . . . no one person has been more synonymous with Bates and its achievements than that perennial youth, Prof. Rob. For the last fifty years, each succeeding class has come to know and love that dapper and ebullient man of the campus. It is the enviable pleasure of our class, that of '38, to toast and laud the culmination of Prof. Robinson's sincere and worthwhile contributions to the growth of Bates and its countless graduates.

To Prof. Rob we express, for ourselves and for all those who have come within the circle of his direction and influence, sincere appreciation for the time-honored bequest of his ability and art.

HEELERS

HEELERS Club offers, to those students interested in dramatics, experience in various phases of theater work. During the year at joint meetings with 4-A, members present one-act plays and excerpts from plays for enjoyment and criticism. Programs also include instruction in make-up, lighting, and stage effects, talks by outside speakers, and reviews of current plays by members of the club.

From this club 4-A members are drawn as soon as the necessary credits are acquired through actual participation in annual plays or constructive work back-stage. Casts for all plays, except the Varsity Play, are selected from Heelers and the 4-A Players.

Back Row: Irish, Plaisted, Anderson, Oberst, Barr, Dewitt
Fourth Row: L. Davis, Puranen, Brann, P. Hall, Kendall, Roy
Third Row: H. Wilcox, Smart, Pampel, Yeomans, J. Cortell, Chayer, Manter
Second Row: Child, Hapgood, Madison, Waterhouse, Pomeroy, M. Moulton, Cutler
First Row: Walsh, R. Jones, Dearden, Crocker (Pres.), E. Jones, Elliott, Kennedy
Missing: Alexander, Bennett, Burkhard, Cortell, DeLong, W. Gould, Hulsizer, A. Hutchinson
Rowell, O. Snow, E. Swan, L. Wells, O. Wheeler

DRAMATICS

4-A Players

IT IS the purpose of the English 4-A Players, the senior dramatic group as set forth by its founders, "to produce at regular intervals plays worthy of presentation by an educational institution, with the conscious effort—to reach the highest standards in artistic production and acting." With this purpose firmly in mind the players render a real service to the college and community by offering them an opportunity to attend presentations of the legitimate drama.

By means of four annual productions the players plan to offer a variety of plays each year representative of the best in modern drama.

Besides its contributions to the public, 4-A serves as an excellent medium of training and pleasure for its individual members, both in the opportunity for actual acting experience and in the regular bi-weekly meetings at which instructive talks and lectures of dramatic interest are part of the program. At times plays or portions of plays are presented by groups of Heelers for discussion and criticism in the meeting.

The members of the 4-A Players are former Heelers who have fulfilled the necessary requirements of participation in one major and two minor plays, two major ones, or their equivalent in the technical work of play production.

Third Row: Farnum, H. Wood, Harriman, H. Kadjperooni, Goodell
Second Row: Parker, McKinney, Ireland, R. Smith, Mills, Corning
First Row: J. Smith, M. Welsch, Crocker (V. Pres.), P. Jones (Sec.), Doyle
Missing: J. Bartlett (Pres.), Earles, E. Edwards

4-A SEASON RESUME

By W. Earles, '38

AS it has been the time-honoured custom, the 4-A Players opened their dramatic season with the presentation of one-act plays. This year found one innovation, namely, that of four one-act plays instead of the previously presented three. Though some might be prone to minimize the importance of these short plays, it must be remembered that their value is inestimable as a means of giving experience to the actor in handling and interpreting the intricacies of a rôle, and of giving to the director experience in a smaller sphere than that of the three-act but in a sphere that presents all the difficulties of presentation that the longer play does. This year's program offered both dramatic and comic appeal. "Riders to the Sea," with its powerful depiction of Irish sea-folk life and "A game of Chess," projecting the elemental conflict between a nobleman and commoner faced with each other's desire for revenge, gave the audience all that was to be desired in dramatic and emotional depth. The farcical travesty upon woman's follies, "If Men Played Cards as Women Do," and the home-spun humor of "The Warming Pan" lent balance and delightful relief to the tragic. The capable and sincere efforts of the directors were rewarded by the fine performances of such as: Clifford

"The Night of January 16th"

Dow, the clever, machiavellian nobleman of "A Game of Chess;" the entire cast of "If Men Played Cards as Women Do," the refreshingly naive characterization of Kate Blum by Margaret Burkhard; and the bucolic, half-hesitant suitor Ragett of William Gould in the "Warming Pan;" and the intensely moving Maura as Ruth Waterhouse lived here in "Riders to the Sea."

"The Night of January 16th," the first major production of the year, with the locale that of a courtroom in which was enacted the gripping drama of a trial to determine and sentence the murderer of Bjorn Faulkner, created such a vehicle for its actors as to warrant its being heralded as one of the best in recent 4–A history. The outstanding portrayal of Evelyn Jones as Karen Andre demanded the applause of all who witnessed the trial. As expected, the adroit veterans, Jonathan Bartlett and Robert Crocker, as the attorneys for the state and defense, respectively, gave life and creditable authenticity to their difficult roles. A favorite with 4–A playgoers, Marion Welsch made the character of Nancy, Faulkner's widow, one of dominating emotion evoking the audience's rapt attention and sympathy.

Following last year's departure from the customary Shakespearean production, Sheridan's "The Rivals," a satirical attack upon the sententious and the verbal and sartorial foppery of his period was performed. No part could be said to have better fitted the dramatic capabilities of Charlotte Corning than that of Mrs. Malaprop with her "nice derangement of epitaphs" and wholesale malversion of the English language. Despite the obvious yet required sentimentality of the play, the efforts of the two entangled couples, Roger Jones—Ruth Waterhouse and Christian Madison—Luella Manter, produced an altogether believable group of Sheridan's characters as they sought to extricate themselves from their amatory plights and achieve happiness. Always a consistent performer, Irving Friedman demonstrated the possibilities that Bob Acres offers to the sincere student of that role.

In retrospect, no reviewal of the accomplishments and progress which this year's 4-A players have distinctly proven to be theirs can fail to accord recognition of the services of co-stage managers Lewis Mills and Trenor Goodell. Much of the dexterity and clock-like precision which have marked 4–A productions is due to the constant and untiring efforts of these indispensable members.

"The Rivals"

PROF. F. BROOKS QUIMBY

ENERGY, wide knowledge, analytical reasoning, and gifts as an arbitrator in disputes, especially between opposing debaters on any subject from co-education to neutrality, ability to temper well-founded criticism with a sense of humor, and readiness to give advice backed by experience is "the dope" on the organizing force of forensic activities, Prof. Brooks Quimby.

SPEAKERS BUREAU

THE BATES COLLEGE Student Speakers Bureau, a comparatively young organization, is continuing this year its excellent service both to student members of the bureau and to outside organizations that wish to have these student speakers.

The bureau, which was organized to provide practical experience for student speakers and to provide programs for various organizations in this vicinity, offers varied programs to its audiences. It provides debates and discussions, high school assembly programs, one-act plays, deputation groups, and speeches on a wide variety of subjects. The debates generally have to do with current problems in economics and politics, while the speeches are given by students who have had unusual opportunities to acquaint themselves with timely problems, places, and events. These speeches are made the more interesting because the students are taught organization and presentation by skilled teachers in the Public Speaking Department.

Back Row: P. Turner, P. Stewart, Curtis, Coffin, Windsor
Second Row: Pillsbury, Howard, H. Cary, C. Harms, Gozonsky, J. Bartlett, Maggs
First Row: Keck, Gray, Becker, Craft, Nixon

FORENSICS

DEBATING COUNCIL

THE DEBATING Council is the governing organization of Bates debating. It is made up of all those on varsity, junior varsity, and freshman teams. Although it does not hold very many meetings during the year, those it does hold are very important. It elects the various officers of the Council, and through its executive council it determines Bates' relation to the Eastern Intercollegiate Debate League and various other policies. It takes charge of the running of the two high school debate tournaments and the prep school tournament.

The statement, "Bates put the bate in debate", is really true. We took part in the first intercollegiate debate on record, with B. U., before a crowd of nearly 2,000. We won that debate and have been winning almost all since then for when we only win half of our debates, we have a poor season. Our round-the-world tour in 1926 made such an impression that the University of Melbourne asked to be included on our schedule, making the second of two international debates that Bates took part in this year—she who had the first intercollegiate, international debate in history, with Oxford, in 1921.

Debating Council

Back Row: Pomeroy, L. Wheeler, Lindell, Maggs
Fourth Row: Nahikian, Foster, Hayden, Nichols, L. Clough
Third Row: Sutherland, Spencer, H. Kadjperconi, Coffin, Nixon, D. Curtis
Second Row: H. White, Gazonsky, Pulsifer, Perry, Gray
First Row: J. Smith, Jack (Sec.), P. Stewart (Pres.), E. Kadjperooni (Women's Mgr.), Dingley, Craft
Missing: Becker (Men's Mgr.), Farnum, Bell, D. Cortell, W. Gould, Herbert, Barrus

Men's Varsity

THE Men's Varsity Debate Squad had a full year as usual, including as the outstanding debates of the year the Eastern Intercollegiate Debate League decision debates with Bowdoin, Wesleyan, M. I. T., and Bucknell; the two international debates, one with the University of New Brunswick, which took place at Houlton, and the other with students of the University of Melbourne, who traveled 15,000 miles to Bates to debate "America's Isolation Policy Should Be Abolished"; and the debate with Georgetown University, the champions of the South, before the Meriden, Conn., Community Forum on the question of socialized medicine. Members of the squad took trips to Lewisburg, Pa., meeting Williams and Amherst on the way, went to Manchester, N. H., to meet Brown, to Cambridge to meet M. I. T., and to Medford to meet Tufts. Interested listeners-in of the radio audience heard Bates meet Maine over WLBZ and Colby over WCSH on the unicameral question for the benefit of the high school students debating that question. Two senior members for the squad, Smith and Becker, took care of the international debates, while Pres. Stewart, Kadjperooni, Coffin, and Curtis handled most of the League debates. The season opened with a trip to Middlebury and Vermont and was made up of the debates listed above as a skeleton, and then filled out with debates with Holy Cross, Dartmouth, A. I. C., and a four-Maine-college Forum.

Back Row: Lindell, Maggs, O. Wheeler
Third Row: Nahikian, L. Clough Curtis, Dingley
Second Row: Spencer, Farnum, Foster, Nixon, Sutherland
First Row: Coffin, H. Kadjperooni, P. Stewart, Becker, J. Smith

Back Row: Gazonsky, D. Cortell, R. Gray, Bell, Pulsifer
Front Row: Perry, Craft, Jack, E. Kadjperooni

Women's Varsity

THE WOMEN'S SQUAD this year did not carry on as active a program as the men's, but they had enough debates to keep them busy. Early in the year, they met teams from the University of Vermont and Middlebury College. Miss Grace Jack, '38, the only member of the 1900-mile trip left in school, was on a team that met Radcliffe in the Little Theatre on the question of the Neutrality Act of the United States.

One of the highlights of the women's debating this year was participation in a decision League Debate against Pembroke. Until this year, the men used to do all the League Debating, but it was thought that it might be a good idea to match the only women's team in the League against our women. Others active in getting the women ready for the schools they met were Ellen Craft, Elizabeth Kadjperooni, Lucy Perry, Caroline Pulsifer, and Mary Gozonsky, who was also a member of the mixed team that met Dartmouth at Laconia.

This year, the only trip the girls made was to Rhode Island, where they met the women of Rhode Island State. The other teams they met were Elmira, Alleghany, and Colby.

Publications

THE PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION

THE SO-CALLED Publishing Association, really the directors of the Association, meets periodically according to problems that are before it. Problems consisting of supervision of the financial policy, advertising policy, subscription policy, and, in general, attempted solution of those things that determine the successful operation of the four campus publications make up the material for the Association's labors. In another direction, the Association has the right to select the officers, editor and business manager of the various publications. Usually the recommendations of the outgoing men are accepted, but in rare cases this is not done. Supervision and constant check-up by this faculty-student group aids the editors of the publications to assure the student body a healthy publication group.

Back Row: Kennedy (Sec.), Windsor (V. Pres.), A. Briggs, Carroll
First Row: Prof. Whitbeck, Becker (Pres.), Prof. Wilkins
Missing: Mrs. Roberts

THE BUFFOON

ON MARCH 19, 1937, the BUFFOON, college humor magazine, made its first appearance on the Bates campus and, in the short space of one year, has firmly entrenched itself on the roster of recognized campus publications.

Realizing the desirability of a new publication to fill the gap between the GARNET and the STUDENT, the editors have presented to the students of Bates a clean, entertaining, and colorful campus magazine in an attempt to record those peculiarities and traditions that have made Bates dear to us, and by which we wish to remember our college days. It features jokes, cartoons, humorous articles, candid camera shots, light satire, poetry, collegiate style trends, and happenings in the world of sport and music.

Back Row: White, Martone, Reiner
Fifth Row: Partridge, McCue, Moses
Fourth Row: R. Brown, A. Schmoyer, D. Harms, Bennett
Third Row: Giovanazzi, E. Edwards, Alexander, R. Goodwin, Fullerton
Second Row: Stanley, Manter, King (Editor), Crocker, Skelton
First Row: Halliwell, Philbrick, Carroll, Moulton
Missing: B. Dorman (Bus. Mgr.), R. Morris, Curtis, W. Gould, A. Sawyer

THE GARNET

IN THE past year and in this, the GARNET has been subjected to criticism from its staff and from its readers. Last year's staff brought the publication through a stage of experimentation to a fine climax notable for its wide range of material. It has been the aim of the 1938 staff to continue to encourage writing of varied types covering a larger field of subject matter, attempting to provide an outlet for the expression of sincere thought and feeling for a large number of students working in a variety of major fields.

Back Row: Coffin, Gauvreau, B. Reed, Fishman
First Row: DuWors (Asst. Editor), Borne, Kennedy (Editor), J. Smith
Missing: P. Chase, Rimmer

THE ONE requirement of the MIRROR board is a MIRROR. However, to produce a yearbook every year which will satisfy everybody, having new features, new ideas, a new appearance, and a new theme, is a real job.

This year a greater emphasis has been placed on details, schedule, and the relief from the monotony of similar lay-outs in past MIRRORS.

Some of the department editors are underclassmen, picked on the basis of ability. They have gained experience which will be of value to them in their later years. To carry out the idea of emphasizing the contributions of activities to the students, the organization write-ups were done by their own members. The senior write-ups were handled by a committee of six, which did away with prejudice and uncomplimentary material.

The board worked well. Cooperation was exceedingly good, making the work much more enjoyable. The interest shown by the engraver, printer, and photographer helped a great deal in giving you your MIRROR.

Our work is practically done. We sincerely appreciate all help we were given and the opportunity to give Bates its 1938 yearbook.

MIRROR

Editor ..... Gordon Williams '38

Associate Editor ..... William Torrey '38

Business Manager ..... Charles Smyth '38

Associate Business Manager .. Courtney Burnap, '38

Sports Editor ..... Leonard Jobrack '39

Senior Historian ..... John Leard '38

Features ..... Frank Coffin '40

Organizations ..... Martha Packard '38

Typist ..... Pauline Turner '38

W. A. A. Editor ..... Barbara Rowell '40

Senior Write-ups—Ruth Hamlin '38, Mary Dale '38, Margaret Bennett '38, William Cooney '38, Robert Crocker '38, Clark Sawyer '38

Assistant Editors—Albert Pierce '39, Harold Roth '39, Clifford Oliver '39

Assistant Business Managers—Chester Parker '39, Herbert Reiner '39, Leighton Dingley '39

Back Row: Coffin, Oliver, Crocker, Pierce, Jobrack
Second Row: C. Parker, Cooney, P. Turner, Rowell, Roth, Dingley
First Row: Packard, J. Leard, C. Smyth (Bus. Mgr.), G. Williams (Editor), Torrey, Dale
Missing: Burnap, Reiner, C. Sawyer, Hamlin, Bennett

STUDENT

EDITOR.....John Leard '38

MANAGING EDITOR.....Edward Fishman '38

NEWS EDITOR.....Roland Martone '39

WOMEN'S EDITOR.....Marion Welsch '38

SPORTS EDITOR.....Samuel Leard '38

BUSINESS MANAGER.....Robert Chalmers '38

ADVERTISING MANAGER.....Robert Rimmer '39

Back Row: J. Wilson, Hamilton, Howland, Bernauer, Lelyveld, McKue, Jobrack, Goodspeed.
Fourth Row: Shepherd, P. Stewart, Barvus, Sealey, Dale, F. Wallace, Plaisted, Pellicani
Third Row: D. Williams, Martin, Nichols, Quigley, Cummings, C. Parker, Lythcott, Nahikian,
Second Row: Tapper, Hall, Stifler, Philbrick, P. Jones, Lee, Chayer, Dodge, Robbins, Dickinson
First Row: Torrey, S. Leard, Fishman, Welsch, J. Leard (Editor), Chalmers (Bus. Mgr.), Martone, Rimmer, Fullerton (Missing) F. Brown

NOT MERELY a chronicler of campus events, but more an unwarped reflector of important happenings and opinions at Bates, the STUDENT, undergraduate weekly, serves the purpose of a special course in Journalism for over fifty students interested in newspaper work. Through its column, "From the News", and stories on local, state, and national affairs, the paper has kept its readers in contact with the outside world.

Headed by John E. Leard '38, the first two-year editor of the STUDENT, this news organ received a first-class rating among fifty college newspapers by the Associated Collegiate Press. Keen interest on the part of the staff, lectures by the editor, professors, and local newspapermen on covering news stories, news writing, and head writing, promulgated by opening the doors of the Publishing Office to women for the first time, and discussions on the issues of each week were the cause of usually complete attendance at the bi-weekly meetings of the STUDENT staff. "Night-before," or "Spot", news prevalence, a deviation from "to-have-and-to-hold-meeting," or "marriage," heads, the annihilation of stereotyped news stories, more variation in make-up, an increase in alumni news, and more feature stories have stimulated campus interest in the STUDENT. This interest has also been extended to more alumni and friends and parents of students.

Among the highlight issues of the year were: a special "strike" edition, in which interviews with the C. I. O. leaders and outstanding manufacturers were printed; a "burlesque" issue which spread a fume of fun over campus events and personalities; a colorful Carnival issue; a "scoop" issue revealing the identity of the campus mayor and another early morning issue giving the campus election results.

FRESHMAN CABINET

FROM a large list of applications filled out by the freshmen in December, two students are selected as members of each Christian Association committee. The twenty members of this group, besides meeting in their respective committees, are organized as a seperate body and call themselves the Freshman Cabinet. Following the election of two officers, a president and secretary, they take over certain projects of the upperclass association and sponsor new activities which call for freshman participation.

This year, their work included a freshman open house in Chase Hall, a vesper run entirely by freshmen, an all-college Easter sunrise service on Mt. David, and the arrangements for dormitory "bull sessions."

With such a program and purpose they quickly become oriented to organization work and furnish a nucleus from which the future upperclass cabinet can be built.

Back Row: F. Brown, Moses, Farris, D. Weeks
Third Row: Blakely, Greenleaf, Wall, Bernauer, Belt.
Second Row: Scranton, Dole, Goss, H. White
First Row: Nichols, Bliss, D. Russell (Pres.), Ober (Sec.), Beattie
Missing: S. Avery, H. Woodward, Whitten

Christian Association

RESPONSIBILITY for the most varied program of activities of any organization on campus is the job of the Christian Association Cabinet. It consists of the four executive officers, the chairmen of the ten committees, covering all student interests, and the faculty adviser.

The B. C. A. is unique in that it is the only co-ed organization with a program adapted to the needs and interests of every student. The number of contacts that the Christian Association makes during a year is astounding. (Twenty-two thousand seven hundred and fifty persons were contacted by the B. C. A. last year.)

Freshmen are provided with a handbook of needed information, are met and entertained. Frequent Sunday vesper services present the leading religious thinkers of the day. The churches of northern New England are familiar with our deputation teams. World fellowship is strengthened through the partial support of Dr. Storm, a missionary in Arabia. Through the Chase Hall Committee, the Association participates in the direction of the social and recreational facilities in Chase Hall, the Men's Union. A few of the other numerous projects are financial backing in the lecture series, second-hand book exchange, swimming privileges in the Auburn "Y", a campus Christmas tree, monthly discussion groups on vital subjects, giving aid to underprivileged children and the aged, sending delegates to both local and distant conferences in all fields, fostering peace projects, bettering and furthering social relations on campus, providing radios, magazines, and flowers for the infirmaries, and securing group leaders and teachers for local service organizations.

Through its affiliation with the Student Christian Movement, the student is made aware of the fact that our program is merely part of a much larger and more important movement, and, through service to students, Christianity is practiced on our own campus.

Back Row: Nelson, Dingley, Dale, Stanley, Wilson
Second Row: Cary, Leslie, MacNish, Torrey, Robbins, French
First Row: Mrs. Zerby (Women's Adviser), Howe (Treas.), Craft (V. Pres.), G. Williams (Pres.), Manter (Sec.), Dr. Zerby (Adviser)

Clason Key

FULFILLING the need for an undergraduate body to assist the administration in prospective student work, the Clason Key was organized last spring. The group has been determined to insure carefully-planned entertainment for visiting students of any number. Their work calls for the cooperation of the Varsity Club, particularly in the entertainment of athletic teams. Through correspondence with the more outstanding prospects, a personal interest touch has been put on this work. It has been a means of practicing student theories on contacts with prospects, and getting closer cooperation between the undergraduates, graduates, and administration in this common interest problem.

Specific projects of the Clason Key include Christmas and Easter student meetings to encourage personal contact work at home, the maintenance of a descriptive bulletin board and scrapbook of Bates available to visitors, the managing of the annual fall interscholastic cross-country meet, supervising the distribution of material on Bates to prospects, and planning week-ends for alumni who bring students with them to the campus. Cooperation with the administration in housing and arranging meals for the visitors has simplified a once complicated system.

Being fundamentally a service organization with very definite requirements of its members, the group is self-perpetuating. The same spirit and interest in good prospects for Bates which its namesake, O. B. Clason '77, always had seems to have been caught by the Key and is being carried on in his honor and memory.

Back Row: Holmes, Seeckts, C. Parker
First Row: G. Williams, C. Harms (Pres.), Reiner (Sec.)

Back Row: Prof. Knapp, J. Reid
First Row: Cole (Sec.), Hanscom (Pres.), Moulton (V. Pres.)
Missing: Chamberlain, Neily, M. Rice

Sodalitas Latina

THE SODALITAS Latina is an organization for members of the junior and senior classes who are taking Latin courses at the time with Professor Knapp or who have studied at least three years of college Latin. All the members are interested in the teaching of Latin in some kind of a secondary school; therefore, the purpose of the club is to aid prospective teachers by reports and informal discussions among the members.

The meetings usually include reports on recent articles of the classical magazines of interest to all and then a discussion by all members, following the report.

Sometimes quite an enthusiastic discussion developed from some one's bringing up a question or problem that all, as prospective teachers, must face and solve as we first start to teach.

At one meeting, the latest first-year Latin book for high school students was compared with one such as was used ten years ago. Much has been done to make the first-year book better adapted to the mind of the adolescent. The new book does not fail to stress the fact that so many of our most common English words are derived from Latin words studied in the first-year course.

In January, a dinner party was enjoyed by all members at Professor and Mrs. Knapp's.

Besides the reports and more serious discussions, games and Latin songs were usually an important part of every meeting's program.

Because of the small number of members and their common interest, each meeting proves to be worth while and helpful to every member, By the informal discussions, each one has a chance to do his bit toward carrying forward a program devoted to the classic language and the people of old Rome.

Back Row: Torrey, Irish, Lord, C. Parker
Third Row: Rice, Cary, Robbins, Jobrack, Stoehr
Second Row: Montgomery, Corning, Martone, G. Williams, R. Brown, Preble
First Row: Cummings, Dearden (Sec.), Helsher. (Pres.), Hanscom, Roth (V. Pres.)

Der Deutsche Verein

THE FAMED "Gemütlichkeit" of old Germany is brought to the Bates campus once each month, when the members of the Deutscher Verein gather at the homes of the German professors for their meetings. German folk and student songs add to the Old World flavor, and various aspects of German culture are discussed.

The same spirit is present at the annual initiation at Thorncrag and at the Christmas party when favorite German carols are sung. In the spring, a farewell party is held in honor of the departing seniors, at which time they and the underclassmen salute each other with old German toasts.

The Deutscher Verein is one of the oldest departmental organizations on the Bates campus. The earliest records are not available, but it is certain that members of the class of 1906 were in the Verein.

In the first years of the organization the membership was limited to men, and the emphasis was mainly on German conversation. For some years cordial relations were fostered with similar organizations at Bowdoin and the University of Maine. Interest in the Verein increased to such an extent that the women developed a similar organization, and there was formed a Deutsche Gesellschaft. The two organizations were forced to disband during the war, and the Verein was later reorganized on a co-educational basis. This relationship has been retained, and now friendly groups of students and faculty members meet informally to carry on the old traditions.

Delta Phi Alpha

THIS organization exists on campus for the sole purpose of affording public recognition to a small but select group of individuals who, during the course of their academic struggles at Bates, have exhibited outstanding ability in their attempts to gain a working knowledge of the language and literature of the German people. It has a secondary RAISON D'ETRE in that it endeavors to combine these few individuals into a congenial whole, united by a common feeling of pride and satisfaction at having accomplished something worthwhile.

This national honorary society is now represented on the campuses of approximately forty American colleges and universities. Bates' Gamma chapter was the third of these to be established.

It has always been somewhat handicapped by the fact that Der Deutsche Verein satisfies most of the needs of those interested in German and has carried out its program accordingly. Last year its one meeting, outside of the initiation ceremony, was devoted to the works of Thomas Mann and proved most enjoyable. This year its officers, dissatisfied with a backward glance over the organization's past history, have striven to make its function a more active one, with a marked increase in the number of meetings and a more varied program. It is to be hoped that those who follow will further promote this policy, ever wary of treading on forbidden territory, and enable the society to maintain its present high status in the life of Bates undergraduates.

Back Row: Rice, H. Cary, R. Brown, Hanscom, Leonard
Second Row: Irish, MacNish, Roth, Martone
First Row: Helsher, Dearden, Torrey (Pres.), Leslie (Sec.-Treas.), Stanley
Missing: E. Jones, McKinney, Hooper, E. Sawyer

La Petite Academie

LA PETITE ACADEMIE, the official French organization of Bates, has for its purpose a study of the literature and the people of France, and strives to promote an interest in this field. French is the only recognized language in the monthly meetings, and all lectures are conducted in French. In carrying out its purpose, the club attempts to maintain a balanced program.

A good start was made in October by a cabin party arranged by the officers, with Prof. Angelo Bertocci and Orman Moulton preparing a spaghetti supper. In January, the first open meeting of the club was held, and an illustrated travel lecture was presented by Miss Marcotte of Lewiston. Through the year several students, prospective teachers of French, spoke on various phases of the language and customs. Songs, games, and a general good spirit characterized the meetings. Mlle. Mireille Daveau, French exchange student, was a frequent visitor and helped in forming the programs for the club. On another occasion, Prof. Lawrence Kimball addressed the group, telling of his experiences studying in Paris and compared the French system of education with our own. Through informal discussions, La Petite Academie strives to keep pace with the events and affairs surrounding the local French population.

High Lights: the entire group singing together the Marseillaise; a few of the august members of the faculty enjoying the cabin party and "Pickin' Pawpaws" as enthusiastically as the students themselves; Alice Neily '38 leading the club in rollicking games and songs.

Back Row: Montgomery, E. Rollins, Adler, Philbrick, D. Carey, Stevens
Third Row: M. Chase, R. Jones, Paridis, Buker, Fuller, Hartwell, E. Moore
Second Row: I. Miller, Walsh, Jacubouis, Prof. Kimball, Lovell, Dunham, C. Ford
First Row: Prof. Seward, L. Mills (Treas.), Hanscom (Sec.), Rivard (V. Pres.), Moulton (Pres.), Prof. A. Bertocci
Missing: Chamberlain, P. Chase, Dale, Hartwell, Haushill, Hooper, H. Kadjperooni, Kennedy, Lewis, Madison, Neily, O'Connell, Pulsifer, Rollins, P. Turner, L. Wells

Back Row: Prof. Bertocci (Pres.), Prof. Kimball, Prof. Seward
First Row: Gauvreau, Montgomery (Sec.), Moulton (Treas), Stevens
Missing: Hooper

Phi Sigma Iota

THE PHI SIGMA IOTA Honor Society has for its purposes the recognition of outstanding ability and attainment in the Romance languages and literatures, the stimulation of advanced work and individual research in the field, and the promotion of a sentiment of amity between our own nation and the nations using these languages.

This society was founded at Allegheny College in 1926 by Doctor Henry W. Church, members of the Romance language department, and advanced sudents. These people united for linguistic and literary discussions and realized the cultural and scholastic advantages of such an organization. In 1927, Phi Sigma Iota became a national society, and since then it has been expanding steadily but conservatively. The Kappa chapter at Bates is one of the twenty chapters in the East.

The programs in the past have consisted of oral reports given by the members on the subject of French life and literature. This year, the same system of oral reports has been retained, but the subject matter is different. We are devoting our attention to two other Romance languages, Spanish and Italian, and are studying the lives, works, and influence of such men as Dante, Petrarch, Boccaccio, Tasso, Ariosto, and Cervantes.

Back Row: L. Mills, Lindell, Kelley, Duwers
Third Row: Fuller, R. Jones, Dickson, M. Sprague, Bogdanowitz, Towle
Second Row: Halliwell, P. Turner, L. Clough, Roth, Haushuill, J. Wells
First Row: V. Wilson, Rogosa, Lovett (V. Pres.), W. Nelson (Pres.), P. Jones, Aloupis, Kinney
(Missing) Hooper (Sec.), Morang

Phil-Hellenic

THE PHIL-HELLENIC Society is one of the oldest and traditional organizations on campus. Its members are selected from those who, as undergraduates, have shown prominent interest and ability in the study of Greek language, civilization, and literature.

The purposes of the Society may be stated as follows:

To kindle, increase, and enhance within the minds and hearts of its members an appreciation and love of Greek learning and culture. This is gained through the unity and fellowship among the members of the Society in their common search for an understanding of Greek life, customs, history, art, literature, etc.

To perpetuate honor and respect toward ancient Greece, her great cultural and intellectual struggles, time-defying memories, and accomplishments in art, philosophy, and politics.

To perpetuate the worth and values in Greek studies and academic penetration into the spirit and meaning of classical Greece.

The maintain a fellowship with the Greek community in Lewiston. To this end, a joint meeting of the Ahepa and Phil-Hellenic Societies is held each year.

To understand modern, as well as ancient, Greece. Much emphasis is now being placed upon the analysis of modern religious customs, the national anthem, folk dances, their educational system, and government of the present day.

The final, and most significant, purpose of the Society is seen in the three ideals, the development of Reason, Self-control, and a Well-rounded life, to which each member is personally dedicated.

Spofford Club

SPOFFORD CLUB admits to membership any student who shows definite interest in literature and in creative writing. Just as the chemistry student is willing to soak himself in moist gases and burn himself in acids; just as the biology student is willing to identify himself with the smell of formaldehyde arising from post-mortems of cats, dogfish, and salamanders; so the student of literature should be willing to make his literary interests a definite part of him. Spofford Club attempts to help the willing student of literature in this task. The club aims through its programs toward giving each member a "discussing" ability in the literary field. Since majors in all subjects are represented in the club membership, it is possible for the English major to rid himself, through intelligent discussions, of his tendency toward a narrow viewpoint of literature.

Once in a while a member of Spofford Club achieves prominence in the writing world (like Gladys Hasty Carroll and Erwin Canham, of the Washington Gridiron Club). These people, of course, had great creative ability in the first place, but at least a little credit for their success may be due to their membership in Spofford Club. Less brilliant ex-members, who bring to their English classes or to their social groups an ability to discuss literary topics intelligently and in an interesting way, may also owe some of their success to their years as members of Spofford.

The program for this year has aimed at variety: there have been talks by professors, notably a talk on poetry by Professor Glazier; discussions and talks engineered by the members themselves; and attempts at group appreciation of great musical compositions.

Back Row: H. Kadjperooni, H. Farnum
Second Row: Maggs, D. Cortell, Manter, Duwors
First Row: Dr. Wright, D. Kennedy, J. Smith (Pres.), Robbins, Fishman
Missing: Borne (Sec.), P. Chase, Coffin, Earles, Gauvreau (V. Pres.), Martone, McCray, H. Miller, Pulsifer, Rimmer, Rowell, E. Sawyer, D. Williams

Lawrance Chemical Society

THE LAWRANCE Chemical Society has this year, as in the past, devoted its activities to the promotion of interest among the students in the services and progress of chemistry in the modern industrial and educational world. By bringing to its members actual products of modern scientific genius in the form of exhibitions and lecture demonstrations, the furthering of this aim has been carried on.

The programs of the society are, of course, varied, but are planned to include as many actual student-participation type meetings as possible. Talks given by the student members on special branches of science and general round-table discussions in which all members take an active part are good examples of this plan. In this way, there is a greater and more detailed investigation of the specific field of the individual's choice than would be possible in ordinary classroom procedure. Such subjects as "The Development and Possibilities of Chemical Warfare," "Modern Achievements in Industrial Chemistry" and a round-table discussion on "Alloys" have proved to be very interesting to all members of the society.

Although naturally more or less limited to a specific scientific field in its discussions, the proceedings of the rociety are far from being either narrow or strictly formal, and several very enjoyable social gatherings are featured during the year, including a closing meeting in the form of a cabin party at Thorncrag in May.

Back Row: Brouillard, Libby, K. Snowe, Harvey, Bailey
Second Row: Wilder, R. Gould, Riley, Lord, McKeen, Kaliszewski
First Row: Dr. Mabee, Preston (V. Pres.), Skelton (Pres.), Dr. Lawrance, Dr. Thomas
Missing: Mynhan, N. Stewart

Back Row: Corning, Hapgood, MacNish, Craft
Third Row: Martikainen, Robbins, Sweeney, Kelley, Larrabee
Second Row: Bowditch, Weeks, Perry, Kadjperooni, Leonard
First Row: Hamlin, Rice, Harriman (Pres.), E. Jones, Hartwell
Missing: Dick, Dionne, M. Jones (Sec.)

Ramsdell Scientific Society

THE Ramsdell Scientific Society is composed of junior and senior women who are particularly interested in science. Its chief purpose is to bring to its members some of the most recent developments in the various scientific fields. This purpose is carried out by reports given by student members and also speakers outside the club at bi-weekly meetings. One of the most interesting talks this year was that given by Dr. Woodcock on the history and the development of photography. At this meeting, pictures of the chapel were printed for those present.

The program for the year also includes trips to near-by industrial plants. Outstanding among this year's trips was that to the Hood dairy, where club members were shown the laboratory and were given a chance to observe how milk is tested and pasteurized.

Foremost among the club's social activities is the annual banquet held in honor of Professor Ramsdell, for whom the club is named. The banquet is followed by a regular meeting, at which Professor Ramsdell addresses the club. A tea for the science professors and their wives in the Women's Union, a custom instituted last year, is to be a part of the social program, which also includes a Thanksgiving Party, an outdoor party, and the fall and spring initiations.

Besides keeping apace with the latest trends in science, the club offers opportunity for friendly association between girls with common interests, as well as better acquaintance with the faculty in the science departments.

Jordan Scientific Society

AFTER the Biennial Science Exhibition last spring, the Jordan Scientific Society returned to their usual procedure of meetings. Later in the spring the annual initiation banquet was held in the Mirimar Tea Room, with Dr. Cecil Holmes from Bowdoin as the guest speaker. Being a Bates graduate and presenting a fine paper in the mathematical field, he held the attention of every person in attendance.

The meetings during the past year have consisted of guest, faculty, and student speakers. A. B. Andrews, an independent chemist from Lewiston, presented a fine discussion of practical chemistry in connection with other sciences. Dr. Sawyer, a charter member of the club, gave a very interesting illustrated lecture on the development of the nervous systems in animal life ranging from the single-called paramecium to the human with its complex system of three units.

Bringing the majors in the fields of mathematics, physics, biology, and geology into a congenial group and making available talks in all these fields, tends to broaden their outlook and coordinate the science departments. Herein lies the chief asset of such an old campus organization.

Due to the increased interest in science courses, the constitution of the club has been changed to provide for a total of thirty members.

Back Row: Goodell, Elliot, Purinton, J. Kenney
Third Row: Lythcott, Woodbury, Malone, O'Connel, G. Williams
Second Row: McDonald, E. Swan, Hagstrom, Frost, Eaton, Akers
First Row: S. Leard, B. Dorman (Sec.), C. Harms (Pres.), Whitcomb, Buchanen
Missing: Keck, Helsher, Meserve, Bridges, Casterline, Cummings, R. Goodwin, Johnson, MacBride

Pre-Meds

ONCE every two years the Pre-Meds, together with their cohorts, the other science majors, appear en masse in public to demonstrate their progress in their respective fields. In between these events, which are really brilliart pieces of work, John Q. Public is apt to forget the lowly Pre-Med and the work he is doing. But the Pre-Med cannot forget it. He is unable to, and, even if it were within his power, he would not want to forget those long nightly vigils spent in the labs—the smell of gases, at first nauseating, then seeming to possess a certain delightfulness—the feel of handling an experiment well—the good old faithful and true lab coat—the comradeship of fellow pre-meds—the thrill of getting into original work—the vision of future years—the growing intimacy with the science. . . .

So for the Pre-med the bi-annual science exhibit is not the peak of his college career. Far from it. It is merely a necessary halt in order to show the dumb public some of the fun that can be gotten out of science. The Pre-med looks through the great windows of Carnegie or the chemical-stained windows of Hedge, looks out, sees the A. B.'s scampering to Coram for books, glances down at his experiment directions, smiles and says, "There are two paths to knowledge; I am satisfied with the one I have chosen."

Carnival

JUST AS earlier Americans sought relief from the pressure of industrial life in the East by going westward, so do Bates students stagger out from their mid-year exams and seek relief from bibliomania by hobnobbing with ole King Winter for a few days.

There is created at Bates during these few days a phantasma of scintillating beauty: Carnival Hop, sophisticated tempo inside with the simplicity of snow and ice outside—skating on the tennis court rinks to the tune of the "Skaters' Waltz"—colored lights doubling their beauty by reflection on ice and shining skate-steel—crowning of the Carnival Queen before her regally chill throne of snow—skiing and snowshoeing events—races—"freak" contests, the result of the totally unbalanced minds of those in charge—ski-jumping through hoops and such on Mt. David—interdorm meets—open house at Thorncrag—tobogganning down Pole Hill—hot coffee for the frozen—wearing out one set of chaperones after another—snow sculptures, penguins, Mickey Mouses, and what not before the dorms—wet clothes—steaming radiators—sound sleep untroubled by threat of exams. . . This is Carnival!

There may be bigger carnivals but never is there more fun concentrated into fewer days than at that most glorious, that most tintinabulous, that most um-um of affairs —the Bates Carnival!

Outing Club

EVERY student at Bates is a member of the Outing Club, and each has an equal opportunity to enjoy the benefits it has to give. Through assignments to the Junior Body, the Outing Club sponsors open houses at the Thorncrag and Sabbattus Cabins, puts on mountain trips in the fall and spring, gives canoe trips for men and for women in the spring, maintains a skating rink on the campus all winter, puts on the Winter Carnival between semesters, sponsors a cruise on Casco Bay on Memorial Day, keeps skis, snowshoes, and toboggans for any who want to use them, and maintains the equipment of its two cabins.

In the fall of this year, the Outing Club put on an open house for the incoming freshman class, three mountain trips—to Mt. Tumbledown. and Saddleback in Maine, and a third to Mt. Chocorua in New Hampshire. Also an open house held at the Sabbattus Cabin was well attended.

The big attraction of our Carnival was the Bavarian Ski team, which stayed for two days, providing entertainment and competition for our own team. There were as usual the All-College Skate, Co-ed dinner, Carnival Hop, open house at Thorncrag, and many other events which filled the four-day period.

Plans for the spring program include mountain trips, canoe trips, open houses, and the Memorial Day Cruise.

Back Row: R. Smith, Gove, J. White, Ricker, Martikainen
Fourth Row: Hamlin, R. Martin, Hulsizer, H. Dorman, I. Miller
Third Row: Haushill, L. Wells, P. Atwater, J. Wells, D. Weeks
Second Row: B. Dorman, R. Morris (Sec.), J. Leard, G. Williams, Smyth
First Row: Jeck, Alexander, Waterhouse, S. Leard (Pres.), Bray, Elliot

Camera Club

THE CAMERA Club has taken a decided step forward this year as a result of the greatly increased membership, proving the growing interest that has been aroused in the field of photography in recent years. It will be necessary in the future to limit the membership of the club as is done in some other campus organizations.

The program for the year included interesting talks by club members and local people on such phases of photography as developing, printing, enlarging, portraiture, news photography, composition, cameras, and color technique. These talks were frequently illustrated so that the members received practical benefit from them.

This year the club took advantage of a service that the Eastman Kodak Company offers, consisting of a series of lectures illustrated by lantern slides and movies. These lectures covered everything from the simple to the complex processes of photography and, therefore, proved most appropriate to the interests of the club members.

Additional enthusiasm among the members was aroused by the keen competition of the contests held by the club. These contests, first held strictly within the club, were later open to the student body of the college. Prizes consisted of enlargements of the winning prints in each class.

Although the Camera Club is still one of the youngest campus organizations, it is fast gaining in importance among the older, well-established clubs.

Back Row: Slobodkin, Moses, Priestley
Third Row: Coorssen, Vannah, Rice, C. Parker.
Second Row: Hovey, Sands, Wall, Rubricius, L. Mills
First Row: J. Smith, Dr. Woodcock, Fullerton (Pres.), Torrey, D. Purington
Missing: E. Martin (Sec.), Barney, Bernauer, Fuller, Lovelace, Moore, Morse, Moulton, Neily, Pierce, Pillsbury, Pratt, Ressler, G. Russell, O. Snow

Back Row: DeLong, Hapgood, Stockwell
First Row: Woodward (Treas.), H. Cory, J. Smith (Pres.), Garoutte, Saunders
Missing: J. Davis (V. Pres.), Feineman, Kuslansky, Neily, Philbrick, G. Fuller, Scott, Moses, Weeks, A. Sawyer, Child, E. Copelana

Art Club

ORGANIZED in the fall of 1936, the college Art Club represents one of the most recently formed clubs on campus. Already in the few short months of its existence it has adequately demonstrated how helpful and, indeed, necessary such an organization is in the college group, not only as a medium for producing the pieces of art work for the various campus publications, but also as an opportunity for the self-expression of any student interested in the developments of modern art.

It has been the aim of the club to encourage its members to express themselves in whatever forms of constructive work they may profess an interest. For the consummation of that aim, the club has provided, with the cooperation of the administration, workrooms in Hacker House and Roger Williams Hall where students may have access to the necessary materials for modelling, sketching, painting, and poster-making. Monthly projects are required for criticism at the club meetings, and plans are underway for a public exhibition of the projects in the spring.

Whether it be in working for one's personal enjoyment of in producing something for the college, as the proposed designing of a Bates coat-of-arms, the club volunteers to take a definite stand in promoting the cultural development of educated men and women. It resolves to act upon the realization that art is cultural, and that an organized opportunity for its expression is a necessary part of the modern liberal arts college.

Christian Service Club

THE Christian Service Club is a study group on current problems of the religious world. Its members include those who are going into Christian work as a profession and those who are actively interested in the field of religion. The club has made possible closer comradeship with one another and better understanding of what is involved in personal and social living.

The program of the year has proved valuable. Student-led discussions were held on the Church and Social Problems, The Rural Churches, The Place of the Church in the World, and The World Student Christian Federation. Miss Edith Lerrigo, '32 of the New England Student Christian Movement, reported on the Oxford Conference which was followed by further study. A series of discussions on the Religious Education of Young People was given by religious leaders. During the winter a reading party was held under the leadership of Dr. Elmer A. Leslie of Boston University School of Theology, in which the poetic expression of religion through the ages was interpreted.

The club functions closely with all organized religious groups. Its members are called upon for Church School Leadership and Young Peoples' work in the churches of Lewiston and Auburn. The deputation work, formerly the main project of the club, now functions under the Christian Association with which the club is closely joined. All service commissions of the B. C. A. are of particular interest to the Christian Service Club, and it is in that capacity that the club carries on its functional work. The missionary emphasis is expressed through the Commission on Christian Outreach.

Back Row: Horton, French, Watkins, Buker, Nelson
Third Row: Stifler, R. Brown, MacNish, Robbins, L. Turner
Second Row: Lee, Howe, Dingley, Whiston, Wakefield, Jansen
First Row: Wilson (V. Pres.), Wright (Pres.), Corning (Sec.), P. Stewart
Missing: Amrein (Treas.), Blowen, L. Davis, Meserve, Neily, Phulbrick, Wier, M. Wood

Back Row: Reiner, D. Curtis, Dingley, Stanley, Becker
Fourth Row: Rogosa, Burnap, Jack, Maggs, Luukko, Mazzarella
Third Row: Feineman, Haushill, Smart, Lovell, Carroll, Hurley, Pulsifer
Second Row: Sutherland, L. Mills, A. Rollins, Windsor, Coffin, Friedman
First Row: Lee, J. Hutchinson (Treas.), P. Turner (Sec.), Chalmers (Pres.), Craft (V. Pres.), Kanematsu, N. Small

Politics Club

THE POLITICS Club, whose membership is composed of high-ranking students majoring in the social sciences, aims to develop an awareness of, and to foster an interest in, current problems of a social, economic, and political nature.

The topics of discussion at the bi-weekly meetings, therefore, have necessarily been devoted to a wide range of subjects. They have included discussions by student speakers, by members of the faculty, and by outside speakers—discussions which have proved both stimulating and thought-provoking and which have resulted in an exchange of ideas making for growth in understanding.

In cooperation with the Christian Association, the Politics Club brought to the Bates campus Dr. Evan F. M. Durbin, of the School of Economics, University of London, who spoke on the topic, "Political Democracy and Economic Equality." The program this year has also included discussions on Unicameralism, Relation between the Achievements of Science and the Social Problems of Today, on sociological reports, and other topics.

The work of Dr. Anders Myhrman, as faculty adviser of the Club, has been most helpful.

Back Row: Mower, R. Thompson, Towle, Hayne, R. Scolnick
Third Row: Anderson, Barr, S. Thompson, Quinn, Powers, Tapper
Second Row: Goodell, D. Wallace, F. Kelley, E. Scolnick, R. Sawyer, Mynahan
First Row: K. Snowe, Wellman, Pillsbury, Libby (Pres.), C. Bartlett (Treas.), Dingley, Rinaud

Off-Campus Men

THE ORGANIZATION now called Off-Campus Men was born out of a feeling that a greater spirit of unity among off-campus men would conjoin the individuals more firmly with the activities of the college. Dormitory life is automatically effective in forming such associations for the majority of Bates men. The aim of this organization is to form an informal unified group among men living off-campus which shall be largely social in function and through its community of spirit and its friendships, shall strengthen the associations between its members and Bates College in its entirety.

The fundamental purpose of the organization, as set forth above, obviously is of a compound nature. It is of primary importance to impress upon every off-campus man the fact that he is a vital part of the college, not only of its classes, but also of its extra-curricula activities. The program is intended to encourage members, especially underclassmen, to participate in those activities; to further a feeling of good fellowship between them and those living on campus; and to aid the off-campus freshmen to make a prompt and satisfactory adjustment to the college situation. The program consists largely of scheduled bi-monthly informal meetings. Chief among them are the fireside chats, informal discussions, student and faculty speakers, and occasional Thornerag parties. Inter-dormitory competition wherever possible, as in the Winter Carnival, affords an excellent means toward attaining the club's objectives.

Obviously, the benefits of such an organization are maximum for the members of the lower classes, since those of the Junior and Senior classes have normally formed desirable social associations and are contributing their time to the various activities of interest to them. Yet it is becoming increasingly apparent that its informal comradery is socially desirable for all off-campus men.

Lambda Alpha

LAMBDA ALPHA, an organization made up of women living off-campus, was created primarily to give them an opportunity to know each other better and to promote good feeling with the dormitory girls.

This year, the club was made up of sixty-five girls, who were automatically made members because of their residence in Lewiston or Auburn. This group meets on the first Friday of every month in the "Town Room," a room in Hathorn Hall which has been decorated and furnished for the comfort and convenience of Lambda Alpha members.

Many social events are planned for the year at the meetings: the freshman party at Thorncrag, a Christmas party, co-educational treasure hunts, sleigh rides, cabin parties, a farewell party for the seniors, and most important and popular, the Lambda Alpha Christmas Tea Dance.

This Tea Dance, held at Chase Hall, has become one of the outstanding events in the college's social calendar. The committee in charge of the affair this year included Frances Jacubouis, '38, and Eleanor Walsh, '38, co-chairmen, Anna Hurley, '38, Irene Edwards, '39, Annette Barry, '40, and Janet Cortell, '41. These affairs all marshalled under Miss Mabel Eaton, who is the club's very popular and able adviser.

The officers of the club, plus one representative from each upper class and two representatives from the freshman class, form the Lambda Alpha Council. The president of the organization is always a member of the Student Government Board, giving the group representation in the most important women's organization.

Back Row; Poshkus, Culbert, J. Cortell, Greenleaf, G. Libby, Leclair, Hahnel, Ryder.
Fifth Row: Frangedakis, Rowe, Gross, Field, Goss, Sturgis, Hershon, Rowell
Fourth Row: D. Cortell, O. Smart, Larrabee, Clark, R. Hawkins, Kuslansky, Wagg, Stevens, Hanscom
Third Row: Hamel, Greaton, E. Smith, Lewis, Roy, G. Hawkins, Dunham, Dexter
Second Row: Bertocci, Begin, Seamon, H. Scolnick, Lee, I. Edwards, Winslow, Faiman, Bickford
First Row: P. Turner, Haushill, Lovett, Allen (V. Pres.), Miss Eaton (Adviser), Hurley (Pres.), Barry (Sec.), Jacubouis, Walsh

Third Row: Reed, Adler, Packard, Hayden, H. Turner, MacGregor, Kendall, Purkis, Miller
Second Row: Feineman, Jack, Robbins, Welsch (Pres.), Gould, Pampel (Sec.-Treas.), Puranen
First Row: Preble, Dick
Missing: Carroll, Goodwin, Roy, Schmoyer

Dance Club

THE BATES COLLEGE Dance Club, one of the newest and most enthusiastic organizations on campus, has as its aim the promotion of interest and individual grace in the art of the modern dance. The number of members is limited to twenty-five, who are chosen on the basis of interest and ability by means of competitive try-outs. Regular meetings are held each week, during which dance techniques are studied and members are given an opportunity for individual interpretation. Technique covers the basic principles of movement, studies of rhythm, and the exercises needed as foundational work.

The club's work has included abstract studies of such phases of the dance as rhythm patterns, direction and dynamics of movement, pre-classic dance forms, such as the waltz and the sarabande, folk dances, and negro spirituals.

Features of the program this year were the demonstrations for The Round Table, College Play Day, and the regular Physical Education Demonstration. College Play Day was perhaps the most important, as the Dance Club had its first opportunity to show its work to the students of other colleges.

The benefits derived from this type of activity are numerous. Since each member has an opportunity for expression and creative work, her imagination, personality, and appreciation of music and the dance are colored and heightened by this experience. She becomes physically more fit, finds real enjoyment, and increases her poise and grace through learning body control and coordination.

Bates' Co-education

ALTHOUGH Bates is distinctly not a "rich man's school," and therefore does not feel itself able to import seventeen Guy Lombardos and twenty-four Fred Warings each week-end, it nevertheless succeeds in achieving a most desirable mixture of Joe College and Stanley Scholar.

For example, there are the dances. Take your pick. Ranging all the way from informal and nondescript hoedowns to the tune of a freshman's harmonica to the acme of rustling silk and starched collars they include: ye time-honored Chase Hall affairs in which the portrait of ex-President Chase tries to fathom out the intracacies of "The Big Apple"; ye twilight tea dances, where tea is just an excuse; and lastly ye formals which include ye Soph Hop, ye Junior Cab and ye et cetera, wherein ye ladies look too, too fragile and ye gentlemen acquire sympathy for ye canned sardines.

Then of course there is our heaven-sent Outing Club with its mountain climbs and its cabin parties where certain eds find out that certain co-eds "just happened" to come along. . . . Need more be said?

In addition there are dinners at the Women's Union, open houses at Chase Hall, co-ed dining affairs, and on into the night—all these in addition to the vast multitude of private dates, all of which gives evidence of the Bates student's approval of the pedagogics of co-education.

AMONG varsity sports, football, as is natural, is the most prominent. Emphasis is perhaps rightfully placed there for it furnishes the most colorful contests and keeps the athletic budget out of the red. With a choice of varsity sports every season and a fair share of victories from each, the students and alumni are kept happy. The men who make up the coaching staff are competent leaders and their influence goes farther than the results shown on the field. In required physical education there are numerous opportunities for interesting sports which furnish moderate exercise and competitive play. An excellent athletic plant has facilities for any demands of the varied program. Supervision by a faculty athletic committee is new, and whether they will handle all phases of the job to the satisfaction of all is yet to be seen.

Women's athletics at Bates is fortunate in the organization and supervision that it has. The program, which becomes more varied each year, offers something of interest to all girls. Basketball, field hockey, and baseball provide the more strenuous exercise, which is balanced by more moderate games, archery, winter-sports, volleyball, camping, and tennis. The W. A. A. cooperates to such an extent that its program is part of, and an assistance to, the physical education program for women.

ATHLETICS AT BATES

Varsity Club

THE DISTINCTIVENESS of the Bates Varsity Club is largely due to the requirements for membership. The pick of the crop of men in each of the major sports makes up a well-rounded group whose interest is naturally centered on athletics at Bates.

To the non-member student, the Varsity Club is thought of as the only organization on campus that has an initiation, but there is much more to the club than a week of clowning and paddling. The initiation serves to bring the new members into more intimate contact with the old, and the friendships made become lasting. One of the club's outstanding purposes is to promote a closer friendship among boys with mutual interests. The club continues the close contacts made in sports and brings together the athletes of th different sports. The trackman gets to know the football player; the tennis player, the baseball player; and so on. After graduation these contacts still hold. The Bates Varsity "B" means something everywhere, not only to the students but to the graduates also.

On the campus the Varsity Club tries to help athletes maintain a good scholastic standing, and its tutoring service is helpful to many. The club also contributes to campus activities and endeavors to be of service to prospective students.

Although perhaps more exclusive than most clubs on the campus, it has not become a clique. Its members come from all the upper classes and represent various other groups. The Varsity Club is truly a Bates organization and deserves the right to be numbered among the cherished traditions of the college.

Back Row: Crooker, D. Wallace, Bridges, Rollins, H. Kenney, Shepherd
Fourth Row: Goodell, Malone, F. Clough, G. Williams, Canavan, Briggs, Bergeron
Third Row: Keck, Tardiff, Reid, Kixon, Casterline, Lythcott
Second Row: S. Leard, Cummings, J. Leard, C. Harms, B. Reed, Alexander, R. Gould
First Row: Howard, Healey, Preston, Hutchinson (Treas.), Cooke (Pres.), Eaton (Sec.), Frost (V. Pres.), Burnap
Missing: Amrein, Dunlevy, Johnson, Luukko, Morin, Perkins, King, McDonough, H. Thompson, Mazzarella

Back Row: Bracken, Anderson, O'Sullivan, Goodspeed
Second Row: Mr. White (Coach), B. Wright, Lapen, Crocker (Mgr.)
First Row: C. Sawyer, Hagstrom, J. White, Ziegler, Hulsizer

Swimming

THIS YEAR was the first in history that Bates was represented by a swimming team. The tankmen had a schedule of seven meets, with a record of two wins and five defeats.

The Bowdoin Junior Varsity outsplashed the Garnet twice by 39–27 and 34–31, but Bowdoin's Varsity did little better in winning by 35–30. Two meets with Hebron Academy were divided: the prepsters won the first 37–29 and dropped the other 35–30. Portland Junior College was defeated 38–28, while the Portland Boys Club won 37½–28½.

Leading members of the Bates squad were John White in the backstroke; Al Hagstrom, Earle Zeigler, Dave Howe, Bob Hulsizer, and Warner Bracken in the free-style; John Anderson in the breast stroke; and Jim O'Sullivan in the diving. Only one of these, Hagstrom, will not be present next year, so prospects are very bright for the season.

According to present plans, the team will continue to use the Auburn YMCA pool for its home meets and will have a more extensive schedule, with a possible trip to Boston. Official college distances will probably be used next year instead of the freshman standards used in this season's events.

Coach David B. Morey

FOOT

TRIBUTE TO COACH MOREY

A TOAST to the dean of the Bates coaching staff, head man in football, baseball, and hockey since 1929.

To the outside world of sports followers in general and to those who have opposed the Bobcat on the athletic field, he is known as a crafty, experienced, witty general who invariably gets the maximum of effort from his scanty material without sacrificing his sense of sportsmanship.

The players who have represented Bates under his tutelage and who are closer to him than any others also are aware of his sagacity and wit. But they know him, too, for his ever-present courtesy, his great generosity, and his good fellowship

We pay tribute to our friend and coach, David B. Morey, a true gentleman, a keen humorist, and a leader par excellence.

Back Row: D. Wood, Haberland, Edminster, Kilgore, Cooper, Osher, Stratton, G. Clough, J. Reid, R. Martin
Third Row: Goodell (Mgr.), Cummings (Mgr.), Connan, King, Wilder, A. Briggs, Howard, Healey, Nichols, Canavan, Mosher, Tilton, Pignone (Asst. Coach)
Second Row: Morey (Coach), B. Reed, McDonough, Perkins, Eaton, Preston (Capt.), Cocke, Alexander, Frost, Luukko, Spinks (Asst. Coach)
First Row: Morin, Tardiff, Coffin, Pomeroy, H. Dorman, Plaisted, Crooker, Ziegler, Andrews
Missing: Hutchinson, Daikus

BALL

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

THE 1937 Freshman gridsters were probably the strongest to represent the college in recent years. Like most Garnet yearling squads, this one was greatly handicapped by lack of sufficient practice, but improvement was rapid, as the results of the three-game schedule will testify. The Bobkittens lost but one game to three opponents, two of whom were claimants for the state prep school championship.

Coach Spinks' squad opened the season by dropping an 8-0 decision to the Bridgeton powerhouse on October 15th. The Garnet, with its heavy forward wall, showed plenty of defensive power, but the attack was rather ragged. One week later, however, the Frosh showed great improvement in their playing as they tallied twice in rapid succession in the first period to turn back Ricker Classical's purple invaders from the north, 13-6.

This was just leading up to the grand climax in the final game, when Bates earned a 7-0 triumph over a previously undefeated, untied, unscored-upon eleven from M. C. I.

Outstanding individual stars: Mike Buccigross, fullback; Art Belliveau, flashy quarter; Harry Gorman, promising punter; Earle Witty, lanky end; and Phil Lerette, scrappy guard.

Back Row: Goodell (Mgr.), Vail, O'Sullivan, C. Lovely, Knowles, Bogdanowitz, E. Witty, Spinks (Coach)
Second Row: Gorman, Forstrom, Jameson, Topham, Donnelan, Tebbets
First Row: Herbert, Glover, Belliveau, Buccigross, Lerette, Beattie

Varsity Football

THE 1937 Bates eleven opened its season with more hope than confidence in its early games. Practically the whole inner core of the line of the previous year had graduated, as had Barney Mareus, the offensive sparkplug. Nevertheless, Coach Dave Morey's inexperienced forward wall improved to sueh an extent that, after the Colby game, the Bobcats were tied with Maine for second place in the state series.

Curiously enough, it was in the line that the Garnet individual stars were found. Seniors Dick Preston, captain and center, Charlie Cooke, end, and Fred Clough, junior guard, played brilliantly eonsistent ball, and all three received honorable mention on the Assoeiated Press' All-New England and All-American teams, as well as higher honors on the various All-Maine elevens.

There were other seniors who were conspicuous for their achievements on the gridiron: quarterback George Morin's right arm was not outpassed all year, even by major opponents; Bob Frost ran and blocked very well, especially in the later contests; Max Eaton and Dick Perkins missed scarcely a minute at their respective tackle and guard positions; Doe Healey was an efficient substitute for the injured Jim Reid at fullback.

The team did not do so well defensively, but they scored upon every opponent after being whitewashed by Dartmouth in the opening contest. In winning two games, tying one, and losing four, the Bobcats scored 71 points, to 111 for their opponents.

Sept. 25th—Dartmouth 39, Bates 0

The Bobcats played very well against the Indians, who were later to prove themselves one of the powerhouses of the East by going through the season undefeated. Dartmouth, outside of the six scoring plays, could not gain consistently through the inexperieneed, outweighed Bates forward wall. Bates, with its Morin-Cooke passing combination, was clearly the superior club in the air. Stars for the Bobeats: Canavan, Cooke, King, Morin, and Preston.

October 2nd—New Hampshire 21, Bates 12

This was probably the most exciting game of the year the outeome being in doubt until the final minutes of play. The Garnet rallied strongly to lead at the half, after the Wildcats had scored on the opening scrimmage. But New Hampshire had enough reserve strength to prevail. The last touchdown came on an interception of a Bates pass deep in Garnet territory just before the final gun.

October 9th—Bates 32, Arnold 6

The gallant little band of New Haven collegians held the Bobcat power in check for fully a half before bowing to superior power. According to our oldest inhabitants, it was the first Arnold game that was played in the sunlight, so there was ample opportunity for both teams, especially Arnold, to open up their aerial attacks.

October 16th—Bates 7, Tufts 20

About half the college journeyed southward by special train and automobile to see this game. But the rooters from Maine were doomed to disappointment, as they watched the Bobcat's claws make little impression on the Jumbo's tough hide. As usual, Bates had the superior aerial attack, featuring Morin and Cooke.

October 23rd—Bates 7, Maine 0

Back-to-Bates Weekend. A driving rainstorm greeted the opening of the state series. Austin Briggs, returning to action for the first time since he was injured at Dartmouth, led the Garnet ground attack as it sloshed through the Maine line to victory. Maine's only threat was nullified when Rod Elliott's touchdown was called back on account of a penalty.

October 30th—Bowdoin 19, Bates 7

The Polar Bear bowled along for its third consecutive state championship without much serious competition. Bates did grab an early lead when Captain Dick Preston snared a loose ball and galloped thirty yards to score. But the beautifully drilled Bowdoin machine rallied to score twice immediately thereafter, and it never faltered in its victorious pace.

November 11th—Bates 6, Colby 6

The gray mule kicked desperately in an effort to salvage one important victory out of a losing season. The result of this frigid battle dropped Bates to a second-place tie with Maine in the state standings. Seniors who played their last game under Garnet colors were Morin, Hutchinson, King, Luukko, Howard, Frost, Healey, Alexander, Reed, McDonough, Perkins, Eaton, Cooke, Amrein and Preston.

Varsity Cross-Country

COACH Ray Thompson opened the year with a small, but very promising, group of harriers, only two of whom were seniors. The squad was set back somewhat by the loss of Fred Downing '39, who was forced to leave school, and Dana Wallace '39, who was still recovering from a broken ankle.

However, the team swept through their dual meets undefeated and then, after Wallace had returned, it trimmed Maine and Colby for the state title and placed fifth in the New Englands.

Colby was an easy victim in the opener by a 18-41 score; Northeastern two weeks later, proved to be a much more formidable opponent, even without the famed Zamperelli. But the Bobcat was still triumphant, 26-29. On October 23rd, the Garnet just missed a perfect score in swamping Bowdoin 17-42.

In the state meet at Waterville, the squad scored 27 points to nip Maine's 31, while Colby brought up the rear with 68. Don Bridges was the first Bates man to finish in the New Englands. He placed eleventh, while the Bobcats as a unit were fifth in a field of thirteen.

There were six lettermen: Donald Bridges, Courtney Burnap, Allan Rollins, Harry Shepherd, Dana Wallace, and Dick Gould. In addition to their varsity awards, the first five also received gold shoes emblems of their hill and dale supremacy in Maine.

Back Row: Thompson (Coach), Shepherd, DuWors, Foster, G. Williams (Mgr.)
First Row: Rollins, R. Gould, Burnap (Capt.), Bridges, Wallace

Back Row: Thompson (Coach), Caswell, Glover, Anderson, Riley (Mgr.)
First Row: R. Thompson, Drury, Nickerson (Capt.), Quigley, Shannon

Freshman Cross - Country

FOLLOWING the example set by their big brothers on the varsity, the freshmen cross-country men raced through an undefeated season, compiling a record of six straight victories. This feat seems quite in keeping with a rapidly growing yearling tradition, for it has been many many years since a team of Bobkitten harriers has been beaten. Certainly such a defeat is beyond the memory of any of the present undergraduates.

The season opened on October eighth with a 19-39 triumph over Lisbon Falls. There then followed vistories over Wilton (Bates Interscholastic Champions in the A division) by a 20-35 score, Deering 23-34, Portland 21-34, Lisbon 19-42, and the Junior class (minus varsity members) by 15-50.

The outstanding individual star was Dick Nickerson, who was the first Bates runner across the line in every meet and who was beaten only once, by Watts of Deering. Closely following him were Dwight Quigley and Warren Drury. Other numeral winners were John Anderson, Ralph Caswell, Clyde Glover, Tom O'Shaughnessy and Richard Thompson.

BASKET BALL

Junior Varsity

TRIBUTE TO LESLIE SPINKS

THIS TALL, dark gentleman from the South is the youngest and probably the most popular coach in the college. Ever since he came to Bates with Coach Dave Morey in 1929, his popularity with the students has been steadily increasing and this year it reached a new high when he received his first head coaching job—as chief mentor of the varsity basket ball squad.

Coach "Buck" is very well liked by the followers of the sport throughout the state. Despite the fact that his squad had an unimpressive won and lost record, his ability as a coach had been proven beyond all doubt. His teams are characterized by a keen aggressiveness and speed that often make up for their physical handicaps.

His practice sessions are distinctive because of their hard work, their serious criticisms, and their solid instruction—featuring the perfectly coordinated illustrations of the instructor. His players are fiercely loyal, knowing that they have a personal friend on the bench who will match any sacrifice that they may make—if not go further.

For this Alabaman friend of ours, the future can hold nothing but good fortune. His cleverness and resourceful courage, capped by a heaping spoonful of the famed southern hospitality, cannot go wrong.

Back Row: Pignone (Asst. Coach), W. Davis, Spinks (Coach), O'Sullivan, S. Williams (Asst. Mgr.), Gammon (Mgr.)
Second Row: Millerick, Belliveau, Whitten, E. Witty, Haskell, Gorman
First Row: Jennings, Raftery, Jameson

Varsity

INTERCOLLEGIATE basket ball finally returned to campus this winter after an absence of sixteen years, and, despite the fact that there was no streak of victories to bolster it, the game gained sufficient popularity with the student body to assure its maintenance for some time to come.

This year's squad was lacking in height and experience but was very fast and aggressive. So great was its improvement that Ed Roundy, coach of the state champion Colby Mule, said the Bobcat was the best team he had met this year, not excluding Boston U., Amherst, Tufts, and Worcester Tech.

The outstanding players were Johnny Woodbury, high scorer, his co-captain, Bill Crosby, Howie Kenney, Ray Cool, Vic Stover, Norman Tardiff, Art Wilder, Austin Briggs, Ted Nowak, and three freshman who joined the squad after mid-years, Art Belliveau, Harry Gorman, and Erle Witty. Of these, only Nowak will graduate, promising a successful season for 1939.

Lewiston, Jan. 8: Northeastern 45, Bates 22

The Huskies had too much experience for the Garnet and won going away, after halting a brief Bates rally in the second half. Kenney was the outstanding Bobcat in the opener.

Lewiston, Jan. 11: Bates 37, Colby 36

Overcoming an 11 point deficit incurred in the first half, the team took a temporary lead in the state series as Norman Tardiff dropped the winning basket just one minute before the end of the game. Additional Bates stars: Cool, Woodbury, Kenney, Stover, and Crosby.

Back Row: Tapper, Raftery, Jameson, W. Davis, Tilton, Taft, Millerick, Jennings
Third Row: Gammon (Mgr.), O'Sullivan, Dunlevy, Haskell, Doyle, Whitten, Jobrach, S. Williams (Asst. Mgr.)
Second Row: Pignone (Asst. Coach), H. Kenney, Cool, E. Witty, Stover, Gorman, Belliveau, Spinks (Coach)
First Row: A. Briggs, Canavan, Crosby, Woodbury, Wilder, Tardiff

Orono, Jan. 19: Maine 48, Bates 39

Inability to make their shots in the first game on a foreign floor lost this one for Bates. Maine had little trouble throwing the state title race into a three-way tie. Most effective clawing for the Bobcats was done by Woodbury, Canavan, Kenney, and Tardiff.

Lewiston, Feb. 11, Maine 45, Bates 44

In the most exciting battle of the year, the Garnet, trailing by 17 points early in the second half, rallied to take the lead, only to lose it when the Bear's winning basket was scored simultaneously with the final gun bark. The Bobcats looked much stronger with the addition of Gorman, Belliveau, and Witty from the freshman squad.

Lewiston, Feb. 16: Bates 53, Bowdoin Ind. 38

The coach-less Polar Bear was helpless against the rapidly improving Bobcat. Woodbury, Crosby, Gorman, and Stover led the attack against the arch foe from Brunswick.

Lewiston, Feb. 18: New Hampshire 54, Bates 50

The height and experience of the Granite State giants was too much for the speed and charge of the home team. It was the last home game of the year. Woodbury's 19 points made him the outstanding individual performer.

Amherst, Mass., Feb. 23: Amherst 53, Bates 38

Running up a twenty-point lead in the first half, the Lord Jeffs, probably the most powerful team Bates had to face all year, easily spoiled the opener of the Garnet southern trip. Art Belliveau, recovering from a minor operation, was the leading Bates player.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 24: Bates 43, M.I.T. 33

A large alumni following was favorably impressed by their alma mater's showing as the third victory of the season was recorded. Johnny Woodbury and the courageous Harry Gorman played well.

Waterville, Feb. 26: Colby 45, Bates 40

The Mule kicked off Bates' bid for a three-way tie in the state series by coming from behind to win the season's fastest game. Woodbury again led the scorers, but Witty's defensive was unusually brillliant.

In the background, the freshman team went through a season of six games undefeated and then gave way to a junior varsity group after mid-years, The Jayvees dropped four consecutive contests. The team was very erratic and ragged but several individual performers showed promise of future value to the varsity. Only two seniors, Bill Dunlevy and Larry Doyle, were lost from this squad. The scores:

Bates				Bates
44	Lewiston	31	M. C. I. 42	27
32	Edward Little	21	Bridgeton 48	33
31	Lewiston	21	Kents Hill 55	39
33	Edward Little	16	Hebron 47	31
42	Groveton, N. H.	27	Berlin,N.H.22	45

The freshmen had four outstanding players in addition to those who performed regularly on the varsity. They were Red Raftery, Pete Haskell, Fred Whitten, and Jimmy O'Sullivan. With these seven players serving as a nucleus, the squad of Bobkittens was never pressed as it won two games from Lewiston High, two from Edward Little, and one each from Groveton and Berlin on a trip to New Hampshire.

Back Row: I. Fisher, J. Wilson, Morse, D. Curtis, O. Snow, McCue, Towle, Smith, R. Morris, Beattie, Elliott, Purinton, S. Thompson, Bisbee, Sibley, Gates, Durgin (Coach)
First Row: Lever, C. R. Parker, C. O. Parker, J. Fisher, Snowe, Moses, R. Thompson, R. Goodwin, Reiner, Ireland

Winter Sports

POOR weather spoiled the revival of winter sports at Bates after an official absence of four years. Virtually all of the scheduled meets, including those with Maine, Colby, and the Bavarian team, as well as the state meet, were postponed due to lack of snow. Late snowfalls in March did enable the squad to meet the local Skovstiers and the Androscoggin Ski Club in a triangular meet and score a second victory to add to an early triumph over Bowdoin.

With Dick Thompson and Fred Bailey leading the way, the Garnet easily swamped Bowdoin by a score of $25\frac{1}{2}$–$7\frac{1}{2}$. The versatile son of Coach Ray won the downhill race and tied with Bailey for first in the slalom. The latter also won the jump, with Ralph Goodwin and Ken Snowe directly behind him in the next two places.

In the triangular meet against the best competition from surrounding towns, Bates scored $16\frac{1}{2}$ points, the Skovstiers $10\frac{1}{2}$, and the Androscoggin team 6.

Bob Ireland in the downhill events and Tom Reiner '39 in the jump were additional standouts on the squad. Others who participated were Amrein, Morris, Lever, Beattie, C. R. Parker, and Fisher. Wilson and Oberst acted as managers.

With the loss of only three senior members, Coach Winslow Durgin is optimistic in regard to Bates' chances for a state title in the coming year.

TRACK

Varsity

TRIBUTE TO RAY THOMPSON '13

IF YOU happen to see a young looking man talking earnestly to some prospective champion track or cross-country man in the vicinity of the gymnasium, it is probably Coach C. Ray Thompson '13, who was on the only Garnet State Meet-winning track team.

"Ray" or Coach, as he is called by the one hundred and twenty track and cross-country men and the sixty members of his P. E. classes who work out under his direction, is known for his friendliness and his subtle humor.

Among the best men that he has coached are Arnold Adams, Russell Chapman, IC4A half mile champ, and Tony Kishon. In his coaching here, since he came from Cony High by way of Moses Brown, and Tilton, his relay teams have won at Penn and at the IC4A's while his individuals have won National, IC4A, and New England Championship events. His cross-country team has won at the New Englands and won the State Meet again this year.

Back Row: Spencer, Coffin, Akers, Foster, Martin, Cooper, Andrews, Woodward, Tabor
Second Row: S. Leard (Mgr.), Du Wors, Bussey, R. Briggs, G. Russell, Connon, Maggs, Crooker, Hibbard, Thompson (Coach)
First Row: Holmes, Rollins, Wallace, Bridges, Lythcott, Howard, Luukko, Keck, Shepherd

Back Row: Daggett, S. Morris, Puglsey, W. Mills, Banks, Houston, Farris, Bogdanowicz, Morrison, Boothby
Second Row: Dingley (Asst. Mgr.), D. Russell, A. Sawyer, Topham, Hanley, Bernauer, Barr, Davis, Meserve, Thompson (Coach)
First Row: Hoag, Caswell, Glover, Drury, Quigley, O'Shaughnessy, R. Thompson, Nickerson, Coorssen

Freshman

THE FRESHMAN track team completed its indoor season this year with a record of three victories in four interscholastic meets.

The Bobkittens opened their season with an easy triumph over Thornton Academy by a 67–41 score. George Coorssen, competing in five events, scored twenty points to lead the Garnet to victory.

Coorssen then united with Dick Thompson to pave the way for the second Bobkitten victory as South Portland High School was routed 75–33.

In the only meet away from home, the yearlings gained their third straight victory by stopping Colby 64–44. Bates scored 25 out of 27 possible points in the weight events, which were held at Lewiston, to assert their superiority. Stanley Bogdanowicz was outstanding with a first and two second places. Boothby and Tebbetts also scored heavily.

Defeat came with the final meet against the University of Maine freshmen. The score was 59–49. Thompson broke the freshman cage record in the 300 by sprinting the distance in 34 3-5 seconds. The old mark had been tied earlier in the season by Thompson's running mate, Joe Shannon.

Unless too many men are lost to other sports such as baseball and tennis, prospects for a successful season against the various prep schools in the outdoor meets are pretty good. In addition to those team members who were named above, Dwight Quigley in the shorter runs, Russell in the pole vault, and Drury, Houston, O'Shaughnessy, and Hoag in the longer races are potential point getters.

Varsity Track

Relays

THREE relay teams, two varsity and one freshman, represented the college this winter at two Boston meets.

The varsity mile team made its best showing at the BAA games, when it lost to Maine by a few inches in the time of 3:31.8. The runners in order were Eddie Howard, George Lythcott, Harry Shepherd and Bill Luukko. Two weeks earlier at the Prout Memorial races this same team finished second to Brown University in 3:32.4.

The varsity two-mile team also was defeated twice. In the K. of C. meet it trailed Holy Cross and Tufts to the finish line in 8.14. The runners were Don Bridges, Al Rollins, Dana Wallace, and Charlie Crooker. The same squad finished fifth in the second meet to Fordham, Holy Cross, Harvard, and Tufts in the slightly improved time of 8:12.

The freshman mile relayers participated in only one race, at the B. A. A. games, and finished second to Bowdoin, defeating Northeastern and Brown. Joe Shannon suffered a bruising fall in the first lap that spoiled all chances for a victory. Other runners were Thompson, O'Shaughnessy, and Quigley.

Upper: One Mile Team—S. Leard (Mgr.), Luukko, Shepherd, Lythcott, Howard, Thompson (Coach)

Lower: Two Mile Team—Thompson, (Coach) Bridges, Rollins, Crooker, Wallace, S. Leard (Mgr.)

Back Row: Holmes, R. Morris (Mgr.), Sutherland
Second Row: Prof. Buschmann (Coach), J. Walsh, H. Kenney, Howland, Millerick, J. Leard (Mgr.)
First Row: B. Reed, Nixon, Canavan, Casterline

Tennis

THIS spring's tennis team augurs well to continue the winning stride of last year. Five veterans of the team, Don Casterline and Burt Reed co-captains, Howie Kenney, Milt Nixon, and Joe Canavan have returned to the team. The squad is bolstered by such prospects as Jim Walsh, winner of the freshman tourney, Royce Tabor, converted trackman, and Bill Sutherland and Bill Howland of last year's jayvee team.

The team has been preparing for its opening matches by practicing in the Alumni Gymnasium since early March. All of the squad members participated in tournaments during the past summer. Burt Reed advanced far in the Hearst Eastern Tourney. With the veterans going at top speed, they form the nucleus of a team that makes Bates' tennis prospects exceedingly bright. Interest is unusually keen this year since the state tournament is to be held on the home courts. By virtue of their sweep in last year's tournament, Bates will enter it as a decided favorite, but Colby may be the "dark horse" team.

April	23rd	Amherst at Amherst
	25th	M. I. T. at Cambridge
	26th	Brown at Providence
	30th	Colby at Waterville
May	2nd	Bowdoin at Lewiston
	6th	M. I. T. at Lewiston
	7th	Colby at Lewiston
	10th	Bowdoin at Brunswick
	13th	Maine at Lewiston
	18th	Maine at Orono
	23–24th	State Meet at Lewiston

BASEBALL

With the exception of co-captains Barney Marcus and Ronnie Gillis, shortstop Mac McCobb, and outfielder Bill Dunlevy, the baseball team remains intact for the 1938 season. A starting lineup may find the veteran Stan Bergeron at first, Norman Tardiff at second, Art Belliveau at shortstop, Hasty Thompson or Bill Donnellan at the third base position, while the receiver will probably be Cotton Hutchinson, who was turned into a catcher from a second baseman after Ronnie Gillis was injured last year. The outfield is less certain, but it may have Bill Johnson alternating with Audie Briggs when the latter is pitching, Dick Thompson, Joe Simonetti, or Mike Buccigross. Veteran pitchers are Briggs and Bob Malone. Tiny Boothby has also shown promise as a hurler. Others who are on the squad are Ted Nowak, Jack Wilson, and Fred Whitten.

With such an array of promising material, the team may even surpass last year's record, when it started off auspiciously by beating a strong Boston University nine after the southern trip was rained out. Last season the pitching staff, feared to be weak, was really sensational. Malone limited the opposition to a minimum of hits on several occasions and very frequently sent the opposing batsmen back to the bench swinging futilely, while Briggs pitched and clouted his way to several victories over Colby. Briggs also led the team in batting and was one of the leading hitters in the state.

Back Row: Malone, Anderson, Dunlevy, Haskell, Jennings
Third Row: Morey (Coach), L. Mills (Mgr.), Jameson, E. Willy, Forstrom, Whitten, Niece, Pignone (Asst. Coach)
Second Row: man, J. Wilson, Belliveau, R. Thompsor, O'Sullivan, Simonelli
First Row: H. Thompson, A. Briggs, Bergeron (Co-Capt.), W. Hutchinson (Co-Capt.), Cocke, Tardiff

Maine is expected to furnish the strongest opposition to Bates' chances in state series competition, although Bowdoin may field a team as strong as last year's.

Bates has been handicapped by the fact that Garcelon Field does not dry out easily in the Spring, and this necessitates long practice sessions in the cage. The team has been practicing since early March in the confines of the field house. Interest has been extremely great this year and there may be a Junior Varsity team representing Bates as there was last season.

As usual, the team will get experience for the all-important State Series through a southern trip.

April	19th	Bowdoin at Brunswick
	29th	Boston College at Boston
	30th	Lowell Textile at Lowell
May	3rd	Maine at Orono
	5th	Colby at Waterville
	7th	Bowdoin at Lewiston
	10th	Bowdoin at Lewiston
	13th	Maine at Lewiston
	17th	Bowdoin at Brunswick
	20th	Colby at Lewiston
	23rd	Maine at Lewiston
	25th	Colby at Waterville

State Tennis Champions

YOUR TENNIS men who had kept Coach Buschmann wondering all season about their relative abilities brought both singles and doubles crowns back from the State meet at Brunswick, May 24, 25 and 26 (1937), in winning our 17th championship since 1891.

Donald Casterline '38 and Howard Kenney '40, who had been playing numbers three and four respectively in the regular season, found themselves paired in the finals, after Kenney had surprised by eliminating his captain, Burt Reed '38, and Casterline had defeated both his teammate, Milt Nixon '39, and the Bowdoin captain, Jack Salter. Casterline took the singles championship in straight but hard-fought sets, beating Kenney 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.

Although eliminated in the singles, Reed and Nixon made a spectacular come-back to retain their doubles championship, after Kibbe and Salter of Bowdoin had set and match point five times. The final scores were 4-6, 3-6, 7-5, 11-9, and 6-4.

With the players who competed in last spring's sweeping State meet victory available again this year, Coach Buschmann, who brought the team along to a late May peak after several reverses at the beginning of the season, has every reason to expect a team of championship calibre.

Back Row: Avery (Mgr. '37), Dankner ('37), Prof. Buschmann (Coach), J. Leard (Mgr.), Canavan
Front Row: H. Kenney, B. Reed, Casterline, Nixon

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Back Row: J. Wells, L. Wells, McNalley
Second Row: Haushill, Smart, Stoher, I. Miller
First Row: Rowell (Sec.), M. Chase (Pres.), Bray (Treas.)

W. A. A. Board

"Not merely to win, but to play,
Not to destroy, but to build,
Not smugness, but beauty in growth;
These our aims,—the A. A."

THE BOARD of the Women's Athletic Association is a representative group of eleven girls, chosen from the three upper classes. Its modern ideal is to give a widely diversified schedule of athletics so that each girl may find at least one congenial sport in which she may enjoy herself, even if she is not a star athlete. Its ideal is truly, "A sport for every girl and a girl for every sport."

All the girls in college are divided into two sides, Garnet and Black, which compete in contests throughout the year. Qualifications to make these various teams do not rest on ability alone, but more essentially on sportsmanship and enthusiasm. In the belief that the all-around co-ed that Miss Bates is needs a playtime as well as a worktime, everyone is urged to play for the sake of playing and not for the sake of winning.

In keeping with the times, the board has included in its broad program bicycling in spring, a Modern Dance Club throughout the year, a newly-organized class in pool, and one in golf which reports great progress.

The Board plans extensive activities, designed to lend diversion as well as physical and mental value to every girl in college. Some of these activities are the W. A. A. Banquet, the Hare and Hound Chase, High School and College Play Day, a football tea, Health Week, tennis tournaments, basketball, and the game rooms in the Women's Union. It also communicates with prospective freshmen and welcomes them with letters and bulletins about college life.

The W. A. A. Board cooperates entirely with the Physical Education department to give an equal opportunity for all girls to reach their physical and mental best through the training sports can give. Thus a good sport now may always remain a good sport.

Coaches

THE COACHES of the various sports are girls who have had extensive experience in their fields and wish to gain further understanding of them from the point of view of coaching and refereeing.

These girls are chosen from the number who apply for the measure of their qualifications to coach. As each season approaches, the coaches take in advance a short course in coaching their sport from Professor Walmsley, of the Physical Education Department.

They lead the instruction of girls in the four classes who go out for sports one day a week in addition to their required gym courses. Near the end of each season a tournament is held to determine the Garnet or Black winner. The winner of the most such contests through the year wins the Garnet and Black banner for a year.

In the fall season, there are coaches in charge of Archery, Hockey, Tennis, and Horseback Riding; in the early winter season, of Games, Volleyball, and Winter-sports; in the midwinter season, Basketball and Skating are added; in the early spring season, game tournaments are offered as an interlude; then in spring there is Baseball, Campcraft, Bicycling, Golf, and Tennis and Archery again.

It is obvious that many coaches are needed for such a schedule. The Athletic Association is very grateful to those who so willingly give their time and interest toward creating a program for the participation of all.

Back Row: Craft, Bowditch, Dunham, I. Miller
Front Row: Packard, Rice, Haushill, Bray
Missing: Hamlin, McKinney, Jack, Dionne, J. Wells

Back Row: Packard, Haushill
Front Row: I. Miller, Bray, Rice
Missing: Chamberlain, M. Chase, Bowditch, Craft, Vannah, Walton, Buker, Martikainen, Smart, Hamlin, McKiley.

Letter Women

THE LETTER women are girls in college who have won the second individual award given by the W. A. A. The first award is numerals; the third, a loving cup.

The numerals are given on a basis of sportsmanship, interest, and one year of training. Only three freshmen may win their numerals, but the number of upperclassmen is not limited. Awards are made at the March demonstration and at Spring Play Day. The letter women are the winners of a white sweater with garnet B —only juniors and seniors are eligible for this award. Three juniors, outstanding in sportsmanship and ability and having a general average of seventy-five and B posture, may be given sweaters at the Physical Education Demonstration and six at the end of the spring season. After this, the Award Committee uses its discretion in the choice of winners of sweaters.

The highest award given, which may be won by three outstanding sportswomen of the senior year, is a silver loving cup. This is awarded, not merely on a basis of sportsmanship, athletic ability, a general average of eighty, and B posture, but on leadership in campus activities in general.

The awards are emblems of worth and indicate, not only a certain proficiency in athletics, but an ability to cooperate with others, which is an important mark of character.

FIELD HOCKEY—GARNET

OF THE fall sports offered, hockey is followed most earnestly by the fans, both on the male and female side of the campus. This year, undaunted by a season of spasmodic rain, the Garnets won two decisive victories and tied once in their battles with their rivals, the Blacks. Though it is hard to select outstanding individual playing on either side because the best players sacrificed personal distinction to attain better teamwork, mention must be made of the offense work of Anne McNally and Betty Brann, in addition to which there was an ever dependable backfield.

Back Row: Schmoyer, E. Smart, Hilliard, Roberts
Middle Row: Hanscom, J. Wells, McNally, Brann, Vannah
First Row: Beal, Stevens, Winne

FIELD HOCKEY—BLACK

THESE WERE the good losers of the tourney, managing to keep the score of their opponents down but not managing to pierce the Garnet defense for a single goal of their own. The scores of the games were 2-0, 0-0, and 3-0. Very fine defense work was carried on by Helen Martikainen, Ruth Butler, and the other backs. At no time were the Blacks greatly outplayed.

Back Row: Yeomans, H. Turner, Puranen, Clay
Middle Row: MacGregor, Bray, J. Atwater, Coney, V. Copeland, Walton
First Row: Rice, Thurston, B. Leonard, Matrikainen, Stoehr

Back Row: Beal, Roberts, Rowell, Poor, Longfellow
Middle Row: E. Copeland, Craft, Buker, Vannah
First Row: McNally, Fuller, J. Wells, E. Smart, Brann

Back Row: J. Atwater, M. Browne, Carroll, V. Copeland
Middle Row: Haushill, Bray, Martikainen, Walton
First Row: Coney, Stoehr

BASKET BALL — GARNET

IN the basket ball series, the Garnets garnered the high scores but were fought nip and tuck all the way by their sturdy opponents. In the first contest, the Garnets won rather easily by a score of 24–15, but in the two succeeding games competition was much keener. Due to the excellence of the passwork among the forwards, however, and the good backing of the guards, the final scores of the games were in the Garnets' favor: 23–19 and 27–24.

BASKET BALL — BLACK

BOTH TEAMS were somewhat handicapped this year by a change from three-court to two-court basketball, but developed amazingly as the season progressed. The Black team lacked the snappy passwork of their victors but had a guarding section that kept the Garnet opponents on their toes. In the last game of the series, the coordination of the team had so far improved that up to the final minute of play the score favored now Black, now Garnet, with either team likely to win.

ARCHERY

ARCHERY is a fall and spring sport in which interest and skill is growing every year. Sixteen girls were out for fall archery, the majority of which were freshmen. This shows a modern trend towards archery as a sport. Although many were novices, enthusiasm and diligent practice improved their aim, and it is hoped that some high scores may be sent this spring to the Intercollegiate Telegraphic Archery Tournament, which records the archery scores of about eighty colleges in the country.

Back Row: Fellows, Ober
Middle Row: Poor, Longfellow, Bliss, Thompson
First Row: Massiah, Paradis, Vannah, Walton, P. Atwater

TENNIS

THERE WERE 14 girls who received tennis credit for W. A. A., of which a few took advantage of the instruction of the coaches. The girls received credit for four hours of tennis played at any time. No tournament was held in the fall because of a short and rainy season, but in the future there will be competition between the Garnet and Black teams, with the winner receiving one point towards the banner.

In the spring season, tennis interest runs at its height, with keen competition centering in a girls' singles and a co-ed doubles tournament.

Back Row: Giles, Stead, Winslow
Middle Row: Hunt, Lowther, Carter, Buker
First Row: Robbins, Haushill, Craft, Hurley

VOLLEY BALL — BLACK

THE BLACKS came through in three decisive victories to win the volley ball tournament—as if perhaps to atone for their failure to do so in hockey. In the games, the scores of which were 42–18, 43–38, and 21–17, they rather outclassed the Garnets throughout. The entire tournament was characterized by fine teamwork which made the games fast and clean. A steady offense made possible a continual lead of several points at all times during the games.

Back Row: Giles, Adams, B. Leonard, Paradis, J. Atwater
First Row: Dick, Stoehr, Haushill, Walton, Martikainen

VOLLEY BALL — GARNET

ALTHOUGH the losers, the Garnets rallied from the ignominious 42–18 loss of the first game to attain much higher scores in the next two in comparison with their opponents. Their playing improved markedly with each game. They, too, showed good teamwork that made them look nearly equal to the Blacks in action and kept the winners always on guard. The season brought a total attendance of thirty-three girls out for volley ball, of whom over twenty participated in the tournament.

Back Row: Thompson, Sundlie, Roberts, Stevens, Dickson
Middle Row: Moore, E. Smart, Hilliard, E. Copeland, Brann
First Row: Rowell, Fuller, Longfellow, Craft, Vannah, Buker

Back Row: Hubbard, Rice, Poor, Winslow, Miller, Vannah, Clay, Chase, Brown, Ober, Hutchinson, E. Rice
First Row: Dole, Schmoyer, Bray, Hanscom

Back Row: Kendall, Waterhouse, Harms, E. Copeland, McNally
First Row: J. Wells, P. Atwater, Jack, L. Wells

WINTER SPORTS

SINCE the weather man definitely nursed a grouch toward winter sports lovers this year, the season's success was somewhat impaired. Nevertheless, twenty-three girls received credit for skiing and twenty-two for skating, and the whole season culminated in a fine winter sports meet when the snow did arrive. The meet was won by the Blacks by a score of 19–14 and included for events a ski dash, ski dash with kick turn, relay, herringbone uphill, downhill race terminating in stem turn, and downhill race with any type of turn. Emphasis throughout was on speed, form, and technique.

GOLF

A GROUP of interested girls organized a golf class, which practised throughout the fall and winter seasons, under the instruction of George Dunn. After their preliminary training in the various holds, swings, and positions, the fifteen girls are now ready to try their skill on the links this spring. Having received a great impetus from the enthusiasm shown this year, the golf class is expected to become an integral and growing part of the girls' athletic program.

ADVERTISEMENTS

APRIL (1937)

W. A. A. Health Week—bright faces at 6.30 A.M.—serenades to men's dorm, clean teeth, etc. —roller skating party at Sabattus—"Betty Bates" was Betty Stevens '37.

"No Nude Noodles" Dance—craziest hats got prizes—from water bottles to strainers.

Science Exhibit—bashful scientists slay co-eds with wonders in their departments—skeletons, punch, cells, radio, rocks, etc.

Faculty State Volley Ball Champs—five "Phi Betes," two Ph.D's.

Harvard Glee Club—no tea for them, co-eds complain.

Strike—Hapgood in jug—Student gets "scoop"—two students arrested, others asked to be "scabs."

MAY (1937)

Open House in Frosh Dorms—freshman dance—flannels—"Bobcats," etc.

No More Numerical Averages—committee announces—saves student from embarrassment.

"Icebound"—4-A presents Owen Davis' play.

Mayor's Campaign—"Zeus" Rodgers '37, Olympic grandeur, gods in pink cheesecloth, high pressure manager—Max Eaton '38 hayrack, hilts, goat—"Foam" Bartlett '38, handbills, bicycles, imported talent, autos, rabble backing—"Hospital" Wright—the winner, nurses, ambulance, donkey, and cigars.

State Tennis Champs—Casterline '38 defeats our own H. Kenney '40 for title—Reed and Nixon repeat their last year's feat by taking doubles.

Ivy Hop—full moon—tuxes—white coats—long fluffy dresses—Dol Brissette—green and white decorations.

Casco Bay Cruise—train—"sailing, sailing"—clams, tonic, sandwiches, ice cream—swimming—heat—sunburns—train—study for exams.

Finals—hot days in the Gym—poor schedules—farewells—riverbank, and "sings" on Mount David for relaxation.

Varsity Club Dance—dapper athletes—girls from home—moon—Ivy decorations—Bobcats—home the next morning.

H. P. HOOD & SONS Inc.

DAIRY EXPERTS

Ice Cream — Milk and Cream

Phone Lew. 3830 — Auburn, Me.

INDIVIDUAL ATTENTION

to

STUDENTS' REQUIREMENTS

The Best in

Cleansing and Pressing

NEW COLD STORAGE VAULTS FOR YOUR FURS

Call and Delivery

Tel. 3820

Watkins

CLEANSERS • DYERS • FURRIERS

Arthur S. Cummings, Bates '38
Asst. Manager

PECK'S

1.–Born in Maine, bred in Maine, owned and operated by Maine people. . . .

2.–A Metropolitan department store, with 58 years of constantly growing community service to its credit. . . .

3.–Merchandising carefully coordinated with Maine's needs and preferences . . . in tune with youth.

SEPTEMBER

Most Co-eds in History—108 women swamp dean's office.

Faculty Changes—Cutts and Gould out with sickness—Glazier and Kimball new profs—Mrs. Folsom new dietitian—Berkelman on leave, at Columbia for study.

Freshman Week—green bow ties—black and garnet caps—I. M. U. R. party—Stanton Ride, cider, donuts, hot dogs, games, first co-educating—new faculty reception in Chase Hall—Dartmouth game—first Saturday night dance—Open house at Thornerag—Freshman girls' ages total 1941; 17.7 average age—243 Freshman, 670 in college.

OCTOBER

Dr. Durbin—British economist delivers popular economic lectures for three days.

Mt. Climbs—Outing Club climbs go to Tumbledown, Saddleback, and Chocorua.

Tuft's Game—206 students travel by train to Medford—Cooke fails to beat Tufts 20–7—dances follow in Boston—Sunday night train crowded.

Back-to-Bates—Rain, rain, rain—giant rally—swimming meet with Maine, we win 7–0—dance—handshakes—vesper—total 300 graduates back—4 victories in one week-end as Frosh X-country and football, Varsity X-country and football all win.

State Cross-Country Champs—Bowdoin wins in football as our X-country team takes State meet—gold track shoe winners take over Maine and Colby, having taken Bowdoin earlier.

Misc.—C. A. candlelight induction in Chapel—lapel banners invade campus—Dr. P. Bertocci has article published—"Students Lack Balance"—women debate University of Vermont—First Buffoon out—co-eds vote "Smoker" their favorite—Bates harriers take Northeastern University.

Compliments of

THE CLASS OF 1938

Autographs

WALTON'S IDEAL BREAD
is Best Because
Always Uniform, Fresh, and Dependable

Sold by All Independent Grocers
WALTON'S BAKERY
Auburn, Maine

Compliments of

R. W. CLARK

Druggist

Corner Main and Bates Sts.

Luscious Fresh Fruit and Sea Food Our Specialty

Always Good

Auburn Lunch

60 Court St. Auburn, Me.

Berry Paper Company

Your Stationer

School Supplies Kodaks

Dennison Goods

49 Lisbon St. Lewiston

To the class of 1938, congratulations and best wishes for success.

To the classes of '39, '40, and '41, may we express the hope that we will serve you in the future as we have served Bates students in the past.

ANN'S FLOWER SHOP
Distinctive corsages and flowers for all occasions
Tel. 827
40 Ash Street Opp. Post Office

Compliments of

The Bates College Store

ROSS'S
Ice Cream

"Where the College Congregates"

Milliken Tomlinson Co.

Wholesale Grocers

11-15 Lincoln St. Lewiston, Me.

NOVEMBER

Mother's Week-end—games, banquet, step singing, dance, play, tea, chapel service.
4 One-Act Plays—"Riders to the Sea," "The Warming Pan," "If Men Played Cards As Women Do," and "A Game of Chess"—pack Little Theatre.
Bates Frosh. Take M. C. I.—Play superb football against undefeated team—during half "townies" take Bates Collegians over.
Junior Cab—nautical setting—Herb Whitney—rain.
Colby Game—special train—cold—6-6—Bates night at Empire followed with team, band, speech, and "Life Begins at College."
Misc.—Sabattus trip with spaghetti, ice cream, snow—Bates night on radio—Clovis and Steele in duets in Chapel—T. Z. Koo lectures on China—"Cheney Chirpers" and Big Apple at Chase Hall—home for turkey, dates, football games and dances.

DECEMBER

Men's Smoker—Bowdoin men show color movies and talk on MacMillan's last Expedition
Varsity Club Initiation—helmets, runners, paddles, onions, eggs, bloomers, garlic, cheers.
Tea Dance—veils, coffee, cakes, supper, fireplace, favors—the 4-A play afterward.
"Night of January 16th"—4-A puts on play by Ayn Rand—audience furnishes jury for court scenes of play—decision "guilty" one night, "not guilty" next—witnesses appear from out of audience.
Open House at Chase Hall—Finals played in pool, ping pong, and bowling with Bunshaft '41, Kenney '40, and Lapen '40, winners, respectively.
Christmas Week—Vesper of music in Chapel—tree on Cheney lawn—club parties—Xmas relays in track—co-ed dinner—open house in Chase Hall—carol singing on Cheney lawn.

Compliments of

Tufts Brothers

Fred H. Tufts G. Royal Tufts

PRINTING SPECIALISTS

Rubber Stamp Manufacturers

193 Middle St. Lewiston, Me.

Quality and Service

Phone 29-W

Judkins' Laundry, Inc.

FRED. H. TUFTS, Pres.
G. ROYAL TUFTS, Vice-Pres.
GEO. W. TUFTS, Mgr. and Treas.

Compliments of

Rivard Brothers Pharmacy

The Rexall Store

268 Lisbon St. Lewiston, Me.

College Block

Hotel Littleton

100 Main Street

Rooms with Running Water—$1.50
Rooms with Private Bath—$2.00

◆

C. W. HINDS, Mgr.
Tel. 3880

"Hayes Eats in His Own Diner"

Compliments of

HAYES' DINER

101 Park St. Lewiston

Opposite Sun-Journal Building

It's Smart
To Wear Real Flowers

Our Flowers are Correctly Styled

Ernest Saunders

Greenhouses
578 Main Street

Store
23 Lisbon Street

JANUARY

First Varsity Basketball Game—with Northeastern—1st since 1922—lost 44–31.

Hon. Agnes Macphail—speaks in chapel—Canada's only woman legislator—guest at the Stu. G. Banquet.

Melbourne Debaters in chapel—entertained at smoker.

Pop Concert—Outdoor motif—floor chorus in flannels, summer dresses and floppy hats—Bobcats.

Mid-Years—January 24-February 3—Cocoas and W. A. A. Interdorm basketball games in Rand for diversion.

Misc.—500 books taken out of library over Xmas vacation—Raymond Kendall named acting athletic Director—Mr. Oshima speaks on Japanese situation—exciting basketball game with Colby; we won 37–36.

FEBRUARY

Carnival, February 3, 4, 5, and 6—Co-ed dinner—Open House in Chase Hall—Mary McKinney '38 Queen—Burlesque sports, tug-of-war and magic in cage—Bavarian reception for men, entertainment in the Gym—all-college skate—ski movies, skating relays—Interdorm hockey, Off-campus (5) vs. E. Parker (4)—"Hop" with pines, snow, queen, Bobcats—Open House at Thornerag—Weather: snow, rain, sun, wind, cold, mist, rain, fog.

J. Frederick Essary, Washington correspondent, "lifts lid on Capitol" in chapel.

Maine Basketball Game—lose game as ball is in air when gun fired, 44–45.

Prexie on Long Trip—"ten days in a sleeper," tells students in chapel.

Marks Out—ratio puzzles students and faculty.

Semi-Formal Sat. Night Dance—programs, long dresses—90 couple limit—new atmosphere, stag line missed.

Compliments of

THE CLASS OF 1939

◆

Autographs

Compliments of

AUBURN MOTOR SALES, Inc.

AUBURN, MAINE

U. S. Tires Heating Oils

Jimmy's Gas Stations Inc.

Lewiston and Auburn

Tydol Gasoline

Veedol Motor Oil and Greases

THERE

is Nothing Complicated About a Bank Account

Just Come In as You Would Enter any Other Place of Business

WALK IN

Lewiston Trust Co.

Lewiston, Maine

After four years of pleasant association with the Class of 1938, we take this opportunity of thanking you for your generous patronage, and of wishing you true success in your chosen field.

"The Quality Shop"

143 College Street

Compliments of

THE CLASS OF 1940

◆

Autographs

FEBRUARY (Cont.)

Misc.—Frosh take 2 games in N. H. Basketball trip—swimming team gets A. A. backing, makes good showing during season—new organ given chapel by A. C. James—intercollegiate S. C. M. Peace Conference and W. A. A. conference here—Pop Concert presented at Portland, track men fly to it from Colby—week of basketball here, trip away for Varsity to M.I.T., Amherst, and Colby—Bus of rooters see team lose triple state title tie, 45–40 to Colby—Freshman open house in Chase Hall, games and scavenger hunt—Bowdoin in track meet here, we win 64 4-5 to 52 1-5.

MARCH

Oldest Bates Alumni Die—E. A. Smith and A. C. Libbey of class of 1873.

"The Rivals"—4-A costume play of Sheridan's presented.

Soph. Hop—Old New England Tavern motif—saddles, boots, punch, reins, eds, co-eds—Carl Broggi—Vic Firth band.

Misc.—Varsity and Frosh track meet with Maine—"Stu. G." tea dance—"Joe College" Sat. night dance, bow ties, plaids, short pants, etc.—Dr. John C. Bennett at Vespers—College elections.

Window Shades Venetian Blinds

J. K. Campbell

Upholstering Draperies

Tel. 3172-W

37 Sabattus St. Lewiston, Me.

Compliments of

A Friend

Vincent's Ginger Ale

50th ANNIVERSARY

THE VINCENT CO.

32 Pulsifer St. Auburn, Me.

Compliments of the

ROBERT'S SUPPLY COMPANY

Compliments of

Purity Sandwich Shop

Excellent Food

197 Main St. Lewiston, Me.

Robie Roy Millinery

"We specialize in making the hat fit the customer"

173 Lisbon St.

Visit the Small Gift Shop Downstairs
171 Lisbon St.

CRONIN & ROOT

have moved directly across the street
127 LISBON STREET

They Sell Good Clothes

Protect — Your Eyes

Central Optical Co.

E. L. VINING
Optometrist
Tel. 339

199 Main St. Lewiston, Me.

Norris-Hayden Laundry

Quality Work

Immediate Service

Auburn Mechanic's Row

College Pharmacy

Where Bates Students Reign

Prescription Specialists

Luncheonette Sodas

College and Sabattus Sts.

Seniors . . .

Take away with you not only memories but a subscription to the "Student."

The best way to keep in touch with your old pals.

A small expense now that will pay you double next year in pure enjoyment.

Special Rates — One Dollar per Year
(in advance)

Editor . . . . ROLAND MARTONE
Bus. Mgr. . . . ROBERT RIMMER

Compliments of

THE CLASS OF 1941

◆

Autographs

DORA CLARK TASH STUDIO

PORTRAIT AND GROUP WORK
FOR THE 1938 MIRROR

LILLIAN H. TASH, PROPRIETOR
BATES 1919

SUCCESS . . .

■

To assure the success of your Annual employ the services of a printing firm equipped with the latest type faces, versed in the latest style developments and known for exacting standards of craftsmanship and integrity.

■

. . . Eight Colleges, ten Preparatory Schools, and fifteen High Schools have experienced distinctive annuals, year after year, by entrusting us with the responsibility of production.

PRINTERS OF THIS BOOK

WARREN PRESS

160 WARREN STREET

Incorporated 1860

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

Smooth Sailing!
When Your Yearbook Course is charted by
HOWARD-WESSON COMPANY
44 PORTLAND STREET, WORCESTER, MASSACHUSETTS.
New England's Largest College Engravers